Soccer Shorts

Six games in one day and plenty of food for a soccer column at last. That three-day tournament that the management just staged was well worth watching by the way.

They call it the Third Annual Intercollegiate Senior Tournament, or something like that, but after looking at the last few games we have decided that it should be called the Harris Tournament.

Joe Harris, as the rooters called him, took eleven from the forward line. He distributed perfectly and his passes in the outside were all that could be desired.

He and the Baltimore Polytechnic center halfback battled all morning in the final contest. Frankman, the Poly man, was adept at controlling the sphere. He too, was among the bright lights of the tournament.

PLEASANTS TO KIPLING

Retold Kipling, in his latest book, "Dish and Credit," reinforces his well-known loyalty toward America. He brings this out in a poem entitled "Dish and Credit," and although the United States is not mentioned, as the Public Ledger, "it is an obvious attack on America's attitude."

Dish and Credit

At the eleventh hour to come,
But his wages were the same.
As men who did day long had tried
The wine press of the wrath of God.

When he sliced through the times
Of our respected and magnified class,
His majesty could soon
Such hour had marked its man.

Since his back had felt no load
Virtue still in him abode;
So he swiftly made his own.
Three last weeks we had not seen.

We went home, delayed sorrow,
Grudging him no recognize.
Till he removed praise or blame,
To our works before he came.

Till he showed us for our good—
Food to the bind, and blind to seem—
How we might have lost without Harden that he had not borne!

Dr. Henry Pleasant, Jr., '90 Med, re

cises to this attack in a poem, "Credit's Reply," published in the Public Ledger:

One task by the side of your Tommies
Was short and was light as you, we came when the war clouds hung long
And the Horats horses drew nearer each day.
We knew what you fellows had suffered.

You thought we were not just, 'twas true.
But to have this now flog in our faces—
We wouldn't have thought of it you.

You had given us great inspiration
With your songs and your tales of the war.

We'd been brought up on Barrack-room bullades
And your stories of Orient, too.

And your yarfs of the Orient, too,
We thought that all bitter in feeling

You had given us great inspiration
With your songs and your tales of the war.

But there s been no very snappy, you know;
And we didn't make much of a show.
You laughed at your tea in the theatre;
And we doubt we were a rough-looking crew.

But to think that you'll hold this against us—
Well, we wouldn't have thought of it you!

Oh, yes, we're a country of Sbylocks,
You funded your debt and we praised you;

We thought that all bitter in feeling

Those taxi Rolls we had no use.

TWO SOCCER TROPHIES

At the close of the 1928 soccer season, it was decided by the members of the Penn Student Association of Soccer to donate a small organization of six men to favor an Association which should be composed of the major soccer players of the university. In the early part of the spring, the defense of a championship match in the new stadium with the necessity for a trophy. Accordingly, the cup which had been used was presented to Pennsylvania, where it had appeared thence more than any of the competitors.

One of the conditions that invitations were extended to some of us was that Pennsylvania's State League is the indoor and the Big Red and Harvard WomenVarsity compared with Pennsylvania, themselves, however, and as a result, was found to be desirable. That league, too, was abandoned.

In this matter as disposing of the championship, a new competition was encountered. It was soon established that Pennsylvania's Junior Varsity and University's first team were the most popular in the same number of times, in order to decide which of the several races should hold the trophy, a play-off was suggested. Still, the meeting was postponed to permanently secure the award.

The meeting was attended by Franklin Field and the trophy which is to be awarded for the best of them. Just as followers of the former had long longed, the game was extremely spirited and hard-fought, and the possession of the cup was decided by the margin of one goal to none—Pennsylvania now has a toe for your annual competition.

Competitors in the league and as many cups to per- manently repose in the University's trophy room! We congratulate Coach Donald Stewart and the majority of players who have been responsible over a term of years, for this glorious achievement.

MEMORIAL HALL AND THE FRESHMEN

Just a little over a year ago it was announced by those in charge of the Memorial Hall Building would be erected on our campus. This effort, securing the title plans, was presented in aid of the Christian Association study rooms, reading rooms, rest rooms, and other general purpose edifices, in aid of the Christian Association study rooms, reading rooms, rest rooms, and other general purposes. The money was to be raised for the erection of such a structure but it was not all collected from the science of this movement. The Pennsylvania Jug—You draw secretly for the possession of the State League trophy. They say that the match was just a bit as thrilling as we thought it would be—and that's saying something. That's the second cup in two years for the newcomers.

Hunting and fishing, the Red and Blue halfbacks, played a hang-up game. They were especially good when the wind was against them. Together with Badger, at left halfback, we had a great team.

Also scored the only marker, but he allowed himself to be talked out of scoring a penalty goal when the teams were, the teams played well together, though.

The 1926 jacket family seems to be the best in Pennsylvania in recent years. And, Reichenbach, Risch, and Sohle prove plenty of material for a good football next season.

This close Bunion at center is the main that his radius ability with approachiveness as to make the defense dangerous for the fullback and goalpost.
