ONE PHASE OF THE TICKET PROBLEM

Leslie Brown long time moving slowly up to the door of the Council on Athletics yesterday showed that a student asks the same question every year. The game was programed. For any student who wanted to purchase a couple of codes for the game and who had not already procured them through the usual method of obtaining the program boards by open--that of taking his piece in the line and waiting for its return at the ticket window. This took on the average of two hours. If classes interfered, the student faced the alternative of cutting or missing his opportunity of buying tickets.

Two clerks in the A. S. office had the task of dispensing the few remaining tickets to the number of students who came in line. Classes, of course, had to be cut, because there was no assurance that the tickets would last until the afternoon.

The fact that the clerks had to make a selection of understandable tickets in order to check them up on the two clerks was a condition of which these students were given an excuse for the delay and confusion that prevailed yesterday.

The purpose of this article is to point out difficulties without offering any remedy. When such a condition is so apparent we are of the opinion that a little publicity may effect a remedy in the future. Why not use the ideas conception string for the student body? Apparently, the usual system of securing tickets is working well and there is no reason to believe that it would not operate the connection between the student and the ticket office smoothly so that they couldn't be dissatisfied entirely.

The Pennsylvania results reparing the shortage:

The Penn State footballers, we know, are going down to this game with an emphasis to put up a fight and the Green backs were well put up a fight and the Green backs and the other old school had to be in the line. It must be, The Pennsylvania.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1921

The Pennsylvania

Looks like a hard winter for the Volunteers, with no football games from now on. The game could always be called on for at least one column before and after, but with this old rain that is taken from us, none will have to go back to the Woodland Avenue, again being students, the old and the young favorites.

The report has come in that some of the students standing in that line at the A. S. office read yesterday's column. They had worked out all of the cross-purposes they could find, but read all of the town in The Florsheim, and having tried of discussing the weather with the assistant--but had actually read our daily office. Business is picking up,

In the future the line should be led through all of the drug stores and restaurants on the road so that the students could keep an eye on the good physical condition for the future.

PACIFIC COAST TITLE DEPENDS ON CALIF.-SANFORD GAME

Andy Smith and his warriors must en point to emerging victors after the Car dinal fracas. If they do so, their post season gain against the still undefeated Pennsylvania team of the East, on Jan uary 1 in the Memorial Stadium, will take on a greater aspect as an international contest.

Comparing some of the relative rank and scrutinizing statistics of the Car dinals and Bruins, statistics show that the Red and White have the advantage over the Bears in yards gained from scrum men, while the Blue and Gold eclipses the Cards in puntting. This, of cause, is greatly due to the much smaller amount of fa tball, which consists of playing a trickier game.

During this season to date the Bruins have made 1742 yards from scrummen, in seven games, against the opponents' 246 yards. In six games Stanford has suc ceeded in making 1741 yards from scrum men, while its opponents have made but 814 yards. This seems to give the Cards a duellistic advantage in de fensive work as well as an advantage in the off set.

In passing, it may be mentioned that in the big game, Cali fornia has only made 341 yards, while they Buenos. Oklahoma and California have been the most consistent gainers for Stanford, although Nevers, those greatest action has been out of the great most of the season. We return to the Stan ford-California strife should have a grateful end on the first result.

In the puntting end of the game there is a different story to tell. The California eleven in the seven games that have been played this season has averaged for a total of 2944 yards against the opponents’ tally of 2726 yards.

The fact that Stanford variety has been outweighed in their six games of this season in the matter of puntting may have a great bearing on the Bears' play in the big game. Stanford has punting 246 yards, while their opponents have made 2303 yards. Jimmy Day has been puntting well for California during this season, and will doubtless do a great deal of work in this department of the game in his affair. Cleveland has been doing the bulk of the puntting for the Cardinals, but with the return of Nevers to the game, Stan ford's wonder man may lie all along.

In this department of the game, the Cards in punting. This, of cause, is

Of course, Mifflin Alkohol has dozens of other daily uses!

Fine to soften the beard, before shaving; to cool and soothe the skin, AFTER shaving. Splendid relief for tired, aching feet; great for sunburn; an efficient antiseptic and germicide.

Mifflin Alkohol is denatured by a formula which actually improves it for external use. College teams and many other athletic organizations use Mifflin Alkohol regu

She was at the House with one of the other Brothers, but Flitz '26 had little trouble in Monopolizing Her.

On other evenings it proved to be a different story, yet Flitz has outdistanced the other Fellow one by one and is now ready to capture another Beauty—using the same old methods but entirely new Clothes, for Flitz appreciates Variety in everything.

That's why he buys his Clothes here.
