BRITISH NOBLE EXPLAINS CAMBRIDGE’S FREEDOM

Sir Henry Lunn, recent University Speaker, says freedom is not without numerous drawbacks.

THREE ATTENDANCES IN 4 YEARS

"Freedom, as it is allowed in the English universities, develops leaders of men, but it is harmful to the greater percentage of the students," according to Sir Henry Lunn, wellknown scholar and advocate of the League of Nations, who recently appeared at the University under the auspices of the Arts Association.

Commenting, Sir Henry said: "In our colleges, the great freedom in studies and in discipline tends to develop character in those who have the qualifications of good leadership. But this same liberty helps the majority of students to avoid work. In our liberal universities the sciences are few and scattered, and the undergraders'" acquaintance with three languages, that is, interpreters, may be broken at will.

In addition, this liberty is not present.

As an Oxford student can come in as he pleases, therefore a lot of them go in for art.

Only the men who like to work and can be treated with seriousness are well served in Oxford and Cambridge.

Any one can square himself with an ordinary degree.

At the University of London, a student is required to be present in college only six or seven times during the entire four years. He brings to his examinations his intermediate examinations at the end of his second and final examinations. Such requirements also a larger number of books for study. On the other hand, it affords an opportunity for the man who has a great desire and in financial difficulty to work it home.

A man who entered London University, he made three trips to England to have his examinations, and immediately returned to America. In the other hand, students of Harvard and Oxford, a few trips are all that are necessary to get a degree, if one is studying for a given amount of time. The entire scheme of university freedom should be treated with moderation, so that leaders may arise and that the largest may be reared.

"In Oxford and Cambridge the most worthwhile initiative is in the field of debating societies. Many men who are little or nothing in their scholastic work have become successful in later life because of their experience from speaking ad libu.

In their statement, as low, and bad examples of money have received their training. Gladstones, Amery, Grey and Asquith all won at the hands of the debating societies."

Still Think A $2 Bill Is Unlucky?

If you see Jack waiting comfortably under laden,—or Jim paying not the least attention to black notes that cross his path,—one's idea they'll soon be pushing up daisies.

They've surely left all faith in past superstitions—they realize the value of a $2 bill at THE CAMPUS SHOP! Where smart, modern haberdashery abounds. Step in today and replenish your wardrobe before vacation begins.

Endless selections in shirts, ties and necks.

"The Neck of the Bottle"

"I never knew bottles could neck!" exclaimed Flitz 70 when he saw the above sign, "but I suppose they've learned from being proved right so many necking parts."

This tee is really among those prized at the few dimes! You can distinguish him from the bottles because of the peculiar fitting Evening Flooring Cloth he wears which looks more like other Shawl lace from Perry's.

Bowser in Industry

Great electric plants are lubricated by Bowser systems that continuously clean and purify the oils.

Railroads depend on Bowser for oil house systems, supply cars that travel thousands of miles of track.

Automobile plants equip production lines with Bowser systems that fuel and lubricate new cars at one operation.

Great steel mills are Bowser-equipped. So are paint manufacturers, paper mills, machinery makers—in fact, Bowser pervades industry from "I" to "y."

This, too, in addition to our leadership in the gas and oil industry, where the Bowser name is recognized as the mark of the leading manufacturer.

Men who have the ambition to travel and grow with a leader are invited to write us.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS FOR LAW

University Law School Was Second in America, the First Being at Wisconsin and Mary.

WASHINGTON WITNESSED OPENING

Contemporary with the historically entrance requirements for colleges throughout the country has been the gradual rise of entrance requirements for entrance to the nation's law schools. Prior to the Civil War, law college preparation was a prerequisite to entry to any law school.

According to a bulletin recently issued by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching "Training for the Public Professor of Law," entrance requirements for entrance to the various law schools are as follows: College degree, 3 (Pennsylvania, Harvard, and Northwestern); Two years of college, 39 years or less than two years of college, 40. There are 184 law schools in the country at the present time.

Pennsylvania was the country's second law school, its idea being at William and Mary College, founded in 1720. Following the University's school, which was begun in 1766, was Columbia, 1774; Kenyon College, 1829, and Harvard, 1779; Which followed rapidly, after these had demonstrated and found a satisfactory method of teaching. Many universities found pastime for their students, and therefore compose thirty-nine per cent of the total number.

Possessors of the University's law school were continuously some of the most esteemed people of Revolutionary days, originally.

Clothes Cost!

When you compare a cheap, old-fashioned costume suit and a real hand-tailored custom suit, the difference is noted at once; the one is gone after a few months' wear while the other is good for a year. It will hold its shape; will press and clean well, and at all times you know you are well-dressed. Both are necessities to make and many Penn men know this. Why not you? Our prices are $25 to $85.
