Dr. Chiera Describes Discovery of Ancient Race in Southern Mesoopotamia

Smith's Most Fearless Man Ever Young

When interviewed yesterday concerning the death of "Smith" Smith, Head Coach Louis A. Tenny of the Pennsylvania football team, a close friend of Smith's, said:

"Andy was one of those rare soul devotees who feared neither man nor beast. He was without exception the most fearless man I ever knew, and one of the outstanding coaches of the country."

In his rookie season Smith fought for his life just as heroically as he used to fight on the gridiron. He was an inspiring leader and was loved by his men. His death comes as a great shock to his many friends in both the Universities of Pennsylvania and California and among the sporting public throughout the country.

The latest bit of news gathered by this writer is the item that the Charleston has been busiest by William and Mary. Mary never could learn the thing, and when William began to get good at it there was no stopping him.

Serious speaking, though, the fellows who spent hours trying to teach the thing are to be pitied. Personally we never did get the junk of it, so we are disposed more about my bad, that may be blamed on it henceforth.

The two fifteen-year-old students whose pictures appear in the paper the other day are not taking graduate courses.

Contract to reprieve the University of Illinois is not going to favor Boa Green's. We can easily consent in this decision, remembering the club itself which it was covered as when we last saw it.

And we couldn't see why they should frame that precious jewel anyhow. There are quite a few that are worn in the gym classes right here that are far more unique and much more colorful.

The Dorm Cup says it will be a cold day when the 70s make a settled.

Hawker, Peck, Dock Witch, Eowar, and our English in the last place are still undecided about the Senate program. Even the President Across the Hall has not made up his mind as yet.

Luther English has announced the discovery of "Rain Coats." This sounds like a description of the thing we came upon one day when a junior passed.

We are inclined to regard the possibility that there may be some raised relationship between the advancing price of 70s and the fact that several hundred thousand copies of our publications have just opened new competitions for lecturers.

The latest song hit, sung by Ellen Mackay, is "It was a long way to Berlin, but I got there." The latest song hit, sung by Ellen Mackay is "It was a long way to Berlin, but I got there."

The dates of the U. C. A. drive suggest that the officials are taking action in making their collections before a good many of the students spread their prospects (ing the University.

Over in Camden they have been quite a few about selling four high school students for alleged membership in a "club". Due to the fact that it was Camden, the fraternity building committee are hoping it will not discourage their prospects.

A tale that in New Jersey prevents public school students from belonging to "frats." Maybe there is some good in all the hesitation after all.

TODAY'S RHETORICAL QUESTION
"Why Pray?"

Neeser his scholarly and most minute attention to the fact that the Director of Student Health reported a large number of "overworked" cases addressed to the "Nourished John Dare."

Neeser also assures us also that we may positively and with the least fear of contradiction make the statement that no one has ever fallen off of Rollo's back.
