PHILADELPHIA ALUMNI INAUGURATE CAMPAIGN TO ENDOW CHAIR OF OPERATIVE DENTISTRY

With the endorsement of a chair of operative dentistry which will be the first of its kind in the United States, the Pennsylvania Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania have inaugurated a campaign for $100,000. This chair will be the name of Dr. Elmer F. Ely, Executive Professor of Operative Dentistry at the University, who will continue his active work in teaching at the age of eighty-one. Dr. Ely was a pioneer in the field of operative dentistry, and his influence has been a driving force in the development of this branch of dentistry for many years.

In describing the proposed Drury Chair of Operative Dentistry, the campaign chairman emphasized the need for such a chair. He stated that the contributions would go toward a fund to provide a position for a prominent and respected professor of operative dentistry, who would be selected by the faculty in consultation with the donor.

The campaign will continue until the goal of $100,000 is reached, and the campaign chairman expressed confidence in the ability of the alumni to raise the necessary funds.

The campaign was launched with a series of meetings and events, including a dinner and a cocktail party, attended by alumni and friends of the University. The campaign chairman also announced plans for a series of public lectures and forums to raise awareness of the need for the chair.

The campaign was expected to run for the next three years, and donors were encouraged to make contributions of any size to support the cause.

Nearly six hundred men and women from all walks of life have enrolled in the Department of Education at Yale

which has just opened for the current year. Dr. Frank Elsworth Spaulding, head of this unique department, announced that a former College President of northern Alaska was among those who had applied for admission.

"Many professions, including every branch of the teaching field and ranging from radio operation to the ministry, have enrolled students," Professor Spaulding said. "Perhaps nowhere else in an entirely a group could one find people from

as many fields of life gathered for a common purpose, in this case the study of Education and Psychology.

Students have come from all over the world to attend this course, which has met with such success both in a material and instructional way. Sweden, China,

Japan, France, Italy and England, as well as the different states in the United States, have all contributed to the varied

population in the school."

Professor Charles B. Longwell, head of the Department of Geology at Yale,

announced that he will erect a pavillion

in the Peabody Museum there by which he will make an extensive study of the corn's spin. This pavillion will consist of a heavy iron ball which is to be suspended on a fifty foot plate wire and seen from a special mounting. With the use of this apparatus Dr. Longwell

will be able to measure the distance

The Pennsylvania University as a part of my educational training. Many leading institutions have established, in one form or another, an employment or placement bureau either for the part-time work of undergraduates, or for the regular placement of graduates, or both. Sometimes these bureaus have been a part of the Alumni Society, and again of the University administration, in one case one part has been more firmly tied by the University, and another by the Alumni through their regular organization.

At the University of Pennsylvania, I think it would be entirely feasible to say that its Alumni Society, practically as organized for the work of placement has never been tried. As the University has grown and expanded, these efforts have been

APPRONIE OF CLASSICS

Five concerts by nationally known artists, which will be presented between the fifth of December and the twenty-fourth of April is the program offered to University students for the sum of two dollars and a half. These affairs will be held under the auspices of the Students' Society and the charge is but fifty cents per cent, of the regular admission fee.

For too many college men know but one type of entertainment—that which they are accustomed to seeing practically every week end of their existence. They pass without consideration many of the classical things of this life with but a moment's thought.

Two dollars and a half will serve to broaden one's acquaintance if by it be increased in these seasons tickets to Verdi, Mozart, Wagner, Schubert and the others are represented on the schedule.

Such an investment will well be worth your while. The classical side of this feature far overweighs the small outlay which is required.

THE RED CROSS DRIVE

Regularly at this time of the year that great national institution, the Red Cross, opens its membership drive. One dollar from each person who becomes affiliated with the American association goes to make up the contracts fixed from which the organization's plans of work for the coming year are financed.

Such an amount as the Red Cross asks of each student is small and hardly spared. It represents but a small part of the average man's weekly expenditures and its absence would be felt but a slight degree.

Consider what a colossal sum could be amassed if each undergraduate should contribute the extremely insignificant amount asked! And consider the great assistance that such a sum would lend to the promoters of this humanitarian enterprise!

No mention need be made here of the work of the American Red Cross. Its activity is universally known. Connect yourselves with this worthy organization! Join Now!

Yours/Boaks

As long as the present method of newspaper printing exists there will always be a large number of proof errors. Mistakes range from the sublime to the ridiculous. During the past year, however, the Pennsylvania has been to some extent successful in eliminating such errors.

At that time a long felt need was met. A professional proofreader was hired from outside. With such a reliable man operating the type-setting machine, few proof errors escaped and the tiresome task of making numerous corrections has been reduced to a minimum.

The scheme has worked well throughout the period since the change. Due in great part, to his efforts the Pennsylvania can now be distributed every day tree, a great gain from proof errors. Of course there are some, but few can readily be excused as in it well impossible to eliminate them all. With this system in effect a great deal of worry is taken from the weary members of the night editor. The board member in charge of each issue is now able to devote more of his time to heads, leads, and helpful criticism to the helpers than formerly. He no longer has to spend half his time reading and rereading proofs. He may now give his time to style and other features which make the Pennsylvania distinctive.
It's good for voting and old.
