A woman who was able to follow the course without the assistance of the instruction period were informed through the columns of the press that the University had been forced to close the gates of the instruction period for the following reason.

The new building is located at the southeast corner of Third and Chestnut Streets. The building has been occupied by the University for several years.

The structure of the building is of the latest design. The materials used in its construction are of the highest grade. The building is designed to accommodate the educational needs of the University for many years to come.

The University has materially expanded its facilities in the past few years. The new building will be located within a stone's throw of the old building. The design and plan of the new building are based on the latest ideas in educational architecture.

Writer Urges Avoidance of Varsity "P" to Seniors in Second-Year Class

Editor-in-Chief, The Pennsylvanian, Philadelphia.

In a recent ruling the Harvard Athletic Committee decided that any student taking his senior year in the Second-Varsity be allowed to receive their senior letter just as they would in any other class. This ruling is based on the principle that every student should have the opportunity to participate in athletic activities.

For Pennsylvanians the value of such a program is very great. By establishing the same system in our university, we would be able to participate in athletic activities and thus improve our overall educational experience.

The University is strongly urged to adopt this program to ensure the continued growth and development of our students.
