The general sale of football season tickets for undergraduates will start in a large room in the main hall, on November 11, while the general sale for season tickets in the main hall will be held Thursday, November 12, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

At the front entrance of the hall, a box will be placed where the students can purchase season tickets. The money will be collected in the hall, and the tickets will be issued at the same time.

Any student who wants to purchase season tickets should prepare in advance by determining the number of games he plans to attend. The tickets will be issued in sets of five, and the student will be required to pay in full for all games he plans to attend.

The season tickets will be valid for all games played by the Penn football team during the season. The tickets will be issued in a ticket book, and the student will be required to present the book at the entrance of the hall before being allowed to attend the games.

The football season consists of six games, and the student will be required to attend all six games in order to qualify for season tickets.

The price of season tickets is $20.00, and the student will be required to pay the full amount at the time of purchase.

The season tickets will be available for purchase on November 11 and 12 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the front entrance of the hall.

Any questions or concerns should be directed to the football office at (215) 898-7575.

Five "Black Monks" of the Benedictine

Order are rebuilding the Abbey of Buck-in Devonshire, 1,000 years after the Black Monks of the same order built the original abbey on the same spot. Centuries ago this abbey disappeared after nourishing for years, and not one stone remained on the site. Grass grew over the foundations and knowledge of the exact site was lost.

However modern research has found it stands, and today the central portion of the abbey is complete, with the high altar and choirs and the tiny chapel above it stands precociously on the site of the intact abbey, and many of the old stones and stones, recovered from the :cutting and foundation that stood in the occupation of the ruins, are being used. The abbots' throne itself is part of the op-site wilderness found sealed up in an old cutting behind a coating of wall plaster.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

A milestone in Pennsylvania football was doubly marked with the opening of the 1926 season Saturday against Franklin and Marshall. Historically, the Golden Jubilee year of Head and Blue griffins was heralded. Football more important than that, however, is the fact that for the first time Coach Kent Young's charges flushed what football critics have of a real attack.

Indeed one of the Red and Blue coaches in charge has been a stone wall, a defense that was well-nigh impregnable. Pennsylvania stars have thrown caution by chucking the attitude of every aggressor efficient allies.

Yet, however. It seems as if Pennsylvania football is on the verge of a real change for the better. Head and Blue against Franklin and Marshall insulted that Pennsylvania's opponents, to be successful, will have to rely on ultra-scientific attack.

Last September in the preliminary training tour that City, N. J., Coach Young and his assistants instructed the candidates for the Varsity in an offensive attack obsessed defense as the chief feature. This new method worked surprisingly well. In contrast to the opening game against Endorse, for some reason or other, it was destined irresistible to descend on Pennsylvania. The Blue and White back to old attacking methods, with variations, of course.

Coach Young and his aides evolved a preliminary defense before preliminary preparation began at home a week early this month. It was very much like that used in the Ursinus game in 1925, set the pace.

Saturday the Red and Blue used it for the first time as actual contact against Franklin and Marshall. In potency it is evident in the fact that four-one points were scored.

Of course, Franklin and Marshall's weaknesses must be taken into account in considering the power of the new offensive. Still, the inspired potentiality of the attack will be seen to be high.

The coaching staff must believe the new offensive to be superior to that employed in other years, else it would not use it. What the mentors had to say about it is interesting and seems more right on the situation.

"I was not disappointed," said Blue Coach Brown. "We are working with a batch of comparatively inexperienced men and really have not yet had an opportunity to view the results of the preliminary training. We'll have to work hard—there are plenty of rough spots that must be ironed out—but I wasn't disappointed.

"Bert" Bell, backfield marvel, who was one of the chief figures in the evolution of the new attacking method, said of the same opinion as Blue Young. "There were rough spots, quite naturally, but we have a hard task in smoothing them out," said Coach Bell. "Several things were worked out many months before now that two of the members of the first setting backfield are experienced and everyone their first game on Varsity not. Plenty of drilling is what we need now.

"The marking of new offensive formations is clearly a "hide-the-ball" formation from which all sorts of plays can be run off. It is extra-deceptive. Operations of the Franklin and Marshall games, even those scored in the first five minutes of the Red's attacking maneuver, who have "hill" on the line, were unable to see through Pennsylvania back but the bell until the day was completed, no deception was the "hidden ball" trick.

By the second game of the Red and Blue backfield who started the game last year, before the Labrador comes on a sensational backfield at the beginning of a reception. Yet, with a fine

At the HOUILLON HALL BOOK STORE
A NEW POLICY — AND A GOOD ONE

During the football season there were issued on all sides insurmountable complaints against the Council on Athletics used the body to its dealings with the students. The general opinion seemed to be that the undergraduates deserved great consideration and that they were not sufficiently available for all of the games in which Red and Blue names participated. The chief cause for the widespread dissatisfaction were the facts that the selling section was situated in the extreme eastern portion of the South Ward, that the arrangements for the parking of the automobiles was inadequate, and that tickets for single games were inadequate, that the time wasted as a result of Blue tickets for the individual games was so great as to be unreasonably, and that persons other than undergraduates were seated within the bounds of the assigned seating areas.

Taking these complaints one by one, we find, first, that adequate action has been moved to the arrangement of the Pennsylvania side of the stadium and that it now begins at the sixty-five yard line rather than at the thirty. Secondly, in order to place the season tickets on sale at a time when the students are not busy with registration, it has been decided to sell them next week, and to open them for Juniors Monday and Tuesday, for Sophomores on Wednesday and Thursday, for Seniors Friday and Saturday and to Freshmen Monday and Tuesday of the following week. This arrangement will enable everyone to purchase his or her ticket with the minimum amount of confusion. The Council has notified everyone in MacAlister's of the presentation of a membership card and will admit those who have had no difficulty in purchasing their seats, to the Junior Home Game in the same manner.

The opportunity has already been given to the undergraduates to place that application for individual games and, if the students take advantage of this, the council will be able to arrange the seating of the undergraduates to get tickets in 1925. Fourthly, the selling section was five of the main complaint. There seemed to be no one in the stand who the real belonged there. The Council on Athletics is to be highly commended on this neatly adopted policy. The situation is now in the hands of the undergraduates. If they take advantage of the opportunity offered them, all should be well. This action clearly shows that the Council on Athletics is making an earnest effort to meet the needs of the undergraduates.

BUILDING ACTIVITY

Great strides have been made in the campus activity this summer and others have been raised to the ground as if by magic of some sort of fairies. Building operations, which were mere sketches at the close of the session, are now so advanced that, at least in some places, are in the final stages of completion. The need arose from the growing interest in the various activities offered to the student body. The change clearly shows that the Council on Athletics is making an earnest effort to meet the needs of the undergraduates.

Air Unit of R. O. T. C. Formed at New York

120 Men Enroll in Four-Year Course in Aeronautics Under Tutelage of Lt. F. M. Hopkins

To Receive Reserve Commission

More than 120 men have enrolled in the newly formed air unit of the R. O. T. C. at New York University, according to an announcement made by Lieutenant divisional commander Brandt, Ed Pollock, Ed Howe, Bill Brandt, Ed Pollock, Edgar Guest, Frank Godwin and others.

To cope with the increasing demand for army pilots and the present facilities, an aeronautics unit has been established at New York University.

"There is a great opportunity," Lt. Hopkins said. "For college men to enter the professional field in aviation. The opportunities are as great as in civil and mechanical engineering. The rapid development of airplane transportation necessitates the training of many airplane pilots and the present facilities are far below capacity. In addition there is great demand for aeronautical engineers in the designing and construction departments."

The air unit at New York University is the seventh to be established in the country. Massachusetts Institute of Technology being the first. They are the only ones, however, to have a school for aeronautics. New York's school was made possible through a gift of $500,000 made by Daniel Guggenheim. The Guggenheim Foundation will cooperate with Lt. Hopkins in turning out fliers in all branches of aviation.

How to Start the Year Write

"Loa"(or "Lucy"), said the venerable Dean to the very young person beside his desk, "the very best start you can make in college is to get yourself a fine new fountain pen. Nothing like it for lecture notes, required readings, memoranda. Provided it's dependable. Now this one, I myself have used for a college generation!"

The dear old Dean might just as well have said, "Go get yourself a Wahl Pen." For there is no fountain pen that's more of a help in any course—it writes like a charm, it holds more ink, it fills up in a jiffy and refills clean—and it's the most dependable of all.

Romp over to the Wahl Pen and Eversharp counter now, and get yourself the Wahl you like. All styles there—slim, thick, long, short: every one of 'em holding far more ink than other pens that look much bigger. Nice looking, too: solid gold or sterling silver, gold- or silver-filled, red, black, or mottled rubber. Exactly the point that suits your hand: stiff or flexible, fine, medium, stub, oblique or Wahl Standard Signature—all in iridium-tipped solid gold.

From cap to nib, a Wahl Pen's practically indestructible. One bought now will last you all through college and the first six jobs beyond.
