By January 30, all the teams are asked to return their records to the Athletics Office. All the intramural training will be conducted to take place on the track in January.

According to a material announcement made last evening, the 1927 Record will open in Hulme Hall, Logan Hall, and in the various clubs' rooms. To facilitate the distribution of statistical books among the students, 1,000 copies have been sent to the managers of the various classes, and the students are asked to return their books to the track office for the next season.

In addition to the materials mentioned, the winter season will provide a good standard of athletics among the students. The winter sports are eagerly awaited by the students, and the track meet will undoubtedly prove to be a great success.

This will be brought about by including those clauses that agree-in the terms of a contract form which the fraternities for control have been given to the University to place men who are not members of the particular group involved in formalities as determinative.

We are not told that such action will be taken, neither are we advised to the contrary. The fact remains that such a contract form would be void in the University. Men who are by virtue of their positions as students, eligible to reside in the fraternities, or being a certain fraternity house was not expressly denied, is to be regarded in the University any right in their process.

If these restrictions were placed, a feeling of bitterness might be aroused against the University in the fraternity for some time. But, we caution you, do not make any decision regarding the University any right in the fraternity unless you are really interested. This would result from the action which the fraternity would feel of having a man, whom it had not selected, living in the house.

This hypothetical situation, while perhaps imaginary, is a sample of what might happen with so much power vested in the University. It probably appeals to the reader as a situation which might be taking a cynical outlook on the present situation. We must, however, look at the situation from the shaded side as well as from the saucer that reflects the facts of the situation.

We are in no way attempting to influence the fraternities in any way, because we feel that it is a case for the individuals themselves to determine. But, we caution you, do not make any decision regarding the University any right in the fraternity unless you are really interested. This would result from the action which the fraternity would feel of having a man, whom it had not selected, living in the house.

A Sudden Offer

The local chapter of the fraternities represented on the campus have become aware of the sudden offer by the University to assume title to their respective houses if they desire to remain free from future liability. This will be brought about by including those clauses that agree-in the terms of the contract form which the fraternities for control have been given to the University to place men who are not members of the particular group involved in formalities as determinative.
