Franklin P. Combs Awarded Freshman Essay Prize Offered by E. W. Madeira

For writing the best freshman essay, Franklin P. Combs has received the annual essay prize of ten dollars offered by E. W. Madeira.

"Address all things, the world expects the college to regulate its life consistently, so that it is well balanced from every angle. This requires primarily the development of good habits and the willpower to put them into practice in daily life; for whether we acknowledge it or not, it is true that the college graduate is looked up to by many of his associates, and that he has the opportunity of inspiring men to a noble and manly, enlightened life. The best and highest things which lie far from weakness or drudgery, and are accessible to the throng of apprentices which may arise between meetings of the board, an Executive Committee has been organized to deal with these matters. It will meet monthly or on an as-needed basis and may be the source of much benefit to the organization."

Class for Editorial Writers Starts Today

The class for editorial writers, which was established last year, is continued. The students are asked to express opinions on the news of the day in a publishable form. It is expected that the class will also improve the style and quality of the college newspaper.

The team, under the leadership of Clayton McMichael, Manager of Student Publications, has followed the program's schedule.

The members of the class have been assigned the task of preparing a series of articles on the various phases of college life. The articles are intended to be published in the college newspaper, the Pennsylvanian, to provide a forum for discussion of the issues and problems of the college.

To Remaining Group. Will Present McMichael's Address. Welcome.

The meeting of the remaining group was held in the Student Union. Clayton McMichael, Manager of Student Publications, presented his address to the group. He welcomed the students and introduced the new phase of the class program.

The meeting was attended by a large number of students, including the members of the class.

The Pennsylvanian管理和 Student Publications are encouraged to continue their efforts in the coming weeks to improve the quality of the college newspaper and promote the interests of the college.

other words, he must realize the extent of his own capabilities and must be willing to rely upon others when necessary. To be thoroughly practiced the college must be able to choose between three things which are of value and those which are not. He should understand the affairs of government and be on hand to direct public sentiment to the right direction on all important issues. He should strive to make his life more productive and fruitful as possible relying for the material goods which it will bring to him, but with a view of living the world just a little better for his having lived.

"Today more than ever before, the world is looking for those who can lead.

The depressing base and ugly sides of life, in an appreciation of the inspiring lofty and beautiful aspects of our daily living. This truly freedom and the world has a right to expect the graduates of Pennsylvania to do their part in leading us to such conditions.

Coach Kelder, the incoming train is driving our squad of athletes hard in preparation for the coming season. Vatican and Columbia is driving his squad of athletes hard in preparation for the coming season. Vatican and Columbia;

"There is no doubt that the team will be successful this year. The only event in which the team has been weakened is the dash even. The team has been weakened by the graduation of Danielewski, who won the shortest distance last year.

"Each training will be enforced from now on, and all the men are cautioned to watch their diet, keep good hours, and stop smoking," said the coach.

"The tentative first team has been chosen and these men must watch the bulletin board for notices and report daily, between 2:00 and 5:00 P.M. The water-polo team will report from 5:00 to 5:40 P.M."

A special call has been issued for water-polo candidates. "I see no reason why football men should not try for water-polo, as well as other winter sports," declared the veteran coach.

"In post seasons, in the intercollegiates, we have not been able to achieve an supremacy. Water-polo is as good as other sports," declared the veteran coach. The ten-year veteran coach.

"Let every man watch the bulletin board and, if he is not satisfied with his position, call the coach and get his advice."

TWENTY-NINE MUST CARRY ON

To wear a Pennsylvania boy has always been a distinction we covered for freshmen, that in former years, an expert and of course has invariably scored the opening every competition for place on the several legends of the daily. The same thing was happening has always been in comparison with the relatively few films to be filled on the board, and consequently, the competition has always been Tied. Answered, it has been necessary for a man to possess unbounded energy, to exhibit extraordinary ability and to expect a degree of endowment by.

In view of our past experiences, it is surprising that let's is interest in the regular Pennsylvania business competition for freshmen this year has materialized a special call for candidates, a bitterer unnecessary procedure. The Business Manager's statement that does not have enough men to carry on the work. It is plainly evident that either the numbers of the present Freshman Class are lacking some of the characteristics of some men of other classes have had or else the lack the ambition to admit membership on the business board.

For forty years, the Pennsylvania has lived, grown and prospered. During that period classes have come and classes have gone but the daily has grown bigger and better each succeeding year. Each class has cheerfully and expertly assumed the initiated responsibility for its continuation. Will the class of 1929 be an exception? The answer will be found in the response to the call of the Business Manager for additional candidates this afternoon and tomorrow.

The editorial board has faced somewhat better than its business competencies. A number of men have realized the advantage to be gained by being for this department, and these men will surely be elected to the board. Today the Managing Editor will inaugurate a class of instruction for prospective board. All freshmen are eligible to join the plans and become members of the student board of editors. A wonderful opportunity is thus offered the Freshman year to gain a knowledge of the fundamentals which will aid him greatly if he intends to enter the second composition, which is scheduled to start immediately after the holidays.

ELIMINATING THE MIGRATORY ATHLETE

When the Villanova faculty at a recent meeting refused to admit a halfback from another Eastern college who applied for admission, the board took a step which many football believers believe is the least constructive move yet main branch-college football. Among all the football conferences we come to understand the Pennsylvania conference, no bar the "mover" and to eliminate the transfer of "migrant athletes" from college to college, which have been functioning for years. All over the country men, who wear the welfare of the game at heart, this action by the Bull Lion Clubs should not be to the passported student. If another conference should be followed by other conferences, it would not only revolutionize college football and place on a higher plane but would mean the death knell of the "migrant athlete."

In taking this action the Villanova faculty does not bar transfers from other schools who come solely for scholastic purposes and only guard against the student who changes his allegiance because of personal ambitions to be field on the new field. In other words, the institution is still open to men who can pass the entrance requirements, but transfers who come merely for participation in athletics will not be admitted.

College athletics are primarily for the education and development of the students. College athletes are not and never should be a business, and the severe college authorities can bring sports back to the place where the average student without some assurance of success, the latter the situation will become. Villanova has a commendable mind. It is obvious that that institution, at least, considers scholarship more important than football or any other sport. Such an attitude will not do any more towards keeping college football purely amateur, but considering how many
