Garnet Defeats Red and Blue Netmen

The Harvard-Swarthmore game was played on the Havard Field in Cambridge, Mass., on Saturday, May 16. The Harvard Crimson defeated the Swarthmore College Red and Blue Netmen, 6-3. The Crimson, with the victory, moved into first place in the Ivy League standings. The game was played in front of a large crowd, with many fans in the stands and on the sidelines. The Crimson seized the lead early in the game and never relinquished it, scoring 6 runs to the Red and Blue's 3. The Crimson's star performers were Tom Smith, who batted a home run, and Jim Brown, who pitched a complete game. The Red and Blue were led by John Taylor, who hit a single and scored a run. The Crimson's victory moved them into first place in the Ivy League and set them up for a potential championship run.

Championship Hakoah SC to Play in Philadelphia

The Hakoah SC, a Jewish club from Philadelphia, will play in the championship game of the Pennsylvania State Soccer League. The team has been undefeated in the regular season and is looking to take the title with a win against the Philadelphia Wanderers. The game will be held at the Philadelphia Athletic Club on June 25. The Hakoah SC was founded in 1920 and has been a major force in Jewish sports in Philadelphia. The team is coached by Jack Kohn and has a roster of 24 players. The Wanderers, on the other hand, have a roster of 20 players and are coached by Bill Stroom. The game is expected to be a tight one, with both teams playing well. It will be a great opportunity for Both teams to showcase their skills and bring home the championship trophy.

Pennsylvania Athletic Club

The Pennsylvania Athletic Club, located at 3601 N. Henry St., Philadelphia, will be hosting a fundraising event on Saturday, June 25. The event will feature a live auction, a silent auction, and a dance with live music. All proceeds from the event will go towards supporting the club's programs and activities. The event is open to the public and tickets are available at the door. For more information, please call the Pennsylvania Athletic Club at 215-577-1234 or visit their website at www.pennac.org.

Penn State University

The Penn State University men's track and field team will be hosting the Big Ten Championships this weekend. The meet is expected to be a tough one, with many top teams from around the country competing. The Penn State men's team has had a strong season so far and is looking to make a strong showing at the championships. The team is coached by John Gant and has a roster of 20 players. The meet will be held at the Penn State University outdoor track, located on the campus in State College. The meet will begin at 9 am on Friday, June 24. Admission is free for all spectators. For more information, please visit the Penn State Athletics website at www.psuathletics.com.
LAMBERT SEeks CONTROL OF BEETLE DESTROYERS

Superintendent of Botanical Gardens Urges Prevention of Japanese Beetle Pests

Advise Action Immediately

James Lambert, superintendent of the University Botanical Gardens, declared that the Japanese beetle, existing under the surface of the earth is already at the mortgage of this year's crop, costing millions of dollars worth of damage. He asserted that due to the ignorance of the farmers concerning the disease that the detrimental pest causes the greatest damage before the plant grows to its full size. He bases his contentions on a detailed study which he has made during the past year of the movements and habits of the beetle.

Mr. Lambert has carried on his experimental investigations not only in the Botanical Gardens, but also on a suburban farm. In these studies he experimented with a number of methods designed to curb the ravages of the beetles. From his winter study, he has realized the conclusion that the present is the most suitable time for stopping the development and growth of the beetle while its life process is in its metamorphosis stage.

While the farmers and the truck farmers of the habit-infested areas are busy exterminating the Japanese beetle, it is difficult to make the average person see exactly how destructive the insect is. The common conception is that beetles are only a nuisance, but, in truth, they eat everything, big and small, and柬

The General Alumni Society

During the course of this week the General Alumni Society is conducting a membership campaign among the members of the Class of 1926. In offering these men the opportunity to become members of this organization it is giving them a chance to form a connecting link with the University and with their classmates that can hardly be duplicated.

All of the members of the Alumni Society receive, along with many other preferred positions, subscriptions to the Pennsylvania Gazette and the General Magazine and Historical Chicle. These publications serve to acquaint the alumni with the affairs of the University and have been found in especially desirable by men whose homes are far removed from Philadelphia.

It is to the best interests of the Seniors to join this organization. As members they identify themselves with the University in an active capacity instead of being classified as "passive members." The cost of membership is negligible as compared with the great advantages which it brings to the individual concerned. The Class of 1926, as the youngest of all alumni classes, should have the greatest number of individual members in the Alumni Society following in Commencement next week.

The Travel Bureau has entered into a new field. It has become the agent for a company which is planning to conduct several "Know America Better Tours," and is thus branching out in the service which it renders to the undergraduates. Therefore, the main effort of the Bureau was centered upon European travel. And with this addition its scope is broadened.

We hope that it will continue to expand as it is doing this will become a more important cog in the wheel of undergraduate activities.

Communication

Undergraduate Councilman Answers Yesterday's Communication

Editor-in-Chief, The Pennsylvania:

Dear Sir:

The communication of Robert A. Elchelberger in yesterday's issue of "The Pennsylvania," by reason of its merits, is entitled "A Young Man, 46 Years Old, and Considered by the Opposite Sex." Work even said that I didn't understand why one man should pass away with so much skill that I did, but these feelings didn't seem existing in me. I'm much better myself. Even so I'm flatter myself.

>All I want is the good news that it was a false alarm. I'm nothing about it. But a good-looking man is very rare nowadays. Take that for instance.

I've been suspecting for the past week that my wife has been going in the mixture with another man. I was so he in the house, that she, however, not, flatter myself, anyway. So I find a petition in court for divorce on account of desertion. But I don't have nothing from her yesterday, when I found her dead in the bed. I decided to call a dealer.

See Mr. Editor, I wish you would come to my rescue on the following points of distress.

1. Should I continue my suit for divorce, or lay a bogy?
2. What kind of dress should my wife wear at the funeral?
3. Do you think a size 8 shoe would be too tight for me?
4. Is it really so about your old man?

Yours truly,

Wendy

Choosing a Career

In the rapidity of modern business, few have the opportunity to choose wrongly more than once or twice in deciding upon a life calling. It is a solemn and important hour when a young man, either in the solitude of his own thoughts or in the circle of the family council, chooses his life work.

What are the important things that should influence the decision, so momentous to him and perhaps to many others? What are the tests of a business?

These. Is it worthy, big, permanent? Interesting and satisfying? Inspiring? What does it offer in advancement, development and compensation? And in happiness?

The answers to these questions are contained in a booklet entitled: The Satisfying Career of Life Underwriting.

MALE IS MORE BEAUTIFUL ANIMAL

Taking advantage of an opportunity affec-

Lydiate, soldier of fortune, have been reprinted in the Hartsmith daily, giving his philosophy on life. Probably the most inter-
