Pennsylvania Reopens Business Competition

Candidates Annual Report to Office of Fine, 3451 Woodland Avenue, at Five O’Clock Today

NO EXPERIENCE IS REQUIRED

Because of a lack of leaders for the business board of the Pennsylvania on campus, in English, will be given to the members of the Class of 1938 to enter the competition. Those interested should report to the English office of the Daily, 3451 Woodland Avenue, at Five O’Clock Today.

According to Business Manager Hopkins, no position experience is required and those men who are willing to work will be given an equal opportunity with their more experienced classmates. At the close of the business competition, the men will be selected to receive the Pennsylvania key.

Pennsylvania’s biggest competition offers a great opportunity to those who wish to enter the field of business. Many valuable experiences will also be gained in the interviews with prominent business men.

The winner of the competition will be the first man who will have the opportunity to run for the board for the Pennsylvania.

SIDELIGHTS ON FOOTLIGHTS

Once more another play by Steven Barr is in our midst; this time it is "The Captive Giant." From the mind of Mr. Frank B. Ripperger, that brilliant and creative product of Pittsburgh, Mr. Ripperger has created a plausible piece of work, and Mr. Barr, with his usual skill, has made a faithful and accurate stage adaptation of the story. It is, however, the production is slightly handicapped, the only variation from the original being the incorporation of a prologue and an epilogue. For those who read the book this fact is not essential. For those who did not, it is usually the saving grace of a first sequel.

A piece of the calibre presented by Barr would have had definite commercial value to it, but in this respect the second act, with these possible exceptions, fall far below such a standard. Of course, the original New York troops has broken up, but Mr. Bratley might have been more considerate of the road-stops. The cast certainly is of inferior selection. Mr. Heiser, playing the title role, does good work by his part, owing in the event of the best act to dramatic intensity achieved on the footlights. All other actors give one the impression of careful, careful ease, making his role to salutary, but standing in the foreground of the action. Mr. Rowand, as Mayor Whitewater, the historian; and Mr. F. Williams, as Jordan Roper, the happy-go-lucky poet, give excellent performances, and do more to cause favorable opinion than on the part of the audience.

The "Captive Giant" will never be prominent play in the public mind, but it is in fine tribute to the work of Mr. Davis and his attention to detail. Given a real rest, in addition to the players mention, it would be lost for longer than is now in possible run. At any rate, it's worth a look, I, E. P.

Well, it's certainly tough to have to cut something that we've been pledged about for two or three columns, but the fact remains that the boosters from Harrisburg claim that they can't meet our Big Five because of afternoon classes. We're busy wondering how we'll ever keep this thing going now.

That will give our reserves a chance to rest for the Stouffer's game Saturday afternoon. You see from it we wish them in a fast trick and promise to get sometime in the Philadelphia Colored League.

A little advance date straight from State tells us that the Lions are looking forward to a victory on Saturday. They probably figure that their triumph over Pennsylvania last week gives them the edge of our boys, who have lost two conference five matches.

If that's their method of calculation, they are being sight of an extremely important factor -- Pennsylvania's fight. We've seen a mighty Red and Blue scorers eleven get together and ride manically over a booster and more clever combination.

We may now be the up-staters Saturday, but you can let it not be because back Stouffer's men fail down on it. This great team of Pennsylvania's is likely to be able to shoot somewhere, and we have a hunch that they'll make it at the psychological moment.

Liquorists, left backfield, is captain of the Penn State eleven and a tower of strength of the defense. He is ably assisted in the halfback line. This chap Replno is but in the first eleven together and ride rough and tumble set from the Penn State's 1920
