The site and exclusive of furnishings will be shown Alumni. The site set for the campus campaign is only on part of the total budget for the new building. The leaders present at the dinner last evening expressed an opinion that this interest could be raised in view of the fact that subscriptions are payable in five annual installments over two years, namely: February, May, and November, 1926, and February and May, 1927.
A meeting of the Advisory Committee, students and Executive Committee, and the counsel is to be held this evening. The dinner will be served at 6:30 at the Astor M. Church, 35th and Chestnut Streets. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint all the campaign workers with the exact details of their respective assignments. It was emphasized by George F. Borden, president of the Christian Association, that this meeting could be over by 7 o'clock.

Fund Drive which officially opens tomorrow Monday. The Pennsylvania student body comes face to face with a real, duty, involving some personal sacrifice on the part of each undergraduate but one of which will reap great and lasting benefits to the University.

That the new Christian Association Building will be a great asset to the Pennsylvania campus and its daily use is a fact, need little discussion. The Christian Association has long been a vital part of student life at the University. All though it is not in its present cramped and inadequate quarters, the Association has over the years truly served to promote student welfare and has accomplished wonderful results.

But the proposed new building becomes a reality as we expect it will, the Christian Association will assume the place where it rightfully belongs and will become the center of Pennsylvania student life. On January 22, a drive will be inaugurated in the City of Philadelphia to raise the sum of $250,000, the amount necessary for the construction of the new structure. Over five hundred ministers recognizing the worthiness of the cause, have pledged their personal support.

The site of the new building will be Memorial Hall, an auditorium with a seating capacity of four hundred, which is to be a shrine dedicated to the Pennsylvania men who have given their lives in service, both in war and peace. The student part in the whole scheme is to raise the funds for the construction of the central hall. The rest will be done by the patrons of the City of Philadelphia, or any part is comparatively small when viewed with the whole, but strategically it is of tremendous importance. The student campaign will be over before the city-wide drive begins. We must do our share, or we cannot expect others to help us. It is in the University that we reap the benefits of this fund; and as we, the undergraduates must prove in willing noms to cooperate if we are to challenge the support of others.

New Years day comes once each year, but we sincerely hope that all our readers have noticed that the Penn and Ink column is a sort of perpetual institution and keeps right on coming day after day.

While the Saturday Evening Post only comes once a week.

Several of our pros seem to have received to start the New Year right, by giving all the boys pies.

SIDELIGHTS ON FOOTLIGHTS

American Born

To say that George M. Cohan is the only American comedian who could put over the footlights such a play as the current occupant of the Broad Street Theater would be in the case of impressions, like a back-handed compliment; to the man and the manly, the pertinent Mr. Cohan must be a compliment more and qualifications.

Apart from him, Miss Joan McLeen, a star English player, and Lawrence Wyvern, who has several remarkable moments as a barker, there is no one else so far as this particular piece is contained.

This is just as well, for only one actor, who has people so "buffaloed" that they laugh at anything he says or who is a comedian of rar powers could clothe the amateur section showing how the lost son ..i ..i naught; English family went back to Ida i • strul halls and got what he wanted with the I-say-are-you-therecheerio brigade. The prolific Mr. Cohan excelling in both these divisions of buff-fare totaling, has a good time lacking moments out of the Britishers and one must admit that in life he is without an equal. "American Born" la the Cohan line at its best a diverting good show-well done by the show, him-. | |
