WALDMAN MADE EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF RED AND BLUE

Loyman Reddin, Paul Watson, Keith mechanic, and C. W. Lucas, president, have been named to the Red and Blue Editorial Board.

MCGRAW NAMED HEAD MARSHAL

One of the features of the parade will be the parade of the endowment drives, which will be led by the endowment officers of the different colleges. The officers will be dressed in white flannels and wearing white ties. The uniforms will be displayed at the beginning of the parade.

The committee in charge of the activities hopes that the success of the endowment drives will be reflected in the endowment fund of the university.

BECKHAM MAKES PICTURES

In addition, the parade will feature pictures of the members of the endowment drives. These pictures will be displayed at the beginning of the parade.

FROM THE CENTURY COMPANY WOULD like to announce that it has published a new work by E. Alexander Powell, entitled "Reasonable Cooking." In this work the brilliant travel writer has done one of the most interesting of any of his writings to this time. Certainly, it presents the clearest and most realistic picture of all his journeys. In brief, ex-patriot in Europe before the Revolution, Brazil Colony, Abyssinia, Zanzibar and Madagascar are held more interesting and colorful than all of them. All of which results The Peruser of a lot of anecdote, and that of fashion.

Several years ago, while approaching in the Orient, I had the good fortune to personally come in contact with Colonel Powell. Major as he was then known. He was staying at the hotel where I happened to be staying and, as we passed, we had many a chat and sharp together. Always was he the same sort, and alive person; ever keen for any new adventure that might chance to be selected from member of the organization, and the polls. It is worthy of note that it Justly deserves justly a place among the foremost of the world's great travelers. The Art Association, said to have the best and finest of all the literary men of the Orient. Powell was well qualified to write The art Association, announced the large influence of the Undergraduate Council, stated that it is hoped that a representative vote will be cast, as the election will determine the person who will be honored by the association. The Art Association, said William E. Lingeborg, 25, retiring president yesterday, "is probably best known of all the work of which come within the control of the COLLEGE HOUSES. Members of the Undergraduate Council, stated yesterday, that in order to maintain a high standard of excellence in the enrollment of the College, and have been part of the educational program which has received favorable student comment."
The Sophomore class is now in difficulty. Judging from the course of events at the Junior Prom, the Sophomores are afraid that the gatecrackers may overrun their plans and cause a lot of serious damage. It has been suggested to Rob a doorman, or perhaps to take tickets on account of the extreme personal danger of the position, and relay events—by justifying the plan, for instance.

If none of the stick-in-the-muds finds a plan could only be found, a few temporary barmaids might be hired up, but all the throng-in-the-muds are biding. The insurance companies have even declared the members of the Prom Committee had risks.

Anyone who has a ticket is up to be arrested on suspicion. Things are in a bad way.

The Prom Committee's latest announcement is that any attempt to enter the parking lot by any means is subject to a very heavy fine.

It doesn't make any difference about the building, though. Fortunately, the Sophomores had planned to tear that down, you see.

Not all buildings while the head marshals of the carnival by representing in elaborate tableaux the earlier periods of our country's history, the students were in full uniform. The parade made a grand impression.

A student of the Evening School writes in to protest about the new safety arrangements. It seems that, as he was leaving class one of the students ran into the street with a bag of books, and that the two were promptly engaged in aPs game. We all know the answer to his question.

The idea of such a man as the son of John D. Rockefeller announces in public that he cannot remember his father ever being laid with his children, in any conversations that the boy made to him. He repeats that the boy was in a condition of extreme physical exhaustion, and, as such, all newspapers.

Our delays are a more modern version of the true inland spirit; they are typical of, and exemplify the spirit of youth in America. The entry list is not limited to the United States, but international in character. English, New Heelakland, Canada and Cuba are represented in today's gang.

With the running track in excellent condition, the results which have sworn the season of many athletes may also be set by the speeds of the track and field stars. With the stadium painted and placed in condition all the thousands who will join in, few attendance records may be set up for the delays. With the Mask and Wig and the Sophomore Promenade adding the assurance social touch, there are means at every one's disposal to rival a real holiday. Let the spirit of Carnaval Day dominate.

CARNIVAL DAY 1925

In this year of the spring term which may be called one of the most successful ever had, no other term will have as many events, athletic and social, which will claim the attention of the undergraduates both as well as the alumni who return to their alma mater in great numbers. The thirty-six edition of the Pennsylvania of course, holds the rose of the8mth. When those in the Mask and Wig show still drawing crowned horses at the Forrest Theatre, while the Sophomore Promenade, the premier lower class social function of the year, is being held in Wheaton Hall.

Well might we appropriate a title such as Carnaval Day for the annual marking of our great inland and social advancement from the routine of study. In many countries of the world civilization is measured in periods of great living and many localities.

Now, for the famous Italian Grand Mastl, the spirit of the current by representing in elaborate bandaged scenes in history and newspapers. Here at Pennsylvania we have a realistic verdict, not in the ordinary action of action and movement, but in the representation of emotion, courage, emotion, and, above all, all sportmanship.

ALDINE HAS UNUSUAL PROGRAM
The Aldine Theatre has arranged a program of an unusual and interesting nature for the coming week when a double bill will be presented. The latest epic of the screen to be filmed is scheduled to make its premier Philadelphia showing at 2:00 on Monday morning. The film, a "Western" is "written by an angry God, staged by Destiny, with settings for Fun." This exciting film has been made under the leadership of Capt. Merian C. Cooper and Ernest B. Schoedsack, with Marguerite Harrison by the leading role. At each performance Capt. Cooper will appear in person to present a special added attraction, a New York sensation, "The Last Laugh," a page from life, with Emil Jannings, is to be the second part of the program. The success of both of these offerings has been very marked, and the Aldine is to be congratulated on its wise and worthy pick.

Marksmen Crowned College Champions

Team Commanded by Captain Vannini, Wins, Graves, Dodson and Feaster Figure given out by the war department show that the University rifle team in national intercollegiate championship of the country by completing six weeks with twenty-five other colleges. The team amassed a total of 2425 points during the season, with the University of Washington, of Seattle, a close second, with a total score of 2415. The rifle team has enjoyed one of the most successful seasons of minor sports at the University. This year's aggregate surpassed all previous records for individual and team honors made by Red and Blue teams.

The Big Prizes, as the Red and Blue teams are known, are held by Captain Vannini, who broke the Intermediate record in a recent meet by hitting the target 400 times out of 400 times in a four-position match. The other members of the equal are Dodson, Graves, Win and Feaster.

In a recent match held in New York City the Red and Blue marksmen tied the New York University for first place honors in the Intermediate Eastern League championships. After six weeks' competition the marksmanship of the University division won the award over twenty-five other colleges.

OPENED ON FRANKLIN FIELD TODAY

Fred, Annapolis, entered but standing

The sprint medley, the Army and Navy will run in separate heats, either for the first time in a relay race. Hoytscrewed and others, to-test only spiri-

tor will run for the Army, while the Navy hopes to overcome any early lead with their quarter and half mile entries. Yale, Georgetown, Holy Cross, Providence, Penn State, Cornell, Princeton and Ohio State are also expected to have strong teams in this event.

Lord Byron, of Cambridge, English intermediate hurdle champion, will compete in the sixteen hurdle race. He is the first Englishman who has ever run in the Relay Carnival and for this reason is expected to attract a great deal of attention. Portland, Oregon, Visit The Waffle Studio

RED AND BLUE NETMEN

FACE SYRACUSE TODAY

Pennsylvania's netmen will play their second match of the season when they meet Syracuse University tennis team at the Germantown Cricket Club at Main Line this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Six singles and three doubles matches will constitute the engagement.

The Red and Blue team which will face the Orange men will consist of World Champions, Robert Howard Horton Stowe, Frank Biddle, Howard Gardner and Oswald Ahlhorn or Morris Mer-

Winfield Williams, star member of the University court team, will not be able to enter today's matches. Leibach has been recovering from a minor knee sprain, so is expected that he will be in condition to join the team which has the Harvard rocket wielders on the course of the Main Line In-ternationis Wednesday.

J. E. Hendricks, professional tennis coach, has been chosen by the Athletes to coach the university team. The new tennis coach was the right man for the job, on account of his experience at the Ocean City Tennis Club for several years, and was a prominent figure in sectional tournaments in his former city.

Due to the lack of practice, both the University and Freshman teams suffered losses in the opening engagements on Wednesday. The Red and Blue first team, under the direction of Princeton University, while the engagements fell before the onslaught of the Hill School netmen, as the matches have been scored on which to hold daily practice.

For the present future, the team will travel to Los Angeles for their matches with the southern California colleges. The Red and Blue team will be the cup, I believe, for Southern California this year, but to the uncertainty of difficulties, will not compete against the Red and Blue competition.

Mrs. Ellen Bennett Establishes Large Fund for Chair of Pediatrics

Under the will of Mrs. Ellen D. C. Bennett, who died on April 8, the University of Pennsylvania has become the beneficiary to the extent of a $100,000 trust fund. In addition to the University, the Academy of Natural Sciences and Rowe University also received large sums in trust. Mrs. Bennett directed that the University of Pennsylvania use the income for the endowment of a chair of pediatrics in the Medical School. This is to be done in memory of her husband, William H. Bennett.

The Academy of Natural Sciences will receive $50,000, which will be known as the George W. Carpenter Fund, for the advancement of original scientific research. This provision was made in memory of Mrs. Bennett's father, who for more than thirty years was associated with the Academy. It was further designated that a part of this fund be used as a prize for the best essay based upon a scientific subject and the original work of the author. Competition is open to students throughout the world, and the prize shall be of sufficient value to enable the competition of eminent scientists. The winning essay is directed to be published at the expense of the income in the fund.

Brown University shall receive $10,000, which will also be used for scientific purposes at that university. The bulk of the income of the endowment will revert to educational institutions to be used for the advancement of scientific research. In explaining the reason for setting up the endowment, the will reads: "My object in creating the trust is that scientific research and progress shall be aided and the path of scientific study made easier."

GERMAN CLUB SHOWS ANNUAL PRODUCTION
"Jugendspielen," by Ludwig Fulda, is Presented at Philomusian Club

Playing before a large un-thrilled audience at the Philomusian Club, 241 Walnut Street, Wednesday evening, the German Club of the University presented "Jugendspielen," by Ludwig Fulda. The play depicts in a delightfully humorous fashion the futile efforts of a man to escape the nauseous market after he has made a number return trip here.

Wednesday's presentation marks the last public appearance of the club. The results only one more meeting to wind up a very successful year. During the past season the membership in this organization has increased 75 per cent, and the interest in its work proportionately. An interesting musical program has been planned for the concluding meeting on May 9th.

Ralph M. Barch, president of the club, has announced that nominations may now be made for next year's officers. It is further requested that all nominations be made before May 9 so that ballots can be prepared for the election, which will take place in the coming meeting.
