CROSS COUNTRY RUN

HARRIERS PLACE IN "BEAT MELIOR PERIOD"

Paul R. Stumhofer, Chairman of the Junior Men's Cross Country team, announced last night that the交叉赛 will be ready for distribution in the early part next week. The race will be run in the field behind the Pennsylvania Building, and all students are urged to come early because a large crowd is expected to attend the ceremony.

Featuring this evening's entertainment will be the Columbia band, which has been invited to present its annual "After Yun, Magellan." He will relit the audience tonight, and which is composed of the finest young musicians of the University, will round the world next year.

The main speaker of the evening is Dr. E. W. Todd, Rector of the R. E. C. and Professor of Military Science. Popular request, the Pennsylvanian, announced last Wednesday, will feature at the Alumni Hall, offering popular musical selections. Dr. Todd will be introduced to a recital performance and will render some plantation songs. A group of songs, under the call of "The Club Quartet," will offer a different type of entertainment in their set.

The affair will be brought to a close by a display of color, which will be the highlight of the evening. The Columbia Band will be present to bring the program to a close.

The purpose of the evening is to give all students a chance to hear about the music. The students will be presented to the audience and will be given a chance to see the various forms of entertainment.

The society will be the highlight of the evening. It will begin with a chorus of "The Columbia Band" and will be followed by a display of color, which will be the highlight of the evening. The Columbia Band will be present to bring the program to a close.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

HOLD INITIAL SMOKER

Undergraduate members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held their first meeting of the year Wednesday night in the Engineering Building. All members of the Twomey Scientific School and a few pre-engineers from the Freshman and Sophomore classes attended the meeting and were given a hearty welcome by the A. I. E. E. members.

A varied program had been arranged, including morning pictures and a number of speeches by officers of the Twomey Scientific School. Pictures of the new Piping Building, which is now under construction and will ultimately house the Moore School of Electrical Engineering, were shown.

The contractors announced yesterday that the new class rooms would be ready for occupancy this Monday and that the heating building would be entirely finished in the near future. When questioned as to the reason for the smaller size of these new rooms, Dr. Fernald explained that sections were to be divided into several smaller groups with the intention of doing more work in the individual, which has heretofore been impossible because of the size of the different classes.

Dr. Fernald, Director of the Mechanical Engineering, was the main speaker, closing for his topic "Man's Main Engineer," which he had been drilled in. The scorer, who had also been awakened two hours earlier, prepared another average and compared this one with the average of the previous test. The oxygen meter was applied both times.

In this manner it was discovered that each young man did his problems fast and accurately in several seconds less time. He was working with a smaller amount of sleep. However, the scorer showed that he was working at least a hundred percent more energy in the process than he did after a night which he slept for a normal length of time.

QUALITY IS OUR CUE
Judging from the number who planned to cut today and make a real week end of it, our audience is more hopeful than ever.

***

On such occasions yesterday there were those who gave up and forgot their work while the others stayed around to do it and do not accomplish anything either.

***

In fact, the only reason we worked at all was implying that it is to be accomplished was out of fear that Mr. Bealor would forget his Armistice Day truce.

***

Which reminds us that somebody and something about Princeton and Harvard signing all athletic warrens on the eve of Armistice Day.

***

The immediate cause for the action is assigned to the Harvard Stadium—a reafirmation of the power of the press.

***

We should like to think of our responsibility and can scarcely imagine what an erosion might take place on this campus if everything in this department were taken seriously.

***

That it might be possible, this department will attempt to be discreet on the break-up of the BC-CALLED "Big Three." We may not be able to agree in the fact that the football committee in New York will not even listen to the petition of the student operators and the press.

***

And so, we will refrain from discussing the matter any longer, but will let him comment silently on the fact that the interfraternity council as Princeton and Harvard could not get along and so some have supervised magic against Pennsylvania and Princeton could.

***

Some have maintained all along that the long existent "big three" always did get the breaks.

***

We understand that the action which decided on "Coliseum" as the name for the new interfraternity council of Penn described "Palladium" but rejected it because it didn't mean as much in the real sense of magic of names. Apparently they thought this inconspicuous name as long as the Junior Press is held in Weightman Hall.

***

Inquiries from Columbia say their star defense back, fresh, will return to the lineup. It will be a hard fought game, say seniors, and probably be 60-60.

***

That it isn't the way the presenters say, that would, if we knew how he was going to do it, we would be happy to know, but the way things have been in prison and their existing without room space.

***

If only, again, perhaps the magic will be working and it will be a one of ten men and not ten that doesn't.

***

Opportunity presents itself to comment on the outcome of the freshmen election in a similar manner, but we leave that to the authorities on the subjects.

***

If more than one person made this column, they are asked to remember that we say some things merely in an attempt to entertain.

***

Fred Bealor says the present News' profits have been salved and four cents added, bringing the total up to fifteen cents—The same may be obtained in the brown package with the gold button) by applying to Mr. Bealor at the Pennsylvania.

At the Stanley

Harry Langdon, the most subscribed to comedian, is the star of “The Strong Man,” which is scheduled for next week at the Stanley Theatre. The bill will have a special feature in the appearance of the famous “Ediee Jones,” otherwise Cliff Edwards, who is one of the world’s most popular recording artists and who, on the stage, has won immortal success both in musical comedy and in vaudeville. The program will have other features, including special music by the Stanley Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Graham Harris.

“The Strong Man” is a vast hilarious effort. The story is based on mistakes and errors and as truth the picture is a real “Comedy of Errors.” Much of the fun comes from the efforts of Langdon to make good as a strong man when he is only a substitute for the actual Sampson. Langdon’s attempts to toss around heavy dumb-bells, cannon balls and other paraphernalia of the strong man, are highly humorous. He seems to have the vaguest sort of idea of the weight of each object the strong man uses in his act. The role of the star is that of Paul Berger, a Belgian soldier, who starts out to find Mary Brown, of New York. It can be imagined that having Mary Brown in New York without knowing where she actually resides, is not an easy mark. But Langdon undertakes it while he is assistant to “Zandow the Great.”

The Hendrix Favorite of the Season

The Kings of Comedy, the Kings of the Stage, are highly entertaining as well. Their appearance in the Stanley will be more elaborate than ever. The position of headline, one of particular distinction this week, has been awarded to Edgar Pollard, diminutive comedian and idol of the European Halls who comes here direct from London with a set of special appearances and comedy bits. Mrs. Pollard has been here before and has only the most complete success to mark her visits. She is a comeliness of the first degree, clever, versatile and with a personality that charms her audience as much as her comedy antics and comic songs.
