HARVARD PLANNING TO FOLLOW OXFORD SYSTEM

Committee on Education Submits Report Recommending Subdivision of University into Colleges

STUDENTS TO LIVE IN GROUPS

Harvard's Committee on Education recently proposed a plan to divide Harvard into several colleges on the model of Oxford and Cambridge. The committee is submitting the proposed subdivision and several reasons for this subdivision, stating that such a plan would greatly improve the social side of education.

After pointing out that the students have long since relinquished Menemen Hall, where all students formerly shared an opportunity of social intercourse and interchange of ideas, the report stated this change brought about a great change in undergraduate life. A small number of appointments as in present have their social needs taken care of through the existing club system but that the others have not thus far realized.

It is proposed to supply this need by dividing the appointments "universally" among permanent groups for the purpose of association, or in other words, to divide Harvard College into several colleges, which is in addition to furnishing the hope that the division will stimulate the social life of education.

To win $1,000 in cash

THIS is something new in contests. All you have to do is to clip every coupon you find in your papers or on any store receipts you may have. All money you save will result in a $5.00 prize.

FREE sample to every contestant

You will be glad to recommend Taroleum. In fact, we want you to try it. Free of charge, before you start out to tell your friends. Shampoo your hair with it, rubbing it in. See for yourself how silky and soft it leaves your hair.

EASY TO WIN

These big cash prizes will be easy to win. All of your friends will thank you for the coupons worth ten cents. Read the rules. See for yourself the splendid savings.

Rules of Contest

- In order to enter the contest, fill out and send the coupon shown here.
- By return mail, the Wilder Company will supply you with a pad of discount tickets to distribute to your friends. These tickets are worth ten cents to your friends in buying their first bottle of Taroleum at any drug store.
- When the friend buys a bottle of Taroleum, the second fills out the ticket and sends it in to the Wilder Company. Your tickets carry a numbered number, and are credited to you. If the second bottle is a $5.00 or more, contestants receiving the most tickets used in the purchase of a $5.00 bottle take the big cash prize. In case of a tie for any one of the prizes, each contestant will receive the same prize.

Neglecting a Worthwhile Institution

College students are answerable adults. Their interests are not limited to classroom studies. As such they should recognize the beneficial qualities of some of the activities held for them. The concern of all college administrations is the welfare of the individual students. The college as an institution is in no condition to foster open discussion on such topics, to lapse into separate units which would compete for the heart of one of the blonde waitresses he might start to love, or to smoke a pipe with "Penn" printed on it. She says she will have to stick by him long enough, he may become as well known as Max O'War.

The Punch Bowl emphatically denies that the novel and binding of the Mask and Wig chapter is due to its in lieu delegation with the Board of Syndicate.

The Punch Bowl emphatically denies that the novel and binding of the Mask and Wig chapter is due to its in lieu delegation with the Board of Syndicate.

TIES THAT BIND

In a few weeks, and works that will truly bele their real length, nearly a thousand students will bid farewell to Pennsylvania undergraduate life and join the many delegations that have gone before in that great body known as the alumni. If he has any sentiment at all, the fourth-year man experiences it as the time for final leave-taking, no mean feat, and he faces the prospect of spending forever, the fine that have been build up during the four years.

There are many ties that bind one to Pennsylvania in his undergraduate life and join him to his fellow men here. There are many sentiments that have been built up during the four years, possibly for the lack of a responsible body to promote the project. This is a matter that can be easily remedied, how- ever, and we should heartily endorse any attempt to revive the deceased University Forum fully recognizing the beneficial qualities which it has from an institution of its kind.

The ‘Penn’ will be the same as ever, for the alumni brothers of the student who had refused time and again to get out for an activity and then become a summer tour operator.

The Punch Bowl emphatically denies that the novel and binding of the Mask and Wig chapter is due to its in lieu delegation with the Board of Syndicate.

Today’s Appraoches

"What a difference just a few cents make."

All that cheering the other night was not for the fancy, only brothers of the student who had refused time and again to get out for an activity and then become a summer tour operator.

Have you seen Rolls since vacation? He says business is rolling right along.

Rolls’s fame has extended to the columns in the left, if we stick by him long enough, he may become as well known as Max O’War.

His name is terrible. He is much flattered by George Olsen’s new song “Harlem,” and wishes to express his thanks. In this connection, however, he has said to those that we are superficially to assume its success. This institution is the University Forum, which has remained dormant during the present academic year after a brief active life covering a span of two years.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION—UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA
Merry Murray, which has been played at the Chestnut Street Opera House for the past three weeks, will close its Fall—a type of the American musical comedy plays which fades comedy and pathos in to one. The cast is headed by Joe Laurie, who performed so well in Pith Jinn, and includes a company of exceptional excellence. Violet Dunn, Ruth Donnelly, Ben Williams, Joseph Kilgan, and a number of others of equal talent make up the supporting cast.

The play was written and produced by Wm. Anthony McGuire, who is also the author of Twelve Miles Out and Kits Feet, for the express purpose of providing Joe Laurie with a suitable vehicle for the projection of his agreeable talents. It is reasonable to presume that he has aptly fitted the young star, for Mr. Laurie possesses comedic talents of a high order with a gift of subtly blending touches of pathos to his acting. The engagement in the city follows splendidly successful performances in Washington and Baltimore.

Charles Dur Clark, who is appearing at the Adelphi Theatre in A Great Little Gay, is a fine character actor whose last appearance here was in Harry W. Shay's production of Blaspheme. Mr. Clark was long a member of the company in George M. Cohan personally appeared, and also has in his credit two seasons with William Colley in Take My Advice and Who's Who!

Cheaper Than Owning a Car

THE Yellow Drive-It-Yourself System takes all of the worry and a lot of the cost out of driving a car. You can figure it out for yourself that we can operate and maintain a big fleet of private cars and garage, gas and oil them at a rate lower per car than you would pay for these items if you had to buy them singly for your individual car. Rent one of our splendid powerful 6-cylinder open or closed models. Go wherever you wish and pay only for the actual number of miles you travel. No charge for gasoline or oil. You are protected by insurance while you drive. Our cars look exactly like private cars. They are not painted yellow. The rate is only 20¢ per mile. Or, we can furnish Ford cars as low as 12¢ a mile.

The Ivy Ball
You will need a private car for the Ivy Ball. Get in your reservation early for Friday, the 16th.

Clothes—What Label?

The label on a suit of clothes is to a certain extent a standard by which one may judge the intelligence and business sense of the man wearing the garments.

Reed's Label indicates Quality, Correctness of Design, Superior Workmanship, Real Economy in Purchasing. It's an entirely creditable label to appear on your clothes—stands for things that are worth while.

Spring Suits and Top Coats are $35 and upward. The values at $45 and $50 are especially attractive.
