The text is about various events and programs at the Pennsylvania State University. It includes announcements of events, speeches, and addresses given by various individuals. There are also mentions of dormitories and building inspections. The text is a mix of formal and informal language, with references to specific individuals and groups. The overall tone is informative and descriptively. The text is too long to provide a coherent summary, but it seems to be a detailed account of the events and activities that took place at the university during the time frame it covers.
GRIDIRON GOSSIP

Still smarting from the sting of defeat administered to the Philadelphia Quakers last Sunday, Pennsylvania's eleven Red and Blue perspired warriors have completed a week fairly overflowing with practice, games, and intersquad rematches. Left Tong has had his men toiling long and hard within the walls of Franklin Field to bring them back to their early form when they captured heartwarmers, Brown, Yale, and Chicago on successive weekends. When shadows from the double-deckers turn to darkness the flood lights are played on the field and the week's work is completed.

Up at Harris where till fungus superrime the Cornell team has been receiving the sound kind of treatment. The Ephs have been spending most of their time riling up the future Double running attack, which they hope to close their traditional rivals. Aside from this "Gloomy Gill" has been working up a go with Futterworth, India and Boshaw as the chief participants.

Like Pennsylvania the Ithicans have tasted defeat this season. Both teams are gunning for the big one and there are sure to be two fighting teams on Franklin Field when the annual Thanksgiving Day game is played.

What till fusion in not being able to bring Penn and Yale with him to Philadelphia, he has probably made up in Harold Gassner, a rangy back, who has an easier view of the Big Ten first team in scoring. A very fine fullback, he also is a fast field-goer. The melee as such men lack in their speeding and is a product of Brooklyn Tech High School.

Today "Red" Groups, the Illinois men near, completes the final chapter of their college football career when he leads his tribe against Ohio at Columbus. Whether Illinois wins or loses does not matter so much because his record has already been marred. The significance of the game lies entirely in the behavior of Griggs in his last appearance. Efforts of promoters to capitalize his fame has only hurt him all week and it is doubtful if he will ever be able to concentrate on football today.

Further out in the West another game looks an aspect of more than usual importance. When Stanford and California meet two of the greatest coachs in the game will match strategy. Andy Smith who will direct the California attack from the line back and Pop Warner will see to it that the Stanford team opens up a few truck plays. Last year when these two rivals met the game ended in a 20-20 tie and tomorrow's result will be an open secret.

APPARENT CHAMPIONS

Comparisons of Brown, Harvard, Cornell and Chicago, the big Dartmouth team looks like the logical champion. Alabama, Fordham, and Tulane are still unconvicted and untested, but their victories although over weaker teams have not been exactly as impressive as Dartmouth's successes. Dartmouth has met with every variation of attack; has availed in all kinds of weather conditions, and in every instance impressed with a confidence of play seldom seen in foot ball.

The Big Green team has an aerial attack developed almost to perfection and its running attack is unparalleled. Coupled these factors with a cautious defense and Dartmouth stands set as a main potent in all phases of the game.

Fane up at Harvard have been favored for the few past years with exceptionally good teams but never before have they seen a combination with such stars as Underdevoll, Tully, and Lane, all possible All-Americans material. Lane leads the meeting in the east and Underdevoll, Captain of the team has been one of the outstanding ground gainers of the season.

Junior Week, like the Yale trip, is teeming a lot which cannot be gained from books.
