FIRST LIEUT. HEINEKE
JOIN'S R. O. T. C. STAFF

Mode Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics of the University

GRADUATED FROM WEST POINT

Assignment of First Lieutenant Hil ton E. Heineke, U. S. A., to Assistant Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Pennsylvania, was announced by University authorities recently. He succeeds Captain H. E. Potts, who was transferred to Government Island in New York, after serving four years at the University.

Lieutenant Heineke entered the University of Edinburgh before entering the United States Military Academy at West Point. He was graduated from the academy in 1916 and from the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1920. For the past three years he has been on duty in the Panama Canal Zone.

Arrival of Lieutenant Heineke, who is an infantry officer, gives the staff of instruction of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University its full complement of line officers for the coming year. Major Charles A. Irwin, World War Veteran and Pennsylvania graduate, retaining his position as commander of the corps, and Professor of Military Science and Tactics, and Captain R. O. Sales, as an assistant professor.

The reserve corps of the University last year had a total strength of 248 officers and men, including the medical and dental units commanded by Lieutenant Colonel J. M. Collins, a Pennsylvania graduate, and the dental unit in command of Major R. A. Knapp, both of whom retire in July next.

This for the year, according to Major Davis, is a graduation of the corps beyond the number retired last year, but the Major hopes for permission to increase the strength of the infantry unit from approximately 200 to 300 men and officers.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University has been steadily growing in popularity for some time and places men being made to have the commissions and prices awarded this year before a large portion of almost on University Field. Competitions for the General Antoinc Wayne award, awarded for individual excellence, and the elegant George D. McCall pen, which goes to the best instructed company, will likely be contested, Major Davis said.

VALUABLE PAMPHLET FREE
TO 1920!

Today marks the formal opening of the University for another great year—one which promises of being the greatest of Pennsylvania years. Evidence of this truth is already apparent.

Non of us are extremely fortunate to find your selves a part of this great organization at this time. You are the most carefully selected of classes in recent years because of the newly devised entrance requirements which have tended to eliminate those who seemed less fitted for work at the University. You should therefore be one of the best of all classes.

You have a heritage which dates back many years—a wealth of tradition. This tradition is worth, but if you are to profit from it, you will have to apply yourselves in a wholesome fashion to further the Old and Fine and to advance the interests of your class.

KNOW YOUR DEAN

It seems little need to remind the freshman class to regard with more previous than most of the previous classes during their first week of school. The institution of conducting, for the benefit of the newly enrolled class, an entire week of activities which is helping the class to know the University of which it is becoming a part seems to have been very successful. The Class of 1920 adds the impertinence of being at least several weeks ahead of the schedule on which the former classes operated.

In the weeks' course of activities the men may have been given an opportunity to get to the trends of their respective departments. We hope that the experience gain will not terminate at this point. These men must know you of the day. This can help you if you will be helped, but if they do not know of your difficulties they can hardly be expected to add them.

In the above general theory that the family members have but one unit in life—that of finding as many new as possible is not new. The family men are seeking the differences. They ask you to help them in this thought with the thought that their present experience might be of some use in dealing with the problems of the freshman classes.

You are invited. Whether you arrive or in your dealings with the faculty is now in your own hands. You can get a good view by discussing your academic problems with your then and you will find him sympathetic teacher. Our advice is to heed the invitation.

AT THE STANLEY

Milton Sills in "MEN OF STEEL" will be seen next week at the Stanley Theatre as the leading attraction. There will be numerous additional features and, of course, special music by the Stanley Sym- phony Orchestra under the direction of Charles Alton. Earl Hudson was pro- duction manager for the First National presentation of "Men of Steel", and it is asserted that in its production he has achieved his greatest picture. The story written by Sills, was suggested to him by H. C. Keel's short story "United Steel Worker". It is said that the star has shown remarkable talent as an author in this instance; from the combination of a serious and a melodrama as well as a conflict of interest in a man's life. Novelties in shows have been everywhere at the movies in the final staging process. Scenes were shot at the Heights Range in Minnesota, at the docks in Duluth, where the story starts on its journey across the Gulf of Maine.

WILL ADVISE UNDERGRADUATES

Creation of a new position of Personnel Officer in the College Department, with Dr. Robert A. Bretemark, psychologist, as the first incumbent, was announced by University authorities. The action, according to Dr. George W. McCelland, Vice-President of the University, marks another step in the University's general movement to eliminate the "educational waste" represented by the deficiencies of personnel work in psychology and with a personality that would enable him to win the confidence of students should be selected as Personnel Officer.

Eptus is told in the March 13th issue of The Peninsulian. Dr. Eptus has been a member of the faculty in the Department of Psychology at the University since 1916.

During the winter term, Dr. Bretemark attempted to correct defects, either educational or otherwise, in students in order to win the confidence of students. The result was that the work of the personnel officer will be presented as well as corrective and every effort will be made to encourage students facing difficulties, either educational or otherwise, to voluntarily seek the counsel of the personnel officer in order that the students' problems may be solved before they reach the critical stage.

Dr. Bretemark attended Mercersburg Academy and took A.B. and A.M. degrees at Princeton before receiving his Ph.D. degree at Pennsylvania. He has been a teacher of the faculty in the Department of Psychology at the University since 1916.

DEAN PENDER ANNOUNCES
NEW GRADUATE COURSE

Study Will Lead to Degree of Master of Science in Electrical Engineering

CREATE FOUR MEN FELLOWSHIPS

Creation of a new graduate course which will prepare men for engineering research or for teaching and which will lead to the degree of Master of Science in Electrical Engineering was announced recently by Dr. Harold Pender, Dean of the Moore School of Electrical Engineering.

At the same time Dean Pender announced that four graduate fellowships, each of which carries with it a full tuition and a cash stipend of $500 have been made available to men who are properly qualified to add a fifth year to their University training. Applications for the fellowships may be made to the Dean of the Moore School.

The new graduate course which will begin with the academic year of 1926-27, be inspired by the steadily increasing demand on the part of the industries and technical schools for men who have acquired their technical training beyond the limits of the usual four-year undergraduate course, according to Dr. Pender.

The prescribed course will include the following subjects: Introduction to Mathematical Physics, Advanced Mathematics for Engineers, Advanced Electric Circuit Theory, Electron Theory and its Engineering Applications, and a Thesis.

Each graduate student will be required to complete an independent and original investigation in some field of electrical engineering. The student will be encouraged to select his own problem, and must submit monthly reports on the progress of his investigations.

Requirements for admission to the graduate course provide that the applicant must have completed with credit an undergraduate course in electrical engineering substantially equivalent to that given in the Moore School.

Wray New Cornell Crew Coach
James Wray, former crew coach at Harvard, becomes C. A. Landis, a Cornell alumnum, as head mentor of the Varsity and Freshman oarsmen at the Pennsylvania school. Wray, who is a native of Australia, had charge of the Crimson strokeemen from 1922 to 1924, when he resigned in order to permit the admission of new students. The captain halfback center at Princeton from 1922 to 1924, and the coxswain for the Varsity crew in 1922, he would be familiar with the Cornell crew.

Cornell Improves Grounds
Cornell has improved Schoellkopf Field in several ways during the summer vacation. The chief of these is the moving of the gridiron 15 yards in the north, this movement, which has been contemplated since the erection of the Cromwell stands, will place the Beyond line at an equal distance from all parts of the field. For this purpose the ground has been raised in all parts of the field, and the track has been raised an inch or more to reach the upper track without going over it.

PRINCETON TO INDEX VATICAN ART
Professor Charles K. Morris, chairman of the department of Art and Archaeology at Princeton University has been commissioned to catalogue the art objects in the Vatican at Rome. This task, which will last about four years, will be accomplished through the aid of photographic reproductions of the originals. All of the cataloguing including a complete biography and a critical account of each object, will be done at Princeton. The Vatican collection is said to be the largest and most valuable kind in the world.
