SOPHOMORE DAY

Today is Sophomore Day. The students in the class are not intended to be a day devoted to self-indulgence, recreation or celebration. It does not mean a celebration of academic work for the second year nor, on the contrary, means the starting of a hard state-endured effort to accomplish something which should add a true to the rank of the seniors. The pride of every endeavor was inculcated, 1] has discouraged a note that was required to all lower class men, and to the state in this manner. It is evident that there are some in the class who are intended for a degree of forethought. They are looking forward to the year meeting, and that the Freshman of 1927 will officially present the accomplished one to the University only to the new and interesting, and to the Freshmen of 1927.

Those who are qualified to direct your efforts are in support of the university. They are prepared that their contribution shall be substantial and

For the remainder of the term it would be a good idea to have the alarm clock overlaid and put in front of the teacher. You know that another such a word would mean that the final will be counted as a non-summer.

We may be wrong, but we think the impending examination has a direct influence on the interest of students who attended campus every day yesterday.

A dividend of ours struck a bit of hard luck recently. We put a chap to keep notes for him in one of his courses, and when we were able to look over the notes later, we were completely surprised. He says the nearest he ever came to shorthand was a date with a stenographer.

Maximo expects to be completely free of retinas and bandits within a month, according to recent dis-panties from there. Such a situation as this may be a good idea, and again it may not be. Offhand, it seems to us that Mexico is rather a large territory for a couple of men to handle by themselves.

The sampling over the popular Lewis-Wayne State, voluntary match interests us. The reporter states that

Lewis had been favored enormously, the odds being 12 to 1 in favor of the former. After the first action in this time the match would be decided in 60. After the come-back to be thrown against the refreshment be claimed a foul when he came back the third down. You can see easily that the flight clearly on Lewis' side. When he has the choice of a day he has the advantage of it and the over throws when he sees the opportunity.

We would sympathize with him, though, in having to make such a question. We will remember the time when we didn't know whether to let him do the examination or by taking it.

The papers are full of the pictures of the winter sports at Harvard College. A lot of pictures of the winter sports could be taken on this campus, but they would have to be gained in the comic section. If the Harvard ski jumpers had to have almost been hit by a small truck or a $3.00 car at the first corner they wouldn't have such physical expressions on their faces.

We don't know just what it is that the Ph. B. E.

is doing at this public campaign on the front of their campus, but it seems to us that they are in on their second and third phase. A short time ago they were saying, "Why waste the money?"

Our idea of coming is illustrated by the chap who rushed into our room recently very much disturbed and excited because a popular magazine had the nerve to put a picture of his girl for a cover.

"Here's, during the war, curiously enough, there is a certain condition of health—there is a certain condition—where the patient is actually from the very best ending, because he is very loud and forceful. Our cure is rather an extremely condition, even for a rarely occurring case.

Drastic Club Tryouts
Will Begin This Week

Selling All Undergraduates Eligible

Trials for parts in the annual spring show of the University Dramatic Club will begin at all three locations. McWade Field, it was announced yesterday by Miss Elizabeth Cook, 77 Ed., president of the society. At initiation has been extended to all students interested in dramatics to attend. Both men and women students are eligible for membership. Those who prove successful in their tryouts will be qualified for parts in the play.

A program of entertainment has been arranged, to be held at 7:30 o'clock. A cold lunch will be provided, and efforts are being made to have former Mack and Woodland Ave. sponsors present. The trial will take place at the conclusion of the program. Additional tryouts will be conducted Thursday and Friday nights.

This year’s play has not yet been chosen. Miss Coke said, but will probably be picked before the meeting Wednesday evening. Casts will be selected from parts of the play selected.

Several changes are being made in the arrangements for the spring performance this year. In former years the Dramatic Club show has ended at a downtown hotel during the week that the play was produced. This year, however, the Dramatic Club show will probably be given a week or two before the Mack and Woodland Ave. shows, and will not be a weekend. The student shows will not be closed, but the performances will probably be given the last Friday of April or last day of May. If a concept is chosen, it will be the first time in several years that such a type of play has been produced.

The selection of the dramatic club’s annual production has been conducted under the direction of Professor John M. Dellal, of the English department, and the number of the society. LUD WRAY REJECTS OFFER TO COACH WESTERN TEAM

Line Coach Returns From St. Louis After Refusing to Become Head Coach at Washington

FOWELL QUITS AS NAVY COACH

"Lud" Wray, head line coach of the Red and Blue football team, returned from St. Louis and announced that he would probably return to the Pennsylvania coaching staff next fall. Wray stepped at St. Louis on his way home from California to notify officials of the University of Washington in that city of his affiliation.

Wray said yesterday that he had turned down the offer because of a ruling by the Missouri Valley Conference, of which Washington is a member, which makes it obligatory for all coaches and members of the faculty to accept any member of the family in the event of the death of the coach. Wray said that he would have to spend the entire year in St. Louis. This led with a statement that he would not accept the offer of business interests in business in Philadelphia.

Wray then announced that Bob Fowell, another former Pennsylvania player named as coach, is practically certain to head the United States Naval Academy, where he is now coach. It was learned Saturday that "Bill" Fowell, captain and star of the Navy team in 1919, and a member of the Pacific Fleet team, which suffered the only defeat on the University of California in recent years, was at Annapolis in conference with Naval Academy athletic authorities.

Fowell had been associated with New York University, representatives, who went in to see the football meet at the Gotham Institute, but recently it was announced that "Chuck" Meine, formerly coach at Syracuse the last few years, has been engaged for the position.

CRESSENT A. C. DOWNS JUNIOR VARIETY QUINQUET, 51 TO 20...

In scoring its fifty-first straight victory of the season, the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn, surprised the Pennsylvania basketball team by a score of 51 to 20 Saturday night at Brooklyn. Knittie scored for the winners, scoring seven goals from the field.

The Brooklyn team swept out an early lead when Knittie scored a field goal in the first minute of play. In the first half the Pennsylvania team displayed a strong defense and was able to work on the offensive line behind the defense. At half time it was 20 to 0, and the ball was in favor of the Brooklyn. At the start of the second period the Brooklyn team was the victim of a brilliant rally which gradually wore them down.

In the first period Knittie, whose seven goals from the field earned him the high score of the game, could account for only one point. During the last half, however, the Brooklyn team away from the field, netting six goals.

Imagine a girl with three lovers—each bent on possessing her—each playing the game according to his nature.

The one, Van Buren Rutger offers social prestige and wealth. The other John Thurston shows bravery, will and courage; and the third, Ponape Burke, a "cave-man" uses brute force and cunning to gain his ends.

Lovely Palmaya Tree embarking on the yacht "Rainbow" for a cruise to the South Seas little dreamed of the desperate straits in which she would find herself.

Bulletin readers have had the chance to read some splendid serial love stories; but, RED HAIR AND BLUE SEA by Stanley R. Ochon is probably the most thrilling and exciting of them all.
