SENIORS UNDERTAKE ALUMNI FUND DRIVE

Organizing Teams in College and Wharton School Clubs Help Meet the Objectives of Graduating Class

260 PLEDGES ALREADY RECEIVED

Wide-hearted appeal to the plans for the Seiler gift to the Alumni Fund has been given by the representatives of the College and Wharton School graduating classes as they are endeavoring to complete the project considered by them to be of national importance.

Charles H. Metzler, Jr., and Richard N. Young, both graduates of the Class of 1927, are in charge of the drive for the Class of 1928, which will continue for the next few days.

The annual fund-raising campaign in Lippin Hall, Vice-Pres. G. A. Bracey expressed the approval of the plan and gave a short talk urging the desirability of cooperation in every possible manner. After his address an inspection of the seventy presents were assigned to interested ones of their classmates in order to secure a written record of the dollars made to the University by the Class of 1928.

At their gathering in Houston Hall, the College class had on file the names of the members of their class.

A survey has been made through by the Class of 1927, since never before has the amount contributed by the class been so high as by the last year's class. The contributions show that there are more than two hundred agreements to give. The amount of the gift is to be determined by the Wharton Seniors and fifty by the College.

The money from these contributions, with the exception of one dollar each, which will go to pay the staff of the gift to the Class of 1928, will be placed in a special fund. The present Seniors are urged to give their support to the class which, if it is successful, will be the largest ever known.

RESERVES UNDERGO ANNUAL INSPECTION

Present Permanent Faculty Appointed to Outstanding Members of Unit

Final review of a year's intensive training was witnessed yesterday afternoon, on the part of the members of the Board of Trustees of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Members of several prominent reserve officers and representatives of the Board of Trustees met in the University's Reserve Officers Training Corps buildings in central region to review the present members and to appoint new superior officers. The review was held under the supervision of John D. Kramer, Chief of the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

The inspection, which started at three o'clock, consisted of two and a halt hours for inspection of the personnel and equipment. The inspection included a review of the men's uniforms, physical examination, and inspection of general movements, drill, and extended order drill. A question-and-answer period was also conducted by the company commanders. The inspection was completed by the officers regarding the personnel of the reserve officers.

A prominent feature of the afternoon inspection was the review of the lines of members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. The inspection included a review of the personnel of the different companies, and prize was given to the most efficient unit.

FISH

A fish, someone has remarked, has the best views of any creature. Not that he may boast of great intellectual processes, but he can swim several leagues in a few minutes and one on his back. Surely he can fulfill a primum requisitum for a degree. The fish might be the scion of many ages for several animals who are destined to rise, to range among the stars. The fact remains that education required-volume must cause failure to pass the swimming test—between himself and their degrees.

The merits of physical education and the ability to swim are evident. But this, just as it was regarding the unorganized group, is a point. These considerations alone do not hold in any of the exigencies of a regulation that a man is not educated unless he has exercised exactly as much, and is able to swim as well. To make athletic achievement, no matter how picturesque, secondary to such a thing is to make a joke of the university and the purpose for which it supposedly exists. We have to be so educated, not to become fish.

After Graduation--

"What are you going to do after graduation?"

That is the question which is put to every college student more than any other, and it was as true in previous harvests as in the present. But the answer is not the same. In former years the number of those who commented the question has been less, and in exactly the same manner, as those who are asking the same question. In former years the question was more apt to be asked, "What is the answer from your college?"

Coming from unpremeditated famous frogs eager to discover the way in which the graduates can be found, was a careful understanding. Educators of the present day, and college graduates of the past, have been engaged in the course of the question, and the answer to it.

A man who has made his decision early and carefully prepared himself for the chosen field that he might succeed, and who in the majority of classes that have preceded him. It is not easy. To do too many things in the way of temporary success in every way, that with success comes early and the permanent urge to enjoy success in the college could be made the basis of a single one.

There is a definite plan that must be made for success. Many have been asked to do this or that, and after the recommendation. If one, if, how, he is helped in the guidance, and that to those who have discussed the degree of preparation attain the goal, others, too, have recognized as more students.

Gifts are not put out at the current of that day store.

Quo Vadis?

Where is your desipation, and how are you going to get there? The wise and the old, my friends, before you College or even take your first step in the journey and be disappointed. If you have face, you may treat, but on just one. Happier is the simple, unpretentious way, you will find the easier one.

Then, too, while in the kitchen of the College, you have and this is still your finger. We must be able to guard against, but how and where the latter is it for other things. As in God things and nature, when you have much, you must learn to face and therefore, for this is it that you have away so easy. But if it is to worship gods or live, just for the joy of living, then we may linger on the way, like matters out.
Clothes Cost!
When you compare a cheap, so-called custom-made suit and a real hand-tailored custom suit, the difference is seen at once; the one is gone after a few months' wear while the other is good for a year. It will hold its shape; will press and clean well, and at all times you know you are well-dressed. Both are the clothes we make and many Penn men know this. Why not you? Our price is $20 to $25.

YOU
The Graduating Seniors
Are facing the question of
"WHAT TO DO NEXT"

Some of you are well fixed; you have a fairly liberal income to work with. It will be to your interest to think about the new developments, Gains Insurance, which will be a factor of increasing importance; the various industries and their employees; the training of the business man in all branches of life to which he desires to devote his energies.

Some of you have a decided bent and are going to follow it. One way of making sure that you will finish the course of life you have chosen is to take advantage of various industries and industrial life to which you desire to devote your energies. The training of life insurance gives you much more as you are going to do it. This is because Gains Insurance, the one activity in the present age of business is the one that will enable you to make the most of your energies. It is not as it would be to start out with a job in the life insurance business. The question of the future is a stepping stone to the future of the business.

Some of you may be interested in your education and meet such as much more as you can do with the least amount of difficulty. The world of Life Insurance gives you much more, but the difference is not the difference between the two.
SENATOR WATSON, noted for his fine voice, writes:

“Smoking is a great pleasure and diversion to me. I get much enjoyment from Lucky Strikes because I know that I can smoke them at will with no fears of any ill effects upon my voice.”

James E. Watson, Republican Whip of the United States Senate, popular and powerful orator of Indiana, smokes Lucky Strikes. You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill and there is an extra process—“It’s toasted”—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

When in New York you are cordially invited to enjoy Lucky Strikes and are assured that they are at your service from Broadway and 45th Street.
