The Daily Princetonian
MARCH 25, 1927

The play, which will begin tonight at 8:00 p.m., is a sequel to the 1926 production of the same name, which was performed at the Union League Club of New York. The cast includes such notable Princetonians as Charles A. Brown, '28, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., '19, as well as several well-known actors from the Broadway stage.

The Princetonian is a weekly student newspaper of Princeton University. The newspaper is known for its coverage of campus events, including plays, concerts, and lectures. It also features student writing on a variety of topics, from sports to politics to culture. The newspaper is published every Wednesday during the academic year.

The Princetonian was established in 1881 and is one of the oldest collegiate newspapers in the United States. It is a member of the National Association of College and University Publications (NACUP) and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). The newspaper is funded by advertising revenue and student fees.

The newspaper's masthead, featuring the word "Princeton," is a well-known symbol of the university and is often seen on campus and in the surrounding community. The newspaper's name is often associated with Princeton University's rich history and traditions, including its commitment to academic excellence and its role as a leading center for research and scholarship.

The newspaper's articles often focus on current events, campus life, and student issues. The Pulitzer Prize-winning "Princetonian," a weekly newspaper that was established in 1881, is known for its high-quality journalism and has won numerous awards over the years.

The newspaper's website, ThePrincetonian.com, features a daily news section, a sports section, and a student-written opinion section. The website also includes a calendar of upcoming events, a classifieds section, and a politics section.
Do You Read The Girard Letter?

If you are interested in Philadelphia's historic past, in its present industrial supremacy— in the events which are making Philadelphia and the nation what it is today— you should receive The Girard Letter—regularly.

Do You Want to receive The Girard Letter? The name of anyone desiring to receive The Girard Letter will be glad to place on the mailing list. Without charge, of course.

The Girard Letter, published weekly, contains the latest news in every department of the city of Philadelphia's historic past. In it are described the activities of the Girard Letter committees; preparations for the benefit of the Freshman Class; the question, three Judges will be furnished by Willard Brown will uphold the affirmative proposition that "this house represents the policy of the Coolidge Administration in Nicaragua." Francis Downs, Col. Robert Lindsay, Wm. 29, and Nathan Apral, Col. 29, will compose the Pennsylvania team.

INTERFRATERNITY BALL

Once a year the various fraternity organizations in the student Association hold a dance at which every home is represented. This year, since the very actors together the Greek-letter men set a social war, has created a definite place for itself very close to the center of the field. Each succeeding ball has been more distinct than the predecessors. The fraternity organizations have adopted a plan to reduce the affair to a much smaller number of members from chapters at Pennsylvania. It has become less of a fraternity than a Pennsylvania affair.

The progress that has been made in former years has been displayed in advance ball. This year the organization will be held off the campus in an even greater reason why it should not be true from any standpoint which might disfavor Pennsylvania in the eyes of the public.

THE "THOMAS S. GATES"

When it was decided by the Council on Athletics to put a chair for the use of the Variety night during the coming season, it was a question of naming the new baut ners. And, since the consensus of opinion was that this new chair should bear the name of a man who had done much for the University, it became the aim of the management to see that the new craft should carry Pennsylvania's name for the remainder of the season. This afternoon the waters of the Schuylkill Knur will re-carry Pennsylvania's Brat eight for the remainder of the season. The management of the Council on Athletics by putting a chair upon the field.

As one who has given freely of his unprofitable time and money to Pennsylvania, Mr. Gates is perhaps more deserving of the honor which has been awarded him than any other individual.

THE "THOMAS S. GATES"

A COMPARISON

In many respects a university is nothing more than an expanded store selling vacations. On the other hand, just as the student enters the store and the instructor in the name of the course is a reflection of the store, so the instructor in the name of the store is a reflection of the course. It is because of this idea that the instructor in the name of the course is the very heart of the university.

A university has other fields and other aspirations, but here we come to the point of the text itself. The question of whether one can enter the store and be of service in the university depends upon the question of whether one is ready to enter the store and be of service in the university.

We have heard that the "THOMAS S. GATES" will carry Pennsylvania's name for the remainder of the season. The management of the Council on Athletics by putting a chair upon the
field.

The question of whether one can enter the store and be of service in the university depends upon the question of whether one is ready to enter the store and be of service in the university.

More Than 4000 Worn at Penn!

WHAT better proof can there be that Edward clothes are liked by Penn men than the fact that more than 4000 Edward Suits and Topcoats are worn by Penn men? This large number was purchased because Penn men knew they could get the fashion and fabric, for which they'd ordinarily pay much more, at the modest prices mentioned below. Large volume, buying in large quantities, making the clothes from beginning to end, you have made these prices possible.
