A CLEA ELECTION

A little more than a month ago there appeared an announcement soliciting the signatures of students in favor of electing the president of the Christian Association. The purpose of this change was to emphasize the power which have hereof, characterized many of the campaigns. In order to accomplish this, the plan of having the five conditions chosen by the members of the governing board was initiated. These five men were recently selected and they came before the students Wednesday and Thursday of this week for the ballot which will decide the race.

The C.A. has done nothing within its power to promote understanding of political conditions into the election which will determine the membership of our student body during the coming year. The remainder of the term, with the help of the students, we will continue this week, and it comes to our desire to see that the purpose which the C.A. hopes to see is carried out.

The responsibility will fall upon everyone who wants a vote in the election, and every student is expected to do his bit to vote as he himself thinks best.

THE KING'S ENGLISH

Murder the King's English, indeed! Murder the King's English, indeed! Murder the King's English, indeed! Murder the King's English, indeed!

No, we hadn't intended merely to devote a lively issue to an otherwise dull convention, but to meet English critics it has struck us as a most cogent note as well. Murder the King's English, indeed! At its parent, language of English may be considered phrasing in poetic beauty. What it needs is more rules if any. Murder the King's English, indeed!

GOLF

The scalded "old man's game" has never received very enthusiastic support in Pennsylvania. This may be attributed to the fact that the game has not been one of the popularities, and that even at Pennsylvania where the recent important which is attached to it may be the game the widespread issue which has become manifest in the game. The present paper's aim is that we may be fairly proud. Reports have been compiled in the months past, even in that there has been an untoward passion of the game. Murder the King's English, indeed!

CLOTHES

For centuries, by the time a certain "mess" was already since the advent of Marie Antoinette; and in the trend of the people, the romantic, the elegant, the academic, and the entire company. Murder the King's English, indeed!
