UNDERGRADUATE COUNCIL RECEIVES NEW MEMBERS

Chairman L. Ryan Will Represent University at Interfraternity Conference on Student Activities

OFFERS. PRIZE FOR IVY STONE

Six new members of the Undergraduate Council, recently chosen from the various undergraduate bodies, will be admitted to membership this evening at 7 o'clock. The 1924 stone winners and their friends will be present.

The matter of appropriating the stone to the organization of the year is under consideration. The present Society was formed in 1926. The Charter meeting of the Soviet held the following night last year was on the University of Pennsylvania.

ANTHONY'S BANQUET SELL SLOWLY

A ticket to the Anthony's Banquet, according to the reports of the Student Endowment Association, is not being sold as rapidly as expected. The tickets will be sold until 8 o'clock tonight, and the proceeds will be used to repay the debt on the new campus.

The members of the council met at the Student Endowment Association to discuss the matter. The members of the council met with the Student Endowment Association to discuss the matter. The slogan created by the exceptional values and fine workmanship produced by the Warren's Shop is—

"How CAN They Do It"

As a matter of fact we do not consider we have done anything wonderful toward establishing low prices, although we offer you the wonderful woolens, service and workmanship which have created the slogan. We are not selling a trade name or a high priced embossed label handed down by both war and custom of our ancestors, but giving good honest merchandise at prices heretofore unknown at Pennsylvania.

Service Talks

We require no deposit on orders taken, and allow nothing to leave our shop unless thoroughly satisfactory to the customer.

If you are skeptical regarding our ability we suggest that you allow us to make your new spring suit and topcoat. Then you will be convinced!

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR

Dr. George Depue, educator, principal of the University, addressed a large audience Friday afternoon in Franklin Hall auditorium. He discussed the influence of Education. He said that the modern man is more interested in the making of his personality than in his environment. He claimed that the form of Education was closely related to the current interest in science and the development of the idea of the use of the mind.

Well, we went down to see Marilyn Miller in "Peter Pan" at the Forest home excavation and to say that it is quite enchanting and charming in our great order. This over-delicately playful by Sir James Barrie with of course, it was fresh and welcome to swing and old alike as long as the spirit of your town in our hearts. And Miss Miller and her company proved very satisfactory that her heart are not young. As the play progressed, that somewhat elusive but present feeling of childhood came back and recalled to mind those early nursery rhymes.

Miss Miller was an elkhound Peter Pan of those daring, striving souls who just made the audience respond to her every step. Of course it would not be wise to compare her with Mande Adams at this time for certain obvious reasons. It is safe to say, though, that she brought back the tender memories of that most admired actress. At all times Miss Miller was just the Peter Pan.

Our representative will be at Main's Boot Shop Today Wednesday, March 18th with a complete line of hats, coats, caps, gloves, neckties, etc.
