Everyday he does his chores, appreciates and temptation. It is more customary to give in to these than to say, "Count me out." That is, it is easier to follow than to lead. Doing a "good fellow" is often a synonym for weakness. It is frequently an excuse for doing those things which we know are not open and above board. When the crowd says, "Come on," when custom and tradition beckon, when the occasion seems to demand — will your answer be yes? Because it is easier to stay than to start, will you fail to start?

EDUCATION BIG PROBLEM FOR INDIA GOVERNMENT

Less Than Ten Cents Per Person Spent Annually for Government of Nations

2000 SCHOOLS OPENED IN 1925

Although India has in years passed been almost without any Education or preparatory schools, the official report of the Bureau of Education has recently announced that several thousand students learning were inaugurated during the fiscal year of 1924-1925. About one per cent of the total population of India is of school age and according to a committee which is in charge of general education, the increase in numbers of students will have to be continued over a period of forty years in order to provide adequate facilities for the country.

Of the country's vast population of 300,000,000, it was stated that only 38,000, less than a third of the total of eligible age attend colleges and schools throughout the country. Less than these dollars was paid for each student for the entire year's education and less than one percent of the total population has any employment connected with education. During the last century the English Government in India has been devoting a good deal of time to the education problem which now confronts the government. Illiteracy work has helped considerably in past years, but it has been found that such work has been faltering recently. Notwithstanding this success and earnest effort, little real advancement has been made in the education of the masses, according to statistics of the Bureau of Education. At the present time 90% of the total population are illiterates.

ROOSEVELT STADIUM PROPOSED

The English Government saw the necessity for raising money and the American Missionary Association for promoting education. Roosevelt Stadium would be a logical place for holding many of the nation's greatest football contests as well as other sporting events. As the stadium is already selected as the most appropriate type of memorial, in view of the character and fair play exhibited by the former President, it is the wish of the people that a suitable memorial to Theodore Roosevelt be made known as the most public spirited and patriotic.

In all his activities, the former President, Mr. Roosevelt's name would be a logical place for holding many of the nation's greatest football contests as well as other sporting events. As the stadium is already selected as the most appropriate type of memorial, in view of the character and fair play exhibited by the former President, it is the wish of the people that a suitable memorial to Theodore Roosevelt be made known as the most public spirited and patriotic.

Merchants That Express Personal

By the second time around this Christmas season, Sophomore boys will be the heroes of the hour, the champions of the 法ard, and the laughing stock of the campus and the world at large that they are really large. It is to be seen in the welfare of the Class of 1929 that they will not be easily dissuaded from their purpose. In the past few days, however, we have read the thought that we should think of the men who claims that credit for much more than these things. It might be said that the average college boy is easily satisfied. In a book entitled "The Psychology of Coaching," written by Dr. Colman R. Griffin, Associate Professor of Educational Psychology at the University of Illinois, we find a diagram of a different viewpoint presented. We may agree in part, of course, that the variances in thought is due mostly to a scientific treatment of the subject by the author.

It is stated in this book, which has just recently appeared, that a man is in charge of a prominent school team or of a college combination, do not meet the personal satisfactions of the man when he has had his way. All this is, we feel, dependent to a large extent upon the type of man who holds the position of time. So we find that the whole things hinge on the responsibility that the individual takes upon himself.
