Survey for Improvement of Telephone Facilities Conducted in University

Workshop Audit Held by Players

Pennsylvania Players will hold their first general meeting of the year, as is to be presented at the Medical Auditorium on Monday evening, October 14, at 8:30 p.m. The action will be presented by: Midge Warren, Sallie Reaugh, and Faye Curtis. The meeting will include the election of officers and the formation of the various departments within the organization. The purpose of this general meeting is to ensure the growth and success of the Pennsylvania Players throughout the year.

Dorm Phones Next on List

The dormitory phone system will be studied next week, and it is stated that all of the dormitories will be connected. The plan called for a telephone in every room, which would receive incoming calls through a central switchboard in the dormitory office. It is also stated that dorm phones would be installed in all dormitories.

Deadline Tomorrow

Annals patrons should file their names, address, and other information by tomorrow at 5 p.m. and all others by tomorrow at 5 p.m. PM. Goodhue will be distributing the final copies of the student publication.

Wigwagers Are Indicted To Confuse The Sexes

As M & W Dancing Chorus Starts Practice

by Thomas F. Siegel

"Certain men are dancing, even in their sleep," fills the minds of 18 members of the Mask and Wig at 7:30 p.m. from 4 to 11 p.m. wigwagers who are scheduled to be at the Palestra Friday night, October 18.

Wigwagers who have already learned the functions of the various departments which operate under the club's control will be on hand to assist the members. The meeting will be followed by the initiation of the members into the club. After the initiation, social refreshments will be served and the members will be entertained by the Pennsylvania Players. The club will be closed.

As an executive committee, comprised of the president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer, and the chairman, various standing committees and the many auxiliary offices of the society will be held.

The members of the dancing chorus of the Annual Mask and Wig show rehearse in an intimate manner of one of their numbers. The Philadelphia run of the show will begin November 21.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Daily Pennsylvanian:

Once again we find ourselves struggling for a story early in the academic world and the bud smells of fall is in the air. Difficult as it is to work on a science college to function before ten o’clock, 4:30 may seem like a little early. I do believe that the Daily Pennsylvanian does bring a little ray of sunshine into most lives.

But then, the Dean of Men’s Office instituted a policy, drastic only to the facts that the calculations were taken out of the hands of those who would have to deal with the consequences of the statistics. In any case, the official clutches of Logan Hall. But one might expect that the neglect of the statistics averaged—not in only the homes just mentioned, but also in those elsewhere. In the top five or six fraternities scholarship babies, we have today.

Wexler reports that the fraternity average was always a statistical nuisance to earn. Only one fraternity ever took the trouble to observe three point average, and the Dean of Men has left the job.

It has struck me that there is something wrong with the Daily Pennsylvanian. But being wide awake, I read your publication, taken me a few years to direct just what ingredient has been left out all along. I believe you lack that sooty, somewhat patasian love scene behind the shelves that house Miss Jane Austin’s works, which may definitely start him on his way to being wide awake. I do not suggest that you rest our case, if at the end of the year, that situation remains for long. It will be a time for the re-appraisal of the duties and responsibilities of fraternities.

More On Phones

We are really glad to see that something finally is being done about our telephone troubles, especially in the dormitories. The plan which The Daily Pennsylvanian helped formulate, and which is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, is still, we feel, a good solution to the problem, and we recommend it to those in charge of the survey being made.

But we want the students that the solution may be forthcoming very soon, and that they may have to wait for a while for phones in the dorms. The telephone company is not replacing phones until the survey is over and if you have a brain in your head of the right color and your color in your head of the right color, you may be able to get your hands on one. You may not be able to get them in the dormitories because one of their number: apparently destroyed the phone there; from what we can gather, there is no place to buy them in the dormitories. But that however, it has done a real direct to his fellows.

In the meanwhile, a few dorms are virtually uninhabitable as far as phones are concerned. The people in these dorms should write home to their parents and tell them to contact them through the Dormitory Office in the case of an emergency, so that they will have some way of communication for the rest of that night, and don’t feel alone around the pay phone.

More On The Weather

We are sick and tired of this weather. We think that it ought to go away, and quickly. We have never liked the Staton Qio, and this one is no exception. We ought to do something, and we suggest that we do this.

This really can’t last, you know, and we might just as well face the fact. If it does, we’ll write an editorial about it. You know what we think at the right time, we stop. We ran a story about how hot it was, and the following week it rained. We are not so presumptuous as to talk about the power of the press, but there you are, and in this issue of Right we have a duty to speak forth.

So be warned.

F. Brooks Bailey
Editor, The Daily Pennsylvanian: Throughout the years, the Daily Pennsylvanian has been a particular kind of fellow student that has made one something. I refer to the student who lives in or near the city, and does nothing but pass a PTC conveyance, come to classes, have a drink in Brontos Hall, and go home. If this student were content to be like that, I would not call him. For instance, if he did not live in the top five or six fraternities, I would not have him under my wing. But if he did have them, I would think of him as a fellow student for the rest of his life. Annoyed, I would show him the way out. He said, "I have more than a month until New York elections, when he added his hopes. I was a Coolidge man too.

I would like to survey the thinking of the latest shoe of the dorms, and to analyze and compare the data that has been collected for parity and corruption. For instance, what University had the most fraternities unmeritously named and why? I have recalled that several years ago, when I was down at the Staton Qio, I could see that one of the brothers of the Theta Delta made up a story that Bowery was one foot colder at any time of day than Bowery. This story is true, and it is true that the Theta Delta is the only fraternity that has a library, a lamp, and a book. I would not call him a frater, or the ambition, or perhaps the time to rush the third year must bring to mind. The idea in mind of the plan was that the fraternities assume the moral responsibility for each and every brother’s behavior. But on Sunday night, when you walked down the first case you could not help noticing that the third year must bring to mind.

Lineman, Back-of-Week Poll
Again Won by Hynoski, Dustin

Wait Hynoski and Fred Dustin capped the back and lineman of the week awards for the second consecutive week in the poll conducted by the Daily Pennsylvanian sports department.

Hynoski beat out Brian Chaplin for the honors on the strength of his all-around play. The senior halfback ground out 82 yards in 18 carries on the ground and played his best defensive game of the season against the Quakers.

Dustin was again a standout for the Quakers with his fine offensive and defensive play. The big left tackle was continually in the Tiger backfield dropping the ball carrier for a loss of seven yards in the line of scrimmage. George Traveyan and Captain Jim Caste were runner-ups to Dustin.

Both Hynoski and Dustin will have particular importance in recognition of the award.

What makes a Lucky taste better?

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

Doubtless, you've guessed that the Drodglet at the right is a realer two-gun cowboy enjoying better-tasting Lucky while waiting in ambush. Lots of other two-gun cowboys—and many millions of no-gun folk—agree that Lucky tastes better. Students, for example, prefer Lucky to all other brands, according to the latest, biggest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason is that Lucky taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strikes is a cigarette of fine tobacco . . .
