HOMERUH SOCIETY WILL HEAR JUDGE LEWIS, NOTED JURIST
Judge William M. Lewis, eminent jurist, will address the members of the 65th annual meeting of the Homerunh Society, held at the Juvenile's Home, Friday evening. The address will be on the subject of "The Development of Law as a Science." His subject will be "The Evolution of Law." The speaker is a member of the New York Bar and a former judge of the New York Court of Appeals. His address will be of special interest to the members of this society who are interested in the study of law. The meeting will be held at the Juvenile's Home, starting at 8 o'clock.
The Pennsylvania takes pleasure in announcing the election of its editorial board as assistant editors of 0. E. Gasbarre, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, PA.; Leonard C. Dill, Philadelphia, PA.; Richard Insko, Brooklyn, NY. E. P. Turner, Maylan, PA.; John Fresh, Philadelphia, PA.; and Donald Buch, Butler, PA., were chosen as alternates.

The Pennsylvania-wants to use this space in expressing its heartiest appreciation of the very excellent spirit shown and work accomplished by all of the men who engaged in the competition from which the above men were chosen. This standard set by them will be a mark difficult for succeeding competitors to surpass.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE PENNSYLVANIAN.

The editorial board of The Pennsylvania is proud of the success that you have had, and that the editors have accomplished, and the fact that you have won the respect of the men who have been and continue to be on the editorial staff of the newspaper.

SIDELIGHTS ON FOOTLIGHTS

CHESTNUT.—"Sweet Little Devil." Constance Blnney and her original company make their bow, this being the first time in four years that Miss Binney has returned to the legitimate. The production begins its run on Monday, February 2.

GARRK K.—"Xatja." The other show in town during the second week of mid-year examinations is "Nataja," an opera. The performers have not been definitely announced as yet, but the attraction is one of special significance, inasmuch as the music is by Tchaikowsky.

RENEW DEBATE COMPETITION

THROUGH GIFT OF ALUMNUS

Through the generosity of an alumnus of the University, William W. Frazier, Jr., '86 C, the Frazier debating prizes have been renewed. These prizes were established a number of years ago, but were discontinued during the world war. Within the next few weeks the question for debate will be announced, and thirty days after this announcement a competitive debate will be conducted, each contestant speaking on the side which he selects. Three Judges will rank the debaters and award the prizes. The winner will receive $75 in cash and the runner-up $25.
