Some Quiet That Started in Yale Tilt Will Soon Be Over. Down Gotham Team

Hoping to clear its first obstacle in the league championship, the Columbia basketball team faces a much harder task when the Columbia against presents in Weequahic Hall tonight.

Against Queen's University, the Varsity displayed such a fine brand of basketball that critics predicted a high price in the league for the Big Red and Blue.

In a complete reversal of form last night, Yale was able to hold McCombs' charges for an entire period before succumbing to the superior play of the Pennsylvanians.

The form shown against Yale has made the result of this season almost completely doubtful. The New York team, which was threatened by the move from the league, has come in for a stiff shock to his many friends among the many students.

A short time before the Christmas holidays we asked Mr. Jay E. House, columnist of the Public Ledger, a question regarding his policy of "riding" the college boy. His answer was an excellent one, and as a result of readers many to have seen it, we have assumed the privilege of reprinting it. We are sorry we did not have the opportunity to acknowledge the reply before the paper suspended publication for the vacation.

"That's a fair question and we make haste to answer it. Some of them have gone along. Others have stood still; a few have slipped back. On the whole, we'd say they have done better than those less well equipped in the matter of educational training and experience. If we 'ride' the college boy it is for his own good. It is our contribution to the task of keeping the thought of the country on an even keel. We don't make much headway with him, but at least we say we didn't try."

"We have a good deal of affection for the college boy. We like him because he is, as a rule, more considerate, better educated, better mannered, better mannered, better poised and more considerate than his prototype who has lacked his advantages. But there is a backwash to the proportion. We meet a lot of young men who feel that, lacking college training, they are thus unfitted for the place in life in which they choose to live. They say 'I'd like to do that and so, but you know I didn't finish high school' or 'I didn't get out of the grades and I don't suppose them to use me to try it'. And in these we say, 'Thank you if you have the grit for it nothing can save you.' And the pretty women say, 'Write, think, in that some public place, where everybody can read.'"

"So that's really the idea behind it all. We 'ride' the college boy to refine his conditions and to increase the assurance of the boy who hasn't had his advantages. And who shall say it isn't a useful and important work?"

As we said before, Mr. House's reply is an excellent one, and we appreciate it and thank him for it. A man of smaller caliber would have picked up a few flaws in the grammar of our column, made a few remarks about "smart Alec" colleges, and let it go at that.

The facts as stated in his column are true; the value of a college education is given by a too high rating not only by the non-college man, but by the college man also. The mayor of the latter at this University seem to think that being a graduate, will enrol him to a good living on a silver plate for the remainder of his days. As education is an indispensable accessory to a young man starting out on any sort of career, after the first few years he can see that a man in a college graduate will have no bearing on his advancement at all.

Milk Facts For College Men!

Dr. McCollum of John Hopkins University, says: The people who have used milk and its products liberally are the people who have achieved; who have become, large, strong, vigorous people, who have the best trades in the world, who have an appreciation for art, literature and music, who are progressive in science and in every activity of the Human Intelligentsia."

In this game is the meeting between Pennsylvania, Columbia's center, and Sherr, new Ford and Blue given man. Sherr has shown well in the two games he started, but has yet to oppose a pivot man of the recognized ability that Marshall provided.

Columbia offered two defence this season, and Joe Sorin's team is anxious to get a good start in the race for the championship. Yaley's trip meant over the first New York University quotient shows that since the club announced to them by the Navy they have improved considerably. The question of Kinsdorfer, the football star, to the squad has made the outlook for the Blue and White much brighter. The Columbia team is assembled to arrive for this afternoon, and it is expected that a special train of roisters will make the journey later in the evening, returning to New York immediately after the contest. It is the first Hugo lift for the New Yorkers, and excitement on Montgomery Heights is running high.

A snappy practice was ordered by Coach McMichael last night in which signals and guarding were especially stressed. The team that defeated Yaley in the opening league game will start. Columbia in an effort to retain leadership.

The New Yorkers will probably start with Lamb and Cockreil, forwards; Manson, center; Doshen and Captain Wilson, guards. This, with the exception of Lamb, is the same team that faced Pennsylvania last season.

city state. After leaving Chicago early this morning the special train, carrying the coaches, players, band and alumni who made the trip, will have no time to arrive in Philadelphia, being due at 6:45.

As the train is to arrive two hours ahead of scheduled time, the party may arrive before the time previously announced.

Wyllie, Timmy coach, who has been approved by the athletic officials of Washington University, stepped off at Kansas City to confer with the di- rectors of the western institution. Washington is anxious to sign Wylly as head coach of the football team, and if the salary offered is large enough the Pennsyl- vania tutor will probably accept the post, although he would like to stay at the University. Since the war the Kan- sas City board has been represented on the artistic team of very poor quality, and it is anxious to sign up a capable coach who can turn out a win- ning team.

Although nothing definite has as yet been announced concerning the proposed Pennsylvania-Southern California game, it is extremely unlikely that the Red and Blue will meet the western team next season. The game would have to be played under a home-and-home agree- ments and the coaches liberal accept- ing an invitation for a game on the coast.

"SIDEWAYS ON FOOTLIGHTS"
FORREST — Stepping Stones
Charles Dillingham, theatrical manager and producer, sends to Philadelphia a revivifying show in "Stepping Stones," featuring Fred Stone and his daughter Dorothy. Mrs. Stone (Alene Crater) also takes a prominent part in the production. Miss Dorothy has been a sensation in New York this season, going to her ver- y first in comedy, dancing and dran- matic. Two attractive features of the show are Tiffany's Sixteen Sunshine Girls and Tito's Martinises. The original cast remains.

WALNUT—Marjorie Ruffin LaMarque presents the musical comedy offering, "Margaret," with Helen LaVonne, Roy Hargrove and Andrew Toombs in the leading roles. Economy has not been thought of where it has been possible to make the dances and diversifications, as well as the chorus and supporting cast, so original and satisfying as one could wish.
