NEW WHARTON SCHOOL BUILDING PROVIDED IN ENDOWMENT FUND GOAL

New Structure Will Occupy Present Site of Tennis Courts on Woodland Avenue

ADDED EXPENDITURES, $150,000
Increased Graft Alas Includes Modern Gymnasium and New Physics Laboratory

Thomas W. Gates, chairman of the University of Pennsylvania Fund, announced yesterday that the proposed program of the Fund has been amended and a new Wharton School building, gymnasium, and physics laboratory will be erected. The increase in the budget will amount to $150,000.

The site for the proposed new building is on the present tennis courts on Woodland Avenue, thirty-six years ago, when the Wharton School was established.

The funds for the new building will be obtained through the addition of the gifts of the fund holders. The University of Pennsylvania Fund has already received $300,000 from the fund holders and the University will add $200,000 toward the cost of the building.

"FRESHER BY A DAY!"
Advertising rewards brains!

Advertising is a profession demanding of the student not only the use of the latest in the materials of life but also the ability to use them to advantage. Those boys and girls who show the ability to analyze a situation and then to utilize the tools of advertising to solve the problem are the ones who are going to be rewarded. The competitive world values brains! It is a great little puzzle game. Use it yourself when you can. It's a great little puzzle game.

42 TEAMS ENTER FIFTH BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Entrance of Baltimore Paddy Marks the First Time a Stargent Five Has Entered Play.

QUINTETS FROM SEVEN STATES

Starting Monday, March 18, and continuing for an week the annual inter-collegiate basketball tournament of the University will be held with an estimated attendance of over 2,000 will include seven powers from seven states. Thirty of the quintets in the high school division, while as seen are according to the preparation schools.

The tournament division is the most interesting one that has ever been in the annual New York Military Academy, St. John's Military Academy, West Point, academy, mainly because of the impressive victory over the well known, the conquers of the thirteen.

Two of Twelve: professors of high schools, South and Scott, have sent in entry blanks, and while they will not be able to participate in the tournament, they are quite certain to make their contribution of a great deal of excitement.

A number of prominent summer schools in Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, and Baltimore, entered. The high school, Lower High, of Washington, Young Men's Mason, Young Men's Coburn, in the coming elimination, the West Philadelphia, will be the only house not to form a team to enter the tournament.

The absence of Baltimore Polytechnic, the underclassman, British Royalty, makes the first time that a team from Mattland has entered the tournament. Due to the withdrawal of several of the teams from the tournament, the remainder of the tournament has been delayed, but will be made early this week.

meeting of the Council with tentative plans and dates for the coming season. It was moved that in all future elections at least 15 per cent of those who have paid their dues must vote to constitute a regular and proper election. It was assumed that the surplus left by the Council of 1925-26 earned in the fund of the Council of 1926.

An important step was taken when the Council decided that Pennsylvania should be represented at the third biennial intercollegiate conference to be held in the year 1927-28. They further decided that the chairman should appoint the representatives, who should act upon the executive committee of such confederate. The representatives are endeavoring to devise methods of dealing with clubs, and the council will formulate a plan.

It was voted that the Executive Council should take steps to dispose of the E. O. and print the official report for the Council of 1926-27. It was also voted that the council and the representative committee, communicate with the special committee on the plan of the Council and the confederate committee.
