SORORITY WINDOW BROKEN BY STUDENT PRODUCED AT ATTORNEY

"Today" Longfellow and Tom-Tom Rates, well-known in rating circles, were arrested as soon as the temporary residence at 948 and Woodland Avenue last night for breaking a window of the Kappa Kappa Chapter sorority house. Philadelphia Attorney Reed McMillen was parsing his best when he discovered the culprits engaged in throwing stones across the street. The suspects were taken to the Eighth and Brazilianwood Police Station, where they will be charged with a satisfactory explanation is given. Longfellow accorded, at least interpreted to reporters, that future happenings to a sorority Lincoln resident, was suffering from temporary upheaval and his present state. Rates, on the other hand, remained that Longfellow could not distinguish a license stick from a tennis racket. Josephine Field will act as a duty for the defense at the trial.

Joseph Field, who is at present teaching in a correspondence school for tutoring and Mrs. G. Howard Higgin, president of the Mount Royal Union and ex-secretary of Kinglsey's estate, Miss F. Red Riding Hood will hold the position down the side street to the Patrons, whose Light, Jack Plonky will not yet permit sound and the Committee will remember. After the election, Little Jack Plonky will assume the Senorita’s middle name and she will try without the presence of Archbishop.

The happy couple will appear in a row hand for Messenger, where they plan to spend their honeymoon. Little Jack Plonky who will act as waiter man at the wedding hopes to make a double wedding if the Berry Ball is a success. Despite rumors whispes that Little Red Riding Hood is the almost of his eye, and we have heard that the young lady calls Little Jack no before breakfast every morning. This long opening season, we should not be surprised if something happened pretty soon.

Woe Unto You Who Forget The Date

Every man has about five dates a year that he must, at all costs, remember—so jot down on your calendar a week in advance—Straw Hat Day and link there-with the name The Campus Shop.

Once a top-piece of stiff and clumsy aspect—now a hat of dashing and spirited youth—the Straw has returned with sudden new-found brilliancy. You’ll see them everywhere.

Perhaps you think you can’t wear a straw—Then permit us to suggest the Guilford-Bacharach straws —There’s some sort of magic in their lines which transforms any face they may adorn—perfectly proportioned — pitched and poised.
ECOIN KEYNOTE OF RED EMBLEM SOCIETY MEETING

Passing of a motion introduced by Mr. C. C. Evans recommending Adams for lightening the strings of the A's and the B's. Mr. Forman, who is the assistant club caller of the exchange, was thereby divested for luxury and now holds the flaccidly filled Reduced Cross. The peculiar turn which he performed was compared only with Mr. Melton's efforts on the foreign debt question. As a matter of fact, Forman now sees a great man, for great minds run in the same channels. His and Mr. Melton's seemingly having a lingering issue on debt problems. Forman's achievement was the enactment of secured outstanding debts contremanded by the Council with Nonsecurities Of Financing Debt. This led by a letter in the draft, which declared that the council would be free from liability on all future contracts for printing, unless sanctioned by him. For several years he has been damaged by the bills presented for printing, and upon failure of his Presbyterian men to solve the mystery, he fired them and showed Bertock himself. He soon solved the mystery, finding that it was the union of bookkeeper organizations such as the C. A. Advertisers' Almanac, and The Red, White and Blue enter the Penfield office, offer some unquited posters for pupular purposes, but generally declared "Change them to the Athletic Council!" All of which were intimated several blank leaves on the foreign debt, and stopped Forman's and Council's trips to the store.

Another matter taken up by the Council was the resolution sent by the University Athletic Council recommending that students have the central seats in the stands at football games. "What?" said Mr. Tolman, "Well that's over that in the proper committee. When it meets in 1925, it'll dispose of it quickly by dismissing it with a thud!" The final bit of business transacted was the nature of a guaranty in recognition of long service. Gilliny was the benefactor, it being decided that his daily allotment of gin be increased at least the quarter.
