McDowell Addresses Freshman Committee

Chairman of the Vigilance Committee Addressed Freshmen

In an endeavor to clarify misnomer stands regarding Freshmen regulations, J. T. McDowell, Chairman of the Vigilance Committee, spoke before a meeting of the Freshman Co-     operative Committee, Thursday evening in Hulse Hall. McDowell drew attention to the Freshmen of the College, and outlined the aims and obligations of the Freshman Co-operative Committee, and explained the policy that the committee propose will follow throughout the year.

Following his talk the members of the committee brought up specific-     ly, that Freshmen may be exempt from work regulations. In answer to these questions the chairman of the committee explained the reasons for the present work rules remain strict. However, Freshmen are not required to participate in work, and may do so on a voluntary basis. McDowell expressed his belief that Freshmen can be permitted to with-     draw from work if they wish, as long as they have a valid excuse. He mentioned that Freshmen with family or parents on the campus, or those who are studying in the library or attending sporting events, may be excused from work. He also reiterated that Freshmen should be encouraged to participate in campus activities and sports.

Following his talk, McDowell addressed the Freshman Committee, stating that the Freshman Committee is responsible for ensuring that Freshmen are aware of their obligations and responsibilities. He encouraged Freshmen to participate in campus activities and to work together to create a positive campus environment.

JUNTO MAKES FIRST Appearance Monday Night

Feature Story Deals With Life of Buddha

Junto, the University's literary quarterly, will make its first appearance of the season on Monday night with a series of readings and discussions that will explore the life of Buddha. The event will take place in the University Club, and will feature a diverse range of readings and discussions that will provide insights into the life of Buddha and the impact of his teachings on the world.

The event will be moderated by Dr. D. T. Rowland, who will provide an introduction and context for the readings. The readings will include a range of texts, such as the Buddha's own teachings, as well as contemporary reflections on his life and teachings.

The event is open to all students, and the University Club will provide refreshments and snacks for attendees. The event will conclude with a discussion and Q&A session, where attendees will have the opportunity to ask questions and share their insights on the topic.

Can Thorpe and Grange Be Stopped on the Gridiron?

The Athletic Heart—a Sports Discussion in the Interest of Health and Longevity

One of the vigors of the West came from "Jim" Thorpe, ne’er a duskies age, like some throughout of the plains, a mimic of supercharged figures, with scads of steel, likely bandy like Glenn Warner’s wonderful football gang of redskin at Carlisle—dwindled in man the steps of the Hall of Fame. With that same panther-like build. That he succeeded marvelously—in that glorified his career in tradition.

In all sports, he was the magic of perdition, and most could dispute the view that he was the greatest all-around athlete of all time. And it was on the gridiron that he triumphed the decade of men that handed the name to the greatest immunity.

But, developments of the past few months have shown that the athlete out is setting. Metropolitan sportswriters have recorded "Jim" below the name of "Jim" Thorpe. Banned out for a regular member of the New York professional eleven by "Hinky" Haines, Penn, and former equal open-end manner six days of athletic usefulness are exactly numbered. Sportswrter tell us that the "athletic heart" has stopped this wonderful piece of human machinery.

The "athletic heart" stops tires old, spits out new, and molted off currents participation, in athletics for a number of years in the slow way to bring that condition about, and the earnest way for an early entry into the Great Beyond.

This aging their skeletons, howl the "athletic heart" finally "got" by "Hinky" Haines, Walter Camp, and off—and yes—by "Hinky" Haines.

Just Kelly, listening to the windows of "Jim" Thorpe's retirement. He is ready to step more from the sphere of gridiron supereim, and hand his spot over to...

Robert R.

"Jim" Thorpe, Gridiron of the Golden West fame—like the Lusitania of story and song a whispering shadow, sweeping every- thing, before her—glamorous figure, dignified word, blrated athlete, keen nose gray ghost of the gridiron; this first-born, this full-center of the eleven.

Breezy Work on the Campus

Mending and Knitting Free
There is an air about the University which is pleasantly hospitable to those graduates who manage to survive the initial shock of leaving home, and might do much to grow the field of possible activity. To one way of thinking, credit for this homey and familiar atmosphere should be given where due.

This we secure at the outset of our work of praise; three thoughtful ones who took up this challenge, dug links in the big quad, and lost, but not so mean heart, erect permanent sidewalks. (Did we hear someone tell his little god for that monstrosity?)

With the Cornell game in the offing it was thoughtful indeed that some remembrance of the past should be brought back to the campus in order to make up for the loss of the home cars and the Normal Hall which gradates so often viewed from a respectful distance.

We are anticipating the return of some bad look of the 1926 Club, by looking at the well-endowed addition to front of Low Hall will exclaim: "Well, it looks as so in it did I the President and trust spoke from that third plank at the left of the entrance.

Some of the architects has already made the suggestion that try be planted immediately so that by next spring there will be open up for the personal sources or which will help their efforts to gain rapid status on the campus in point of honor.

Many are out for the personal glory which one can.

The contemplated building will success distort their perspective so that they are blind to many opportunities for service.

From the standpoint of the future welfare of our University women, it appears that these clubs are merely social organizations, the political's are regarded more to be co-operating With Council and by the University officials.

The reader's pardon is asked at this point while we clear the typewriter for the first time a freshman is not blamed. Here is the Harris we wisdom—collec.

No, boxing, the large hole in the Quad is not the beginning of the new outdoors swimming pool. Sorry to have gone over ten words.

EDITOR'S NOTE ON THIS ISSUE

JACK A. MODERNE, JOSEPH P. FOGG

A NEW SPHERE FOR THE CLUBS

Several weeks ago this column lamented the students and lack of co-operation which exists among our graduates. More recently it advocated the development of social clubs. At the time proposing the formation the annual at the April event is at the annual of the new organization. The affair which will be held in Houston Hall tonight is a simple social gathering of men who are members of each organization and as such will furnish a starting point from which various groups of undergraduates can be formed. Several organizations in the campus are required to operate as a means whereby one may climb to prominence, the name of the student, jump into athletic activities, and open up the way for personal sources or which will help their efforts to gain rapid status on the campus in point of honor. Many are out for the personal glory which one can.

The contemplated building will success distort their perspective so that they are blind to many opportunities for service.

The University has never attempted to do with the present architectural work. We were told yesterday by the students that they were going to dig for the building, and the building, and the building, the only additional expense was an outfitting credit to money the constructors.

We need such organizations as those to become the multiplc4 out inaccurate statements which frequently appear in student newspapers, whose purpose for the secretary obvious their sense of justice.

College Junior Suggests That Farmer Football Ticket Distributon Could be Obtained by Student Committee

Cooperating With Council

Editor-in-Chief of the Pennsylvania, Thursday, November 14, 1923

It is difficult to offer any constructive criticisms of an organization which has the subject of as much interest and discussion as this Council does. We wish to make certain that in the future as in the past, some students toward the Council is not a friendly one. And their representation certainly in some degree justified and should be given consideration by the Council and by the University officials.

First of all, very few of the students are acquainted with those of the students who are acquainted with the situation of the relationship between the Council and the Army. It seems to me that the situation has been altered here so far as the effect has been made to supply such information. I am told that the student of Athletics is a closed corporation, depleting the University of the other athletic activities in return for the use of our football tickets each fall. This arrangement should be luidly satisfactory to everybody concerned and is, except the student body. Unfortunately, the football team represents the university and the student body which supports it so highly. Therefore, his knowledge of limiting the number of tickets for each game to one or two per season will become more and more limited. There is no way to be given secondary consideration in a matter that involves the honor and traditions of our institutions.

I am not unfamiliar with the student's work and I'm not afraid to say that the time is not far off when student interest in these matters will be stimulated to the point where they will take action to "clean up and dispose with these evils."
