FRESHMAN TOSSELM LEAVE FOR NORTHERN TRIP THIS WEEKEND

With a number of Victories over each game, the Princeton football team will be ready to take on the Ohio State University next Saturday, November 28th. The game will be played on the Athletic Field.

In the first half, the Princeton team scored three touchdowns and put up a total of 17 points. The second half saw the two teams evenly matched, with each scoring a touchdown and putting up a total of 14 points.

Despite the strong showing, both teams were in good spirits, and the game was a great success for both the Princeton and Ohio State teams.

PRINCETON STUDENTS PROTEST BONS

Princeton students are protesting against the Bons, or restaurant coupons, that are sold at the Princeton Union Club. The students believe that the Bons are an unfair practice, as they give the students an advantage over the students at other universities.

In a letter to the editor of the college newspaper, one of the students said, "The Bons are an unfair advantage, as they give the students at Princeton an advantage over the students at other universities." He went on to say, "We believe that the Bons should be abolished, as they are an unfair advantage to the students at Princeton."

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

There will be a meeting of the Interfraternity Council on Monday evening, November 23rd, in the Littauer Building. The meeting will be open to all members of the fraternity as well as to the public.
LAST CHANCE

Due to the apparent lack of interest that has been exhibited by the members of the Freshmen Class in the third editorial competition for additional writers, this action has become necessary. I was found that there were insufficient leaders to satisfactorily carry on the work of publishing the paper.

The work that will be required of the new men will consist of important and general office work. In displaying their duties they will come into contact with the heads in campus activities and the administrative office of the University, thus giving them a firsthand knowledge of campus affairs. The duties which will be assigned to the new writers will give them an insight into the methods of college journalism which cannot be acquired by any other means.

Previous experience in this line of work is not required of the candidates. The success of the competitors depends entirely on their willingness to work and an ability to grasp the line which will be required of them.

The response of the Freshman Class to the call for leaders in the third competition has been very disappointing. The ability of the men could not be questioned, but not from the outside the total number of competitors desired until it has been necessary in call for additional men to carry on the work.

We cannot understand why these men withdraw from the competition but we sincerely hope that the response to this call will be more favorable. This is positively the last chance that will be offered the members of the Class of '22 to compete for membership on the Board of The Pennsylvania. It is a golden opportunity.

COMMUNICATION

Wharton Sophomore Presents Pad For Uniformity In Stand- ing During The Revival of The "Red and Blue"

Editor-in-Chief:

The Pennsylvania in which I think should be settled, or if already settled, the proper answer should be made known to those interested. Even the most of the candidate's platforms are not a few.

We observe that in the "Clean Number" of Life recently printed the Ivory Soap advertisement is missing. This is probably due to the fact that it is only 0.14 per cent pure.

We have little personal interest in what seems to be the most interesting of the campus of the North Pole. What we would like to know is now that they have it, what are they going to do with it?

By the way, seems to have been left out in the cold.

Or, to paraphrase, a still awak, the early bird catches the Elephant pie.

We are inclined in the Public Ledger for the information that there are two George Watsons on the School Ship "America". This is an excellent opening for an amateur Jock.

Any ambition that may arise as a result should not greatly worry either of the two servers. They will soon be of any assistance.

We ask the indulgence of staff readers for a moment while we discuss the contents of a letter which has just reached us. While it wasn't as bad as we expected. To prove it, we are going to print part of it:

Dear Mr. Moe:

When Springtime comes along I always feel the coming, or something of the sort, in all the various plants. Never has this been more true than this year. I am sure that this question has been debated within many individuals, not knowing whether to do or remain seated, or when to feel embarrassed for doing either. Consequently, many have at some time been found to feel embarrassed, whether they were doing right or wrong.

I was present at three out of ten concerts of the orchestra and glee club. At each time, inPhiladelphia and other cities, the whole audience stood up when the "Red and Blue" was played. However, at the third, this third, this year at Bern, not one person stood up, including all twice performers. This was a precaution of medium age, not a graduate of the University. This same precaution caused many students and graduates last year when the band played the "Blue and White" not to give voices there to come.

This question, as far as I know, has been discussed as an issue of the fashions of the college. It should be that the proper authority come to a decision, if it is already unanswerable; and if it is, then the matter should be made known to all who are interested, especially to incoming freshmen.

I hope that my study will still be as stimulating as it has been the past. For this reason I would like to see both more of the "Blue and White" and "Red and Blue".

You may call me Horace, Mr. Moe.

Modernity years.

Since DOW has been taken into the territory of the students, it is necessary for us to make a better appearance to outsiders of the ability and respect of Pennsylvania for their University.
