The referes at the basketball game last Saturday pronounced the word "noelpudding" as he called them "the other side..."

The cluy who put the notice on the P. U. bulletin board, "Do you want some work for your Christmas vacation?" was sorely disappointed.

The University is certainly doing its best to keep us from spending so much money for Christmas: the only way to get presents during business hours is to cut it out as an exam.

The Houston Club postcard clerk was heard to say to an office mate for him that if the Fresh don't stop clipping up his mail with letters to Santa Claus he will evict his pension.

It is said that there should be all of these crowds in the告诉你 when each car has its little sign. For once in the frid out apply in the Houston Car Club company. "The P. U. had be try to save the expense of the same company that could handle the problem more economically."

The members of the Endowment Drive Committee say that from the way a few of the students are talking they ought to be going on no budgets saying "I Am Broke" instead of "I Am Loyal."

Just as you will be sure to notice improvements in the columns when they are neatly, we want to call your attention to the fact that we have not a single crack about the Endowment Drive thermometer.

The Alumni might try to get a contribution from Santa Claus when they are conducting their drive. He must be a grand assistant of this man's University, where he could be borne such an expert on Commerce and Transportation?"

"A hearty thank you..."

One of the Prosfs coming into the Wharton School yesterday for the first time is said to have taken to the waters with a straw hat.

"I am in the mood for a mast fast" instead of "I am loyal."

Continuing the Innovation of last year, the Mask and Wig Club will again hold preliminary the coming production on the campus, the new of the Undergraduate Society, and with the undergraduates in mind, has decided to hold a competition similar to the one of last January.

The subjects given by the undergraduates are presented on three alternate days, and the best skits are selected, and the Committee on Production declare upon the most entertainers and the best development presented at the final night. The winner of the competition is presented with a cup open which is engraved the name of the skit and the names of the periodical and from this manner the Mask and Wig Club is better able to select material for the final tryout for the cast, dressing rooms, and also clothes and places the work upon more complete basis, and in the same time to continue the presents base to the campus and the students several events of entertainment.

The last date preparatory to the thirty-ninth annual production of the Mask and Wig Club will be given tonight in Houston Hall. Last year all of the Skits were well attended, and the consensus of opinion seemed to be that the ones which were most interesting. The men who try out to night and on the evenings of December 12 and 17 are working for one of the Philadelphia organizations of Pennsylvania. As actor's greatest reward for his work is the appreciation and support accorded him by the audience. If you are looking for an evening of fun, enter entertainment, and want a few laughs, attend the Mask and Wig skits.

THE IDEAL CHEERING SECTION

During the football season we complained in this column on more than one occasion about the number of women students in the cheering section. We considered them as intruders, they bad as little to be there, they disrupted the unity of the cheering.

"I thought that the world and life began with money and pretty clothes. It was my idea of having a good time and being perfectly happy."

Thus spoke Linda Lovelace, the pretty salesgirl, who through the death of her father and the desertion of her mother was compelled to go out into the world to earn her living.

Linda was ill fitted for the roughness and hardness of every day life and had much to learn.

In her work at the store she just naturally "made good," but in her spare hours—at the sales-girls' dance—incurring jealousies of the other girls—meeting new male acquaintances, she had many bitter experiences.

Until Bill Sargent came into her life and real love came.

Her story is of vital interest to every girl who goes out to work; to every mother and father of a girl. It was written by a gifted woman writer who has a sympathetic understanding of women's minds and the throbbing of their hearts.

It seems to show that the Red and Blue football is well satisfied with the work of the quarterback, and although there was some work at center for a part of the evening, the rest of the team was maintained intact. The practice lasted just an hour without any scrimmage being held.

The Junior Varsity squad, which opens its season on December 26, for the first time this season indulged in scrimmage following the Varsity workout on Monday night. The Zephyr squad lined up for the scrimmage; the center, Rochester, and Chester, and for a long half hour went through a strenuous work-out. Another member of the football squad got an appearance and jumped center against the Junior Varsity, and a third member of the group is to report within the last week, and it is expected that when the team returns from the coast several more will report for the next practice.
