Intercollegiates May be Here
With the close of the class season the boxing team is materially strengthened.  The number of winter heroes, McGirt, Schmitz, Butler and Thayer are now turning their attention to the antics of the midnight club.

Basketball for the team has not been too far past under the coaching of George Decker, who is look- ing after the champions for his fourteenth year.  He is being assisted by Harold Davis, who captured the Red and Blue team last year and was also intercollegiate champion in the 135-pound class.  Davis is now enrolled in the Medical School, and during the autumn manager Hines leaves the few points of the team in the new year.  These points ares 400 candidates in the boxing class and forty in the Varsity boxing squad under Coach Decker.

We are greeted by Capt. Cochrane, a former Pennsylvania Central High School athlete, who last year went to the finals in the intercollegiate, where he lost his best in the 135-pound class.  Along with Cochrane the more promising candidates are Weingberg and Kaiser who are on the 135-pound class and Golubits, who broke in the 135-pound class.

Humes and Kaiser are now turned to the 140-pound class, while Dr. McGirt and Dave Schoener, also problem men, are competing in the heavyweight division.

Last year the intercollegiate boxing team was won by Penn State, with N.Y. taking the Red and Blue out for second place.  Coach Decker feels that from the material at hand he has a good chance of turning out a championship team.

A feature of this year’s schedule is that it is proposed that the intercollegiate bouts be held in the same ring as for the Lightweight class and the matches in the new year.

The Princeton boxing team was defeated by Penn State last year.

With an enrollment of 134 students, the Dental School is well on its way toward the end of the term.  Of the total of 134, 53 are women, representing thirty States of the Union and depending on the past of three foreign countries and provinces.

The June degree of dental surgery was conferred upon 221 students of the School of Dental Surgery who finished their course at that time which brought the total number of graduates in 562 from the foundations of the school.

organized in 1856, the School of Dentistry of the University of Pennsylvania was the third of its kind created as the dental department of a university, having been preceded in this respect by the Dental School of the University of Dorset, England, in 1838.

It is worthy of note that the Penn- sylvania Dental School is actually as well as it was a school of a University which offers the Philadelphia.

At the Christmas holidays internes, the time left for preparation, is comparatively short, and the squad chosen will start its preliminary work immediately. The subject for discontinuation of the dual debate will be, "Resolved. There should be an international agreement to outlaw war."

Plans for the Intra-society debate have now been completed, and the exhibition performance will be conducted on December 12 in the rooms of the society. Eight of the men on the debating squad are members of Phi, and three of William Kennedy, "36 C;" William Mason, "71 W; John Crow, "73 Ed; and John Vinna, "75 W, will participate in the Intralitical and social science, the topic will not be announced until some time before the opening of the meeting.

The local intercollegiate debate contest, in which representation from the Philadelphia high schools compete, will be held shortly before Christmas. The winning team receives a cup, donated by the Philomelian Society, and keeps it until a new champion is crowned. The first school to establish a new champion will be awarded the cup. The cup, named for its first donor, is a perpetual cup, and the Phillomelian Society has done much to increase interest in debating in the local institutions.

LITTLE CAMPUS TALES—No. 1

John Pappatrelafoulas came over from America to Pennsylvania from the Old Country for no reason at all when a mere lad. The immigration authorities had had second thoughts about bringing Socrates large enough to accommodate his name, so he had to be called John.

John was a likely lad and his folks had high hopes for him, but one day a street sign in Philadelphia had been too much for his constitution, and he was dead drunk. The end of that last period was near, and nobody had had the chance to notice John's number was 183, which was in a free slot in No. 14, to be filled in by John by accident.

The ball had been turned over to John, but John swerved around left and put in for a first down. "Three long yards, Mike Pappatrelafoulas," yelled the cheerleaders, but they were in vein.

John Pappatrelafoulas had labored hard on the scrub all year without being able to get a chance to play. The end of the last period was near, and nobody had had the chance to notice John's number was 183, which was in a free slot in No. 14, to be filled in by John by accident.

Tin manager of the University's professional soccer champions is a graduate of the Washington High School of Sioux Falls, South Dakota. While an under graduate there he was a member of the football and baseball teams, and was captain of the former during his Senior year. Sharp was graduated from his preparatory school in January, 1912, and he immediately came to Philadelphia and matriculated at Pennsylvania after the mid-year, a month later. For this reason, he will have completed his required four years of Wharton School work at the end of this semester.

Sharp's first move, after he became an undergraduate at the University, was to try out for freshman football, but the doctors who examined him declared that he had a weak heart, which would bar him from all sports. Being more than a little discouraged by this he remained inactive throughout his first year, but in Septem ber, 1912, he became a candidate for the soccer assistant manager's position. In this competition both he and Robert W. Zehring found it necessary to resign, and the Athletic Council advanced Sharp to the membership. Zehring being selected as assistant manager.

In regard to the soccer team, Sharp states that "it has a better record than any college in the four years of his stay at Pennsylvania, and that it has shown its superiority in the Interscholastic League by scoring twenty-three goals to its opponents' four. He also avers that the Red and Blue's dual league season with the East Pittsburgh dribblers will be played on Rice Field instead of in the stadium, on account of the Alumni football game on December 5. According to Sharp, the junior varsity bowlers have but a slight chance of capturing the Pennsylvania State League crown, for they were defeated last Wednesday by the Havrede Grace team, with whom they were in a tie for first place. The soccer manager also warns a large attendance to the Interscholastic soccer tournament which the Council on Athletics in_phins for the first week in December, and in which twelve of the best preparatory school aggregations in the Eastern part of the country have entered. "Several of these schools," he says, "claim the titles of the States of New Jersey and Maryland, and they are expected to put on a pretty fight for the tournament honors."

Bill Kneass, Captain of Basketball, has made arrangements to have a display of Regal Shoes in the Houston Club every Thursday during the year.

Bill has selected a number of unusually attractive styles that he says will interest every college man who wears shoes, and has just asked us to let you know he will be on the job next Thursday.

The purchasing power of a National institution concentrating its entire factory production on One Quality, shipping direct to its own chain of stores from coast to coast, and selling all styles at One low price and One small profit, makes it possible to give you greater value and more style for less money.

The RESCO Fitting Machine

P. S. Bill has found out that you can't get an accurate fit for a real foot with a tape measure, foot rule or a size stick, and we have supplied him with the Resco Fitting Machine. This fitting device automatically and accurately records the length and width of each foot when the standing weight is placed on the sensitive springs. Wheter or not you buy Regal Shoes, drop in and let Bill give you your correct measurements.
