We may have been a little hasty in awarding the hard

EATING CAPACITY TO BE 100,000

Plans for increasing the seating capacity of Franklin Field to approx. 100,000 were announced recently by Dr. E. Hornberger, Chairman of the University Council on Athletics. A Holbrook scheme that was given to the IAC Football team in the Pennsylvania Bowl in New York City.

As proposed, the Franklin Field stadium would seat 100,000 people. During the last football season the inadequate capacity of the stadium was widely brought out in several of the larger football games and the present plans are designed to correct this situation.

Work on the stadium will start immediately after the holding of the Relay Festival on April 8 and 9. Work on the stadium will be more extensive than ever. It is expected that the work will be completed within the season of this year.

There is a bill in the State Legislature at the present time that will provide for a gift to this University of $154,132. Before the session was opened last week we wrote that the Legislature would make the stipulation that the extra $25,000 be used to build a library for the use of the law school.

So that there may not be too much disappointment among the Presbyterian Welfare Board and other similar groups around us, I would like to explain to them that the chances are very slight that the English notes written last year in the original to wear a moccasin and a silk hat when running.

One reason for the decline in popularity of the cross-country people on this campus is that they have become so difficult that it is impossible to finish them in one lifetime.

Any one in the Mark and Wig area can obtain some time employment for the next few years by applying at the Student Employment Bureau.

Only fourteen more resolutions were before vacation. Surely kindly and avoid the rush.

The next time a trailer cap talks back to us we are going to say, "Well, well, I'm an Alpha. Why, whether or not the Sesquicentennial celebration is allowed to use the University's grounds, if we are not immediately released and after the John, we may not be too much disappointed among the.

Nothing in the Advertiser can be used to build a library for the use of the law school.

The Christian Association carries its influence on every student who enrolled in the University. From the moment of his arrival on the campus, where the Freshman Handbook becomes his guidebook and campus, the freshman feels it is unanswerable and inevitable.

Yesterday morning the annual financial survey of the C. W. A. was launched, when an efficient and carefully planned organization began a thorough canvass of the campus. The goal of the campaign has been purposely set at a figure which would be easily attainable without any sacrifice on the part of the student body-$400,000.

Last year the Christian Association expected more than $100,000 in the various departments of its work, so that the students are asked to support the Association in the amount of $400,000. Of these, four or five times that sum, provided largely through the agency of the churches, alumni, and friends, will be expended for the work on the campus alone.

Without considering the far-flung influence of the work carried on as the Freshman Handbook, and in the summer camp for city "kids," the undergraduate body shows annual dividends many times over what it is asked to contribute. $500 is little enough to expect from the third largest University in the country. Are you wearing the wets?

SAVE OUR SONS

Not for very long is the college man free from the pestering, verbal and otherwise, of those of his elders who would have him from the great destruction which beset almost every south of the country: the movement in matriculation of an institution of higher learning.

A paragraph from the advertising page of a well-known newspaper illustrates this tendency to dictate the rules for the conduct of the undergraduate outside of the classroom.

"The man who guides his son to manage wisely, save money, and well during his four years in college is a person of sagacity and one of the noblest works of an emotionally-biased generation. Consequently, the man whose only attempt to master this difficult task of guiding the financial resources of his son on the general theory that the lady of the house is responsible for keeping a dog, and at the same time procedure and preserving a life style, may not be so much the timid and foolish habitue of this planet in the financial world.

While we accept for the most part the particular statement quoted above, it is a different story from pointing out the preponderant note upon which so many undergraduate organizations conflict at any time. The popular conception seems to be that the college man should be treated as a boy who does not fully know his mind, and since he is temporarily off the parental jurisdiction he is to be looked after with great care but he should be led astray by the numerous temptations only found in a college or university atmosphere.

MICHIGAN AND CORNELL STARS ENTER CARNIVAL

Both Universities Have Exceptional Men in Various Classes and Events

HUBBARD IS OLYMPIC CHAMPION

Announcement was made yesterday at the office of the Carnival on Athletics that two more prominent track stars will participate in the Relay Carnival to be held on Franklin Field, April 24 and 25. Goodwill, the famous Cornell sprinter, and Hubbard, the Olympic broad jump champion of Michigan, will be among the entrants from their respective universities. Hubbard won the 100-yard dash at the Western Conference meet last year in 9.45 seconds, thus winning recognition as a sprinter as well as a broad jumper; Goodwill, who entered Cornell with a record of 9.35 seconds for the century and 21.15 seconds for the 220-yard dash, has been closely watched by the coaches of Eastern colleges. By winning the 100-yard dash from Norton, of Yale, last Saturday night in the Cornell-Yale meet he established his reputation in that event. His time of 10.6 seconds, which is only 1.5 second behind the record, marks him as a strong competitor for first place in this event. In addition to Goodwill, Cornell has two other fast sprinters in Gush and Looser, whom they expect to enter in the quarter and half mile relay races. Around these three Coach Washley hopes to build a team that will come close to the record in both of these events.

Coach Parcell, of Michigan, states that, besides holding records in both the broad jump and the 100-yard dash, Hubbard is, in his opinion, the best athlete in the world in the Decathlon event. At present he holds the collegiate record for the hop, skip and jump, with a distance of 18 feet 10 5/16 inches. This year he hopes to establish a new record, and, if possible, to oust the one set by Willi"m van der Waal of Australia, in the Olympic games last year, when he got 16 feet 11 10/16 inches.

CARNEAL PLACED AT FORWARD ON MYTHICAL LEAGUE TEAM

Jimmy Carmack and Henry Gilchrist are placed on the first All-Eastern Inter-collegiate league basketball team which was selected by Nell Hurishman, chairman of the Cornell on Athletics, University of Pennsylvania.

The first team, as selected by Nell Hurishman, is composed of Carmack, Pennsylvania; Lemon, Princeton; forward; Chaves, Princeton, center; Goldsberry, Pennsylvania, and Rosinosko; Cornell, guards. The second team is made up of Friedman, Dartmouth, and Hynson, Princeton, at forward; Bube, Cornell, center; Guse, Dartmouth, and Wilson, Colgate, also guards.
