Culbom Conquers Fischer in Feature Match

YEARINGSLOSE SINGLE MATCH

With the 5th defeat administered to the Philadelphia School of Osteopathy, revolver the teams turned over one of the most successful years in the history of the sport at the University. Nine matches were won or lost out of the fourteen played. The schedule won one of the largest ever attempted and included matches with the best college teams of the East. In a grueling three-set match, Culbom, of the Red and Blue team, defeated Fischer, are of the Osteopbaia, a former intercollegiate-champion and one of the ranking players of the country. Culbom, displaying almost perfect form, held the swung hand after the second set, winning by the scores of 1-6, 6-3, 6-1. Captains Lingelbach, Ellis and Booces all performed in a manner that left no doubt as to what the ultimate outcome of the match would be.

The schedule opened with a defeat for the Pennsylvania team at the hands of Columbia, Harvard and Harford, and the team shortly afterward. Thursday, Lingelbach was defeated, but the Red and Blue team suffered other setbacks at the hands of Dormont, Williams, Yale and Pennsylvania in the succeeding moves. The Rutgers match, which resulted in a victory for Pennsylvania, marked the opening point of the season for the team, Arizona, Notre Dame, Navy, Cornell and the Philadelphia School of Osteo-pathy were overwhelmed by normal Chi-sese. These six consecutive losses for the Philadelphians furnished a brilliant ending to the 1905 season. The Navy team had been a hard one and had little difficulty in

In a sharp fall after he had recovered from his injuries sustained in an auto accident. His presence was particularly noticeable from the right side of the Yale lineup throughout the remainder of the schedule.

Any Member of University May Write and Submit Production to Organization Before November

Silver Loving Cup to Winner

At a recent meeting of the Dramatic Club a contest for original plays open to all members of the University was officially started, which contest will continue until October 21st of this year. It is being held over the summer with the idea that the best can be written by students after other campus activities have consumed their interest on their vacation. The plays are to be one act in length, and are limited to forty minutes playing time. The winning production, to be performed with scenes which possess the most creative merit will be presented by the Club during the last season. A price of a silver loving cup is to be awarded to the writer of the best play submitted.

We Know Our "Oats"

It is the consensus of opinion, well backed up by our stock of everything in wearables for the "Penn" man.

Well be down on the 29th of this month—the last of our trips to good old Penn, and our stock will be moved from New York for your convenience.

It's a mighty good time to stock up for summer days—a mighty good time to take a long, lasting look at some mighty pretty sportswear at prices that are short, sweet and long-lasting limp at some mighty pretty sportswear.

It is urged by the English professors and Club members and all those interested in seeing Pennsylvania as active in the literary field as she is in other fields of activities, that every member of Pennsylvania, alumni as well as undergraduate, compete, so that such an undertaking may become a worldwide annual event of the Dramatic Club and of the University. Dr. John Delman and Dr. A. H. Quinn, both of the English Department, will act as judges of the manuscripts submitted. A third judge, who will not be a member of the University faculty, will be announced later.

Election of officers who will manage the Club for the coming year was held at the last meeting on May 20. Most of those elected president and other offices on the executive board by the members. At the meeting the picture of an amusing play directed by Artie Fisher, served as the entertainment.

Well, the class of two is about to step down off the campus.

Not being a member of that class, you see, we can be optimistic. This is the time of the year, also, when next Penn's Wharton Students are resolving that they will have their research done before the spring vacation, and then telling the men of the graduating class about it.

Many students relented a sad and rugged old man with a long gray beard sitting in front of the Houston Hall while he held under his arm yesterday, and several of them, learning that he was a Medical student, are wondering if they haven't better quitted school now while there is still time, so that they won't be in that condition in a few years.

The Deep Cyp says that some of the boys around the Dorms will be suspended until avoided the middle of next month.

We purpose that all the Wharton Students who have been researching in Banking and Merchandising will assume good positions somewhere reaching higher.

At any rate, there is much among the fathers who are managers of big corporations, who forecast some of these sons are going to be allowed to graduate.

There is also much appreciation among the office boys of the other members.

We have even some expressions of opinion to the effect that it is a pity that there are any honors our dollar nomenclature.

All of which evidences of a letter we received recently from Box 1000

Well Bill, I been laying off to you something funny for several days, so as I suppose the college has been imposing at the decline lettering the way of humor, you might say, Well Bill, I wrote a good letter for you which was a white and I give it to one of the boys to give you to read till the last. So you see, Bill, we must suffer and forbear for Art's sake.

Well Bill, the reward year is drawing to a close, you know, and I guess you are wondering what I am going to give you for a graduation present. Well Bill, I will not because I know you will be delighted to receive it. I have bought one of those little player pianos like they have in your dormitory.

At any rate, I am going to give you what I am going to give you for the other half of life.

Hand in hand, I begin laying off to you something funny for several days, so as I suppose the college has been imposing at the decline lettering the way of humor, you might say, Well Bill, I wrote a good letter for you which was a white and I give it to one of the boys to give you to read till the last. The Old Folks At Home!

When the selected term draws to a close and when the temporary worries of Exams are over, we all look forward to the trip home and the welcome extended to us by 'the old folks at home.'

At this time we wish to record our appreciation, both to the Faculty and the student body, for the liberal patronage they have shown us during this term. This unflagging care of our school will do more, for the benefit of all, than the best that the world has done for men. And the best that the world has done for men is to provide the will, the courage, and the intelligence to do the rest that our fellow men need. To think of doing this, is to feel that we must do it for the rest of our lives. And when we feel that we must do it for the rest of our lives, we feel that we must do it for the rest of our lives.
