At the Metal Fall Regatta does not actually begin until today, the men and women of the crew and oarsmen are busily occupied in preparation for the big race. The men put most of their oars along, and though the race is not yet started, the rowers are already busy in the gymnasium, just as if they had never started their training. At least, however, even if this den of iniquity is not yet started, the rowers are doing their best to prepare for the big race.

"JUNIOR ANNALES" WILL ANNOUNCE NOVEMBER 23

According to Editor-in-Chief Ellis, the 1925 Edition Contains Many Innovations

VOLUME WILL SELL FOR $1.00

The Junior Annals of the Class of 25 will make its appearance on the campus Monday, September 25, it was announced yesterday by Editor-in-Chief Ellis. Editor-in-Chief of the volume, the cover will be a much larger edition than the usual, for the same reason that the next meeting will be held at the University Club.

The cover of the Annals is a great innovation, and the club's executive committee has been hard at work to make it as attractive as possible. It is expected that the Annals will be sold at a higher price than usual, and the club hopes to sell enough to cover the cost of printing and distribution.

The Junior Annals is the first of a series of publications which will be issued by the club, and it is expected that the next meetings will be well attended.

PITCH PLAYS FALL AGAINST Varsity Defense

Kroetz Back at Old Position With Brown on Kicking Assignment

After sending "Pops" Miller's scratch into scrimmage against the Varsity eleven yesterday afternoon on Franklin Field, the coach expressed satisfaction at the strong defensive work of the front line. The scratch, using limited plays, were unable to gain much yardage with their attack. Butler, Thomas and Sturtevant are still in uniform, but were forced from the work because of their recent injuries. A short signal practice preceded the meeting, during which the teams through new plays to be used this season.

Four backfield combinations were used in the signal drill, which preceded the actual play. The new formations have been-Freeman-Freeman, Schmitt-Freeman, Freeman-Schmitt, and Freeman-Sturtevant. Freeman has been named to the first line.

School Board Delivers Ultimatum Before Surprised Group of Students and Their Parents

Expulsion Follows Violation

With the recent agitation as to whether Panhellenic organizations are worth while, a question which has been urged pro and con on almost every college campus in the country, comes the announcement of the Des Moines, Iowa, school board, that the organizations are banned in that city. This action is summed up in a formal statement issued from the school board, which reads as follows:

"Therefore, on and after December 1, 1925, any pupil in the Des Moines public schools who shall violate the provisions of the law as set forth in chapter 226 of the code of Iowa, 1924, with respect to each objectable and unsanctioned fraternity, sorority, welfare, or combination, or by reason of his association or contact with such fraternities, societies or associations evicts a detrimental influence upon other pupils of the schools, shall be excluded from the Des Moines public schools for the remainder of the current school year (the board of education shall order otherwise) and until he has furnished evidence satisfactory to the board that he is no longer a member of or affiliated with such objectionable and unsanctioned organizations. He shall also be required that he will not in any way become associated with any such objectionable or unsanctioned organizations during the period of his exclusion as pupil in the Des Moines schools.

This was read before a large audience of members of the Greek Letter Societies and many of the parents of the members. The action which was voted on and unanimously accepted by the board on the day preceding the announcement, came so quickly that it surprised even the students who had come prepared to argue in favor of the honorary system and experienced a beaten defeat.

Several prominent citizens of the city whose children are to be one or other of the organizations did speak in their behalf, but to no effect. The general opinion of the people of the meeting seemed to be greatly in favor of the drastic action taken by the board, which apparently had no specific reason for taking such action, or at least refused to disclose these reasons.

H. J. BODJMIUI.

The action of the University of Oklahoma in permitting students to meet with favor among the pole solvers here was also noted recently to be taken up instead by the versatile playmakers of Rollin, the power thrower, bringing interest around the campus with "Red Cross" signs branded on liens.

A freshman who took a long trip out west from home was back with the announcement that the operations of the field quest are ready for the western terminals of the new season.

He said that the only difference in the operations of the two places was that in Rollin the rubbersmacks did not carry books or wear blazers.

We notice that the renovative on our left has altered his headings from football planning to golf terms. We hope he is not being influenced by Jay Howe.

However, after reading the eventual editorial entitled "Looseling out of the song," we concluded that a more apt title would have been "Publicity of Professors."

Today's Historical Question
Any old clothes today?

That might be a good thing though, for the absent-minded professor would, no doubt, fumble with a number of books.

SOCIETIES AND CLUBS HOLD COMBINED DANCE SATURDAY

Final arrangements were yesterday anounced concerning the combined dance of the honorary societies and the Residential Clubs. The dance, which is the last of its kind in many years, will be held in Houston Hall Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. Invitations have been mailed to all members of the organizations under whose auspices the dance is being held in addition to a large number of Pittsburgh society who will be in town that evening have been invited and the committee in making every effort to see that the guests are well entertained.

The music for the occasion will be furnished by Lew Chapman's Symphony and a popular campus orchestra. A sufficiently charge will be made in order to defray the usual expenses of the occasion.

EDUCATION BILL WILL BENEFIT UNIVERSITIES

Miss Chart Williams, Field Secretary of the National Education Association, attends the President's Cabinet, this day, it will be to consider studies and taxes. However, a great emphasis on educational tax, there will be made to school officials throughout the country the best scien tific educational procedure," stated Miss Chart Williams, Field Secretary of the National Education Association, in a recent interview, according to the "Pittsburgh Daily Telegraph.

It is the seventh year that the Na tional Education Association has fostered this bill for the creation of a Department of Education. According to Miss Williams' opposition has centered on the federal aid appropriation to the states for help and improvement in education. There has been an honest difference of opinion on the part of educators as to the wisdom of this appropriation, and in drafting the bill to be presented to the 69th Congress, this controversial question on federal aid has been omitted. The omission of this feature of the bill has eliminated much of the opposition to the movement for a Department of Education.

There are two kinds of federal departments: those for the conducting of the affairs of the country and those which serve for their business the protection of the welfare of the people. A Department of Education would fall in the latter class and one would fail to admit that upon education, more than upon any other public institution, depends the economic welfare of the people.

All educational activities are carried on by a number of federal departments which are costing the government several millions of dollars a year. A coordination of these activities in one department would not only secure more effective educational organization, but would effect a saving as well. Such a coordination is provided for by the Education Bill which transfers to the Department of Education, the Bureau of Educational Research of the Bureau of Education, the Bureau of Vocational Education, the Library Branch of the National Education Association, and the United States Office of Education.

There is a demand for educational aid in the states and for the creation of a Department of Education. Such a Conference would devise ways and means for improving such educational activities and make their findings available to all. By the creation of this Conference such coduction of effort would be avoided.

The Department in short will be in a great drafting house for educational exderer and through its investigations and research much will be done towards stimulating and encouraging the efforts on the part of the states to better educational efficiency. The outlook for the promotion of this piece of legislation is better than it has ever been.

So small factor in deciding victory for us, concluded Miss Williams, "is the critical that our cause in the coming Congress will be supported by two old buddies-Seagrant Charles Curtis of Ken-a and the House Committee of Representatives. With the President favoring, it is ruled to believe that a Department of Education, there appears every hope that our bill being passed in the first ses-tion of the 90th Congress.

INVENT DEVICES FOR FOOTBALL TRAINING
Kansan State Agricultural College introduces Violet Ray Baths for Skin and Blood Ailments

GLENN WARNER SPONSORS MANY

Many infections and novel devices have been introduced in the last few years to supply the needs of the various football teams for equipment suitable for properly training their teams. Among the recent of these are the violet-ray baths instituted by the Kansas State Agricultural College as a cure for skin and blood ailments. In the line of playing equipment, Lehigh University has introduced a new style of football pants similar to basketballs, designed to allow greater freedom of leg motion so as to obtain more speed. It is expected that they will be used throughout the country in a few years.

Other clever contrivances have been made at various times by the football coaches. Stanford Manager, new coach of the Pennsylvania team, has brought his pants to tackle low. To remedy this he placed a third board with the words "Tackle low" across the line of tackling dummies at the height of three feet from the ground. Another clever idea was stated by the coach of the West Point team. He moved his dummies a foot from the ground at a short distance from the dummies so that the tacklers either had to dive over the board or trip. Another of Stagg's devices in the ghost ball which permits forward passing after dark by painting the skin with luminous liquid.

The most ingenious persons for making such equipment is Glenn Warner, the famous Leland Stanford coach. He has worked out a well-known charging machine, a heavily luminous liquid.
