DORMITORY OFFICE MANAGER BLAMES EQUIPMENT FOR POOR PHONE SERVICE

"It is my opinion that the operators [Pope] issued a letter which explained the apparent inefficiency of the University which appeared in a recent issue of the student newspaper. The manager was responsible for the editorial, and it appears that he did not do his job properly." The letter in question was written by the student newspaper and published in a recent issue. The manager was responsible for ensuring that the editorial was appropriate for the university.

The manager claims that the operators [Pope] have been at fault for the inefficiency of the University, but that the manager did not have the authority to issue a letter to correct this. The manager feels that the issue needs to be addressed at a higher level within the university.

VIGILANTE ANNOUNCE ERROR IN 1930 CODE

A recent announcement states that the University of Pennsylvania has found an error in the 1930 code and will be updating the information.

Through a series of mistakes in the planning, the Engineering Building was left out of the list of buildings it was intended to include in the list of buildings. The error was discovered when the list was printed and distributed to the students.

FONDE, 1935 STAR TRACK MAY OCCUPY REGULAR BIRTH

Pennsylvania has a chance of having a successful football season, according to the football coach, who believes that his team has the potential to win many games this season. The coach is optimistic about the team's performance and believes that with some hard work and dedication, the team can achieve great things.

FRANKLIN FIELD UNIQUE AMONG COLLEGE STADIUM
Press Box Accommodates More Than 200, Each Man Having Individual Wire Connections

ELECTRIC SCOREBOARDS COMPLETE.

With the completion of the double deck on the stadium Franklin Field is unique among all college stadiums of the country. Seven years ago when the old four-tiered stand was torn down, the Pennians had no idea that the then new 30,000 capacity stand would give way to a still more imposing one which accommodates nearly all the sports of the University and seats close to 60,000. The main job has been completed with the double-decking at the North, South and East Stands. However, there still remains a few minor yet very important details to be completed.

The first of these is the photographic uniform which will take care of over 100 photographers and is located above the upper deck of the North Stand. This uniform is situated high above the playing field and permits the placing of regular spot newsmen. The photographers obtain a wonderful view of the field from behind the other and are therefore able to take pictures of the stadium and the plays without going out on the field. They are also able with telescopes here to snap close-ups of the scenes from a position where the play and yet details hereof were very difficult to obtain.

The second feature is the reporters stand, which is above the upper deck. It accommodates over 200 news reporters, and each man has individual telegraphic instruments connected directly to his 150 copy and a separate desk on which to work. There are also on each end broad-burning desks which, without any need for observers to enter other stations, can send out the results of the different sports. These score-keeping men have not been installed only for football, but rather for relay and track meets which are of interest to other colleges as well as Pennsylvania. This reporters' stand is to be completed this fall on three sides and will be linked with the press box in the back. All lights, wall light and a separate light will be provided for each reporter in case of storms or work at night.

The last feature, which is practically completed, is the scoreboard which is operated electrically by a man who sits at the table of the First Stand. "Tickets to use, "tickets, etc., are delivered to him from a man in the field; he then presses a button, and the bulletin work automatically. The boards themselves are made of sheet steel and have been especially designed to take care of all theAutomation printers and play the score of the quarters. The system of scoring is entirely assisted by the new loud speakers which announce this minute, the quarter, and the penalties which are not on the scoreboard. It is also an attempt to make the game closer to the spectators who are not familiar with the rules of the game. The speakers carry very well and can be heard distinctly in the West Stand.

Great credit is due the Mr. Percy Wilson, who has been executive engineer of the University for some years and has been responsible for the rapid double decking during this past year. When the stadium has been completed it will not only be beautiful architecturally but will also be evidence of the willingness of the Trustees to keep pace with the University facilities. No changes have been made for the seats for the students of the School of Engineering.

Dr. J. R. Hopper,
Secretary of the University of Pennsylvania,

The Reserve line and the first-string backed into mid-term in the third period and for the first time only had the Pennsylvania offense stopped. Several times were broken by the Red and Blue and one of these gave Elliott his chance to move the visitors' only touchdowns.

Once again All Westfal stood out in the Red and Blue victory. The fullback scored two of the six touchdowns, Charles Rogers, too, was very much in the line-up. Rogers' Paul Murphy and Paul Scull, the other members of the scoring backfield, each scored once, while the shift touchdown was run up by Foster Pull, right end.

The game was not three minutes old before the Red and Blue asserted its superiority. Hobbs kicked off and it cleared Pennsylvania but four plays to traverse touchdown territory. Westfal was the scorer. A 40-yard run on a first-converted field play by him was the chief ingredient in the scoring of the first point. P. Scull dropped the extra point.

Minutes more than midway of the period Pennsylvania talked again. This time a forward pass, Rogers to Murphy, was the scoring weapon. Murphy making a world-beating rush as he was going over the goal line. Westfal kicked the extra point from right.

The day's largest single burst resulted in the third score—shortly after the second period began. This time Murphy toured it to Paul Murphy, who had one between him and the goal. The pass and the run totaled 95 yards. This time P. Scull's drop-kick missed its mark.

Midway of the second quarter "Bob" Butler, Red and Blue center, tossed in a Hoptake lateral pass which never found its receiver, and P. Scull's drop-kick was but two yards from touchdown land. Westfal went over on fourth down and placed-kick extrapoint.

To be absolutely truthful, we must admit a Wahl Pen will not get up and make your 8 o'clocks for you. It won't answer the roll call, or take notes all by itself.

But it will go along with you to any class you have, and do a better writing job than any other fountain pen you've ever seen. Hour after hour, it will glide across the pages with an ease that rests your wrist and leaves your mind free to consider what you're writing.

Its iridium-tipped point of solid gold will stand up to the action when the "p.r. ol is talking fast and you just have to "jab 'em down," or it will roll the rounded out sentences when you're building a theme for somebody else to read. This most serviceable and handsome pen comes in a wide variety of materials and styles. In slim, symmetrical cylinders of solid gold or sterling silver, gold-filled or silver-filled, or in red, black, or mot ted rubber. For point, you can choose exactly the Wahl nib that suits your writing style: stiff or flexible, fine, medium, stub, oblique, or medium, stiff or flexible, fine, medium, stub, oblique, or semi-flexible.
