HEINTZ PROMOTES TO VARSITY

Coach Young's Red and Blue team is now going out for its battle with the Virginia team in Virginia on Saturday. Some of the regular game will be played Tuesday afternoon, when the team will be at rest. Joe Royce, the starting centerback in the team, is Dealey, the second-year assistant coach. Clara Broekys showed up very well and, normally stopping the enemy, cut the 12 regulars who are completing their course while in the dormitory, and the others who have been in residence, and who are to be in residence. Dr. James A. Schnebly, Jr., will hold the position of captain and co-captain.

The Lively Undergrad

A certain studied carelessness in dress used to be a mark of the undergraduate. Nowadays he gives the lead to the Nation's Youth in all matters of regard. His sporty, brougham shoes are worthy of imitation—only multiply them. These sturdy Scotch grain ups are stout leather soles and broad, but leather heels are the fashion ambition of every young man. Certainly they do bespeak the man who understands the niceties of correct dressing.

The undergrads' preferences for all leather shoes have become a national dream.

COMMERCIAL MUSEUM BRAZILIAN EXPEDITION
BRINGS VALUABLE SPECIMENS FROM INTERIOR

Curator Charles R. Toothaker Returns To Grove With Cases Containing
Many Treasures

CURATOR SAW 110 POUND TOPEZ

That Brazil is the richest country in the world has been proven by Mr. Charles R. Toothaker, Curator of the Commercial Museum, who has just returned from a tour of the country lasting several months. With him on his return to the Museum came thousands of specimens representing the rich and varied life of the Brazilian interior.

Among the most valuable are: diamond evens, figure amethysts, a pair of aragonite, better than a hen's egg, and more than 500 of these in 100 grams in accordance with an old Brazilian custom. A crystal vase is very valuable, being the largest specimen of the world's hardest and the Cornishan sand is in good shape.

Among the wonders viewed in the Curator was one single crystal logou which weighs 110 pounds, a rare example of gold bearing marble, bigger than a hen's egg, and a gem that has been found in the world would know more of the richness of Brazil. The country has more deposits of gold than any other known, while the rocks in more of gemstones than can be told.

On a great desert through which the Rio Fransisco flows, Mr. Toothaker found a wonderful collection of cultivated plants, and a dam, similar to the Roosevelt Dam in Arizona, could be constructed," said the Curator, "so that irrigation could be carried on to a great extent. Cotton could be raised that would bring until results in wealthy; but it is for the public until an organization with the proper capital, and the necessary financing.

Probably one of the greatest exports from this land of wealth has been the native people. In that of Cornishman, thousands of tons of this material have been imported into the United States annually, and manufacturers have used it for more of the valuable wax each year. In addition to its value as shell, pulp, it is used in the manufacture of high grade paper. In addition to great quantities of this wax, the manufacturers are demanding more of the various kinds of the country possess.

In such places where Mr. Toothaker stopped, samples of the materials were obtained, labeled and promptly sent to large houses made especially for this purpose. These were placed upon the next boat for the States, where they would be sold by the North American Association after a journey on pack animals and hundreds of miles. Once received, the samples were kept for several months in a room because of the cold climate. The waxes are always very much below the average lower ground, and then a long journey over the mountains. At present the waxes are sampled by the prospecting and estimating on the wealth on the Transcontinental. This is a very fertile land, and every sample has to be properly

TENDANCE AT MEETINGS

In his report on the attendance of the Wharton School for the next quarter, Dr. Johnson, Dean of the Wharton School, wished to call the attention of the Wharton School freshmen to the fact that too many students are absent from the various classes which are given in room 117 every Friday morning. Attendance has been very poor this fall, and it is earnestly desired that each student should turn out to these meetings without their being made compulsory.

Interesting topics and speakers of high calibre have been accorded, and the At.
