FRANKLIN SOCIETY TO GIVE OPENING SMOKER

Prominent writers will speak

Places are being selected for the annual fall smoker at the Franklin Society to be held in Houston Hall tomorrow evening at 8:15. Professor Robert L. Macay, sports editor of the University's daily newspaper, The Pennsylvania, has been invited to speak. A meeting of the Franklin Society's executive committee early this week was held to make possible the program for the evening.

Dr. W. M. Price, president of the society, has announced that the annual smoker will be held in Houston Hall because the Franklin Society has increased its enrollment to 100. HB will hold its annual smoker in Houston Hall for the first time this year. In the past, the smoker was held in the Franklin dining room.

The smoker is open to all. Tickets may be purchased at the office of the Franklin Society for forty cents each.

The Franklin Society is the oldest student organization on the university campus. It is a Harvard society whose members are Harvard men, now living in Cincinnati.

The editorials of the University Daily News for the past few days have emphasized the necessity of the increase in the enrollment of the student body. It is necessary that several more students be recruited for the University Daily News and the University yearbook.

TODAY WHEN CLASSES BEGIN

For a week or more undergraduate has divided his time between class work, the Registrar and Hall, and heavy2 handshaking with old friends and new acquaintances, and coming up to all friends of last year. Today, Senior and Freshmen alike are plunged into a madhouse of lectures, classes, and examinations. Beginning to realize the taste of his new life. Usually leaves him with his professorial exhortations to the upperclassman. Note fees, bulletin boards, mid-term examinations. Bitterly he souhaits the old days of regular attendance, prepared recitations and dose attendance. The aim of the lecturers will meet the faculty demand.

This is expected that there will be plenty of work for the Freshman, A student under the Susquehanna zone.

However, anyone who sits in the North Star at tomorrow’s game should look like a lifeguard, or a member of the football team.

The Freshmen must have thought they were coming to a Harvard party, judging by the number of raucous and exuberant fans who brought them.

Is it not Interesting to note their innovation of reading their own songs and cheers out of little books. If the idea is upheld, the upperclassmen will have to keep book under the seats.

The Council on Athletics has sent for the Certified Public Accountant who engaged by Council to keep the financial books of the Association.

The Freshman must have thought they were coming to a Harvard party, judging by the number of raucous and exuberant fans who brought them.

Why does not the hand beaker try shining himself on the goalposts sometime? It would be a good stunt. Either that or creating under his hand and knees.

We haven’t heard of any organized hard-rock player in the South, but we think something might be done about the central freshman who got his campuses mixed and attended the Freshman Football Field last week.

We hope that this same individual doesn’t get twisted signs and strip into some of the lecture rooms in Logan Hall by mistake.

Dartmouth, S.C. Norwich, O. Dartmouth opened its football season last Saturday morning, November 28th, by soundly routing Notre Dame 7 to 0. The big green Hawaiian bears was through the opponents' line at will. Center widest, Robinson, Line and Rowsley were away many times for long runs. Dartmouth's forward passing attack was very successful. Twelve passes were made, five for touchdowns and six for big gains. Notre Dame tried more passes, but without success.

Notre Dame. Baylor season's second and with only one veteran of the 1924 campaign in their ranks. Notre Dame ran roughshod over Baylor University in their initial effort of the year at South Bend, Ind., Saturday. The final score was 41 to 0.

As no time during the game were the indoor scenes dimmed and at all stages there were brilliant, oppressive and excited players. The Notre Dame backfield which was considered poor during the running game came back with a rush that brought reminiscences of the "Four-Yard Horseshoe" of 1924.

The showing of Notre Dame's spirit in the early games failed to correspond to the early season's expectation. In open season or in other encountering with the leading football ranks, the playing against Baylor University at Waco Texas proved that Notre Dame is now in the running to retain the title of national gridiron champions.

In the southern section of the country, Baylor University is considered the pick. With a veteran team, which up to Saturday had not been defeated in three seasons, they were considered one of the strongest teams in the running.

FRESHMEN SHOW SPIRIT
WITH NEW CLASS SONG

Words by C. W. Beckler, ’29, to Music of “College Days” Proves Popular
at Football Game

WRITTEN AT GREEN LANE CAMP

Another Freshman Class has broken into the spotlight with a song of its own.

Up at the University Green Lane
Camp, where a group of one hundred and thirty-five first-year men gathered for a few days last fall together before the work of the college year began, the word was passed around that the Class of 1929 should have a freshman song. Quietly, though secretly, a small group of freshmen put their heads together, with the result that on Friday night, Saturday the twentieth, when the entire camp was gathered in the large Recreation Hall,
the new song was heard for the first time.

The words, written by Charles W.
Beckler, ’29, and sung to the familiar rhythm of W. J. Heel’s “College Days,” have a snap and a significance typical of Freshman pride of self, group confidence, joy and spirit all expressed in this rollicking, catchy piece. But beneath it all is the understanding that it is a freshman song for men who are not only ready but proud to tell the world of their new status; that never-to-be-forgotten period in college life, the freshman year.

This new composition marks a revival of Freshman Class songs. The present seniors, the ’29 men, are the only other class in the undergraduate group who cannot boast a similar possession. That song, written to the music of the irreresistible “Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean,” was the hit of the football crowds and the campus three seasons ago. And occasionally, at various class functions, the tune of ’26 still rings.

That the new freshman songs should meet with as much approval and be as popular as is predicted. At the football games, at varve, and at variety shows, this song is on everybody’s lips. Through the courtesy of the Capitol News, a number of copies have been distributed to the first-year men, already it has spread like wildfire
through the freshman dormitories, and within a week will rival in popular-ty the threatening freshman yell.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the words a copy is opposed:

Freshmen, freshmen!
Yes, we are the freshmen.
Do we like the Sophomores?
No, Mary.

Marchers, always first in lines,
Make the rope wave higher,
Rah! Rah! Rah!
