PLANS FORMULATED TO GOVERN NEW TIMES CURRENT EVENTS EXAMINATION

For the second annual International Current Events Contest were recently formulated at a meeting of the current events committee. The contest will be held on November 9th, with additional entries from the Red and Blue camps. The prize for the winning team will be a trophy. The contest will be held on the same day as the annual meeting of the Student Senate.

NY. TIMES WILL FEATURE OLDEST "BOOK" IN LIBRARY

Known all over the United States as containing collections of famous books, the University Library again appears prominently before the public. In an article of The New York Times Sunday Review, which will appear soon, there will be a picture captioned "Books" at the Library of Congress. The New York Times newspaper subscription rates, which feature a paragraph which was published in The New York Times, are as follows:

FIRST BLAZER SHIPMENT RECEIVED AT GOMMYS

In order to bring the current events of the day before the general student body in a similar fashion to the newly organized "Transitage," the University Library has been established. The library has already received its first shipment of books, and has begun to circulate them to the various classes.

YEARLING GRIMDENS FACE CORNFELL IN FINAL GAME

When Coach Frank Fromm's charges meet the Cornell football team, they will face the final contest of the season. The kick-off at 1:30 P.M. will be made by a man who has been successful in winning the rushing contest for the last several weeks. The game will be held on the football field.

CAMPUS CHURCHES UNEE DEED TO OFFER SERVICES FOR FIRST TIME

Working in collaboration, three of the campus churches will form a united service group, to be known as Cornell United Methodist Student Church. These churches are the First Presbyterian Church, the St. Luke's Methodist Church, and the St. John's Episcopal Church. The church will be located in the old St. Luke's Methodist Church, and will offer services on the first Sunday of each month.

Cornell, 46-26, and Washington, 14-19, were to order their cases out for next year and get their teams' uniforms in the store within twenty-four hours. During the past week all the fraternity houses have been visited by members of the committee, and the suits made in this store have been very encouraging. This work will be continued during the coming week. In order to avoid delay, the committee urges every member of the fraternity to place his order now lest his order be placed out of order before Thanksgiving.

In forwards they send this year's blazers; declare them to be among the finest that have ever made their appearance in the University campus. The cost of the Jacket is $15.00 to which a half of fiftieth cents will be added for those wishing the University insignia embroidered on their collars.

Cornell in Final Game

Cornell, 10-8, and Washington, 2-0, were in preparation for the last contest of the season.

Pittsburgh Board meeting scheduled for the evening of the 8th of November, 1918, at which time the position of the late Alexander W. Lilrle, who was a member of the Intercollegiate Association, will be filled.

Twelve points in three games make the record of the Cornell banner to date. The reason? Well, what's more, they have won all of these matches.

Hamilton fell by a 10 to score in the opening game. Then came Lehigh, one of the few members of the Intercollegiate Association, to be defeated, 24-0.

And then the unexpected happened. The Princeton Boomer, who held the championship last year, and they beamed it up to New York State, only to squander the attack of Cornell's Princetoners to the tune of 39-12.

The Pennsylvania University's centermen certainly got into this fight every day, against them. It looks like a good year for the Eclipses.

All of which reminds us of the last time we displayed in the house of the Red and Blue, the 1914 club tied nine goals, and there were a few members of this year's team, which will not be satisfactory, and still stands.

The Red and Blue forwards have not had a great deal of trouble this year. They have had plenty of fun last Saturday against State.

And, on top of this, the defense "dose" of State last night seems to believe that their wide-outs have a splendid pair of fullbacks. Through two campaigns, these his guards take the post on the left side while Chapman, who has also expressed his desire to be in his right.

We don't know what conclusion to draw from these statements, but it doesn't look exceptionally good for Coach Story now.

Now, the outside left, is captain of the Cornell team this year. He is a steadily improving back. He has been a popular back, and he has been with Pennsylvania since last week.

They tell us that Story will probably start at center forward again, and that Russell is expected to be in the lineup whenever there is any kind of substitution that the Pennsylvania speedsters are to be the bully man.

We hope the boys come through today. They're due for a break. This losing streak can't keep up much longer.

In Its Popularity

Pennsylvania Opposes Blue

The first big crimson eleven, as a team, will represent Murray's River Club, England, on the 1st of November, under the direction of Mr. Chapman. This team will consist of members of the University of Pennsylvania, who have been selected because of their skill and the Holy Communion will be administered at nine o'clock, followed by the regular morning service and Sunday school. The supper and Social Hour will be held at 5:30 P. M. and the Forum of Talent. The Baptist Sunday School, Confirmation Group will be held under the direction of Alexander Reynolds and the Rev. Frederick B. Ryan. The topic for this discussion is "The Golden Rule," partly as it affects the title of the chapter.

YALE STUDENT COUNCIL TO CONTROL DERBY DAY

1314 of 1426 Oppose Abolition of Annual Regatta with Superiors and Penalties

Pennsylvania to Be Contended

Complete assurance of the return of the customary observance of Derby Day at Yale University the consequent holding of the annual spring meet, Mar 27 tests, between Pennsylvania, Columbia and the Yale, was made in the recent unification building at Yale on the formation proposed by the combined field and College Student Councils. Of the 1426 votes polled, only 23 were against Student Council control of the regatta.

The Student Council that has been given complete power to do as they see fit in regard to the customs that shall be observed and the customs that shall be done. There is an exception, however, the Catawugs of the Juniors. Plans for the race can now be made immediately by the Athletic Association.

This refutation of Pennsylvania, Yale and Columbia was first held in 1823. That same year customs and seniorional effects were observed that have persisted ever since. Not until 1925 were ouraways worn by the Juniors. This was the revival of a custom associated with a somewhat similar celebration that had been abolished a few years before.

The following year the costume was the rule and this, with the conduct of many that was considered objectionable, aroused the utmost resentment. In the last two years those were carried to such an extent that University authorities declared it impossible to continue Derby Day unless the undergraduate body took steps to give assurance of the prohibition of such objectionable conduct in the future.

The recent referendum was held by the Student Council is present the annual regatta from being abolished. President James H. Angell and other University authorities approved this action. It is not known what steps the Council will take to control the Derby Day situation, but the result of the balloting assured Junior presentation of their privileges of wording catawugs.

Blazers Originated at Pennsylvania in 1923

Committee on Welfare Has Chosen Standard and Blazer for All Future Classes of the University

5000 Blazers Now on Sale

Blazers were first worn by the Senior class of the University of Pennsylvania three years ago when the graduating class selected a coat of blue and white striped flannel as their official garment. As a further mark of distinction the family crest of Benjamin Franklin, the founder of the University was placed on the breast of the jacket.

The purpose of these blazers was to banish the seniors from the other classes since the old caps and gowns have been abolished when West Philadelphia became too densely populated. The original idea was that each graduating class should pick a different combination of colors for their blazers. It was decided that the Franklin seal should be placed on the blazer of every class to identify the wearer as being a graduate of the University, while the color of the coat would direct to what class its owner belonged.

Last year, however, the Committee on Welfare agreed to standardize the Senior class blazer and a coat of red and blue striped flannel was adopted. The seal was not thought necessary as the color was distinctive of Pennsylvania. This blazer is to be the official one of all the future graduating classes.

Every year there is trouble in the Library with students who are being despicable and are causing vandalism and other unseemly marks. Many do not stop in this way, but many others have clipped off parts of magazines and periodicals by some unthinking or vandalistic student. It is hard to believe that anyone would intentionally tear up a magazine or Napoleon in this manner, but this is what is being done. In most cases it is hoped that the arts are done without knowledge. If you feel an overpowering urge to smoke, light a cigarette. But there are some who willfully destroy the material found in the Library. Such a thoughtless and foolish action should be punished to the full extent of the law. Each book, magazine and periodical is now being examined upon its return to the desk, and any damage found will be attributed to the last user of the clientele, will be a fine and upon the part of the student to examine the magazine or book that it is being honest before he leaves the desk, and to report immediately to the assistant any imperfections that are noted.

The Library authorities are only too willing to have you read the books and magazines as long as you return them in good condition. It is all merely a matter of thought and effort that do not intend to deliberately hinder others in the use of the same material. This state of affairs can be altered if the students will help by not acting foolishly and that such a practice is destructive as well as vandalistic.

No Smoking Allowed

Although very definitely permitted by the rules, smoking in University buildings has become a common practice in the past few years. As a result, offices, study halls and even the corridors may be seen lighting cigarettes, even before entering the cor-

The woodwork is extremely precious, the ceiling is painted with colors that are often repeated. We have the opportunity to see these colors, but we are not justified in using them. We are not justified in using them.

We therefore insist you to exercise your will-power to the utmost in avoiding the temptation to smoke, to give it up, until you are outside. By violating the "no smoking" regulation, you are placing University property in jeopardy.

The transportation course we took in the Wharton School has ended, and pleased understand that we are casting no aspersions, for our University training timed it to hold down a position as general manager of the P. “At Forty” the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at an early age.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family’s food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour’s rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health at “Forty years.” And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.
