COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES MUSIC FOR JUNIOR PROM

California Rambles and Great White Fleet Orchestra Will Furnish the Entertainment

PLAN ELABORATE DECORATIONS

With the announcement last night of the presence of the Junior Prom to be held for Washington Night Friday, November 21, plans are almost completed for a most elaborate entertainment for this popular University event. The California Rambles, a ten-piece orchestra, which has played at previous Junior Proms in the past, and the Great White Fleet Orchestra, which has been heard recently by many of the students, will be the Headliners in the Junior Music Committee, to furnish entertainment for the evening.

TICKET SALE TODAY

On Tuesday, November 21, tickets for the Junior Prom will go on sale at 10 a.m. at the ticket office at 34th and Walnut Streets. The price of $2.50 per ticket is the same as in previous years. Tickets may be purchased at the ticket office on the day of the event, but the price on this day will be $3.00 per ticket.

We are wondering what would happen in the freshman football-playing clergyman's church if the hymn number happened to be the one that was being sung through his position in the line.

The Dorm Cup notes that they call the University of Pennsylvania Penn, and the University of Pittsburgh Pitt, so they call the University of Pennsylvania Pitt, and the University of Pittsburgh Penn, which results in a number of very new and interesting formations was inaugurated last Saturday by the appearance of the gate of the problem's position in the line.

Among students there are now three outs made up now, and within the next weeks the campus is likely to look like a zoo or a wild animal show.

Colten Mitchell's accusations of the War Department were borne out by Colman. He says that Mitchell was ill in his room in the Hospital, and that no notice of his illness was made by the Hospital management whose press mentions, which, in passing, we may say is.

The anti-Tax League, the sale of tickets for the event was especially affected by the Prohibition Amendment.

We never understand what "speak" on the University budget until we saw the scathing article by Logon Dell.

But to get back to this idea of a suitable place for the Dinner: the important thing is to provide a test for a few in a demonstration that can last.

For example, with its service which would make a good substitute for a service where the patient's stay and giving it their support.

Let Pennsylvania now do the same.

PAPER BOMBARDMENTS IN THE STANDS

In the past, paper-tossing in the stands has been tolerated because its effects were confined solely to the players, or at the most to the press photographers who wished to avoid getting a bombardment of their images by the photographers. In addition, the stands were packed so tightly that it was impossible to avoid the trash.

Recently, however, the situation has changed. The stands have been cleared, and the players are now free to throw their papers without fear of being noticed.

Consequently, more and more papers are being thrown, and the stands are becoming a veritable sea of trash. This has led to a number of complaints from the players, who say that they are unable to see over the sea of papers, and that they cannot even hear each other speak.

The University has taken steps to remedy this situation. First, they have installed a large number of trash cans in the stands. Second, they have instructed the ushers to collect the papers as soon as they are thrown. Third, they have asked the players to throw their papers into the trash cans when they are done with them.

These measures have not been entirely successful, however. The players continue to throw their papers into the stands, and the situation is still a serious one.

In order to remedy this situation, the University is considering a number of other measures. They are thinking of installing a system of paper collection points in the stands, and of equipping the ushers with large, strong bags in which they can carry the papers back to the collection points.

It is hoped that these measures will be effective, and that the situation will improve. In the meantime, the players are advised to throw their papers into the trash cans, and to be careful not to throw them into the stands.
Book Exhibition Will Open in Library This Thursday

The third annual exhibit featuring the fifty best made books of the year, and the annual exhibit of commercial printing, both of which have been assembled by the American Institute of Graphic Arts, will open in the University of Pennsylvania Library on Thursday night, November 15, and continue until December 2.

The exhibition will be opened with an address by J. Thomson Willing, president of the book arts, who will take as his subject, "Present Standards in Book Production."

The fifty best made books of the year to be exhibited were chosen by the American Institute of Graphic Arts from among thousands submitted by the publishers, and, according to A. I. D. L. R., University Librarian, provide interesting examples of the upward trend in the book arts. This exhibition will be open to the public every weekday from 9:30 A.M. to 5:30 P.M., and on Saturday afternoons from 2 until 6 o'clock.
