Industrial Service Department Aids
Seniors In Search Of Employment

At the date of graduation draws near, the Industrial Service Department of the Wharton School is rapidly receiving its point of capacity as it undertakes the task of securing employment for the graduating seniors in search of employment. Representatives of many of the country's leading concerns, which normally seek college students for employment, are on the campus this week, and the Interfraternity Council, which recently set up the Industrial Service Department, has designated it as a necessity for the graduating seniors who are desiring employment.

The Industrial Service Department was designed to fill a need that was long felt in the organization of the Wharton School. Wharton authorities were of the opinion that it was not possible for a student to secure employment while still in school not only for the reason of time but also to supply appropriate letters for positive positions. With this in mind, the department was organized.

Emphasis Will Be Placed Upon Analysis

Dr. McClelland amplified his statement, "Emphasis will be placed not only upon the quality of the managerial training and the character of the individual, but also upon the manner in which the training is used for the benefit of the business firm. The industrial service department is designed to fill a need that was long felt in the organization of the Wharton School. Wharton authorities were of the opinion that it was not possible for a student to secure employment while still in school not only for the reason of time but also to supply appropriate letters for positive positions. With this in mind, the department was organized.

MUSEUM ACQUIRES
ROYAL TAPESTRIES

Collection of Brilliant Silk Hangings Displayed in Extended Section

Pairings which once adorned the halls of emperors of China were placed in exhibition in the University Museum last week. The new acquisition of brilliant silk hangings was the result of a joint project of the East Asia Department and the College of Art, the College is interested in the acquisition of the finest in textiles. The acquisition is designed to help the University Museum in its efforts to display these textiles, and to make them more accessible to all.

Three of the best pieces, one in a room in University Hall, two in the East Asia Department, are on view in the Museum. The Museum is interested in the acquisition of these textiles, and to make them more accessible to all. in the other two runs. This was the twelfth run for Mr. Red, the current twelfth, for whom Pennsylvania came in, but he went 2-3 and placed them down on the last. He was retired by Stilpagan, who fired no better and did no better. Another player was then out, but the Red and Blue talents continued to hit all over the diamond and the inning ended with eight runs having been tallied for Pennsylavania.

The ninth run came in the ninth inning, when Cuba scored on Tuscon's first-inorder. The latter's batting was in favor of the contest, and his three times aiding greatly in winning it. Every tightly batted specimen sat out through the final winds to see the University register maintain successfully its record of the 2026 season. On Tuesday the team will leave for a tour of Virginia and Maryland, where they will play a series of games during the Easter recess.

Captain Maxfield Kennon, of Pennsylavania, gave the best performances of the afternoon. He took first place in the run-ing, in which event he holds the inter-college record, and the tying rings. In the latter event he gave a splendid exhibition in hitting Hits, of Durham, who was less than a point behind him at the end.
In the rope event he reached the cutting in five seconds, which is one-fifth a second faster than his record.

Saffer, of Durham, was a high cover. He won the horizontal bars with an exhibition that was far superior to any of his opponents and tied with Saff, of Princeton, for first places in the participated. Marvill Kream, of Pennsylavania, took first in his favorite event, the die form, with a total of 16 points, to win over Megalith, of Durham, who had 15.7 points.

SCHOLASTIC ATTITUDE TEST TO BE REQUIRED

The psychological examination, while a comparatively recent development in edu-Cere, has already demonstrated its value in selecting members of various and general background. It should not be the sole test for admission to college, but it has its place.

APPROVE APPOINTMENT OF HAAS

"Our legal system, the unrepresented property of today and the laxity of low enforcement are three fundamental causes of the prevalence of crime in this country," declared Dr. W. C. Bagley, of University, in an address before the final session of the fourteenth annual School-men's Week, last Saturday. The meeting, which was held in Weidman Hall, concluded four days of talks and discussions which were attended by some 10 thousand educators from this and nearby states.

Dr. Bagley said, however, that the states which have the least crime and produce the fewest criminals in proportion to their population are, in general, the states which have the best schools.

A general business meeting preceded Dr. Bagley's talk and was for the pur-purpose of adopting several resolutions and appointing a committee to take charge of next year's meeting. Dr. Edwin C.
Bosworth, superintendent of the Philadelphia schools, presided.

In commenting on the work of the teachers in the past four days, he said that he was impressed by the keen and hard-headed criticisms that they make of their own work. "We have shown that education is based on sound business principles, and I am convinced that sufficient accommodations for business men in attendance were not provided."

Frothingham among the resolutions adopted by the teachers was that approving the appointment by Governor Phipps of Dr. Francis B. Haas as Superintendent of Public Instruction for the state. This appointment has not yet been approved by the Senate.

Among the resolutions adopted was one emphasizing the tendency to use individual instruction as a method of teaching. Many papers were read on this subject during the meetings. The Pennsylavania teachers' united teaching program was also condemned by the meeting and the thanks of the educators was extended to the University.

The department assumes no obligations toward either the employer or the student, acting merely as a medium. We service in both parties' interests. It simply interviews the men desiring positions, considers their special aptitudes and abilities, scholastic record, personality, physical condition and health, and thereupon recommends to the concerns the men satisfying the requirements of the particular field in the highest degree.

INDUSTRIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT AIDS SENIORS

Since its organization the department has enjoyed a prosperous growth. Last year it was instrumental in bringing representatives of almost 200 concerns to the University and placed 200 seniors in the fields which they desired or to which they were best suited. Some of the country's most prominent organizations in the fields of investment banking, public accounting, retail merchandising, insurance, public utilities, manufacturing and others of like importance have adopted the plan of annually sending representatives to the University in search of men.

The department assumes no obligations toward either the employer or the student, acting merely as a medium. We service in both parties' interests. It simply interviews the men desiring positions, considers their special aptitudes and abilities, scholastic record, personality, physical condition and health, and thereupon recommends to the concerns the men satisfying the requirements of the particular field in the highest degree.

The Industrial Service Department was made as part of the Department of Student Personnel when the latter was instituted at the beginning of the present academic year. The data assembled by the Personnel Department is expected to greatly facilitate the work of the Industrial Service Department by giving a fuller insight into the characters and abilities of students though a complete record of their University careers.
