Philadelphia Fine Arts Center Sponsor; Author, Works Include "Tulips and Chimneys," "XAIPE"

E. E. Cummings, whose work has been called a collection of "shattered clocks," and whose poetry of the twentieth century by others, will give a reading of selections from his poetry and prose tonight at 8:30 in the University Museum in a program sponsored by Philadelphia Fine Arts Center.

Cummings was elected to the National Institute of Arts and Letters in 1948 and was awarded a $5,000 fellowship from the academy of American Poets a year later. The complete corpus of Cummings' poetry, containing 515 poems, was recently published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

TUNE HIGH FOR GAME

Meet Penn Winless Gridders

A short, original poem by Poet E. E. Cummings, whose work has been called a "collection of shattered clocks," is featured in the Freshman Issue of Pennpix Magazine. The poem, "The Enormous Room," is the subject of the magazine's Inter-Collegiate Radio System project, which will broadcast the poem during the Freshman Issue Party tonight.

The treatment for the disease will be concluded this week and Dr. Shalloo said he will be cured and ready to attend Monday's classes.

The Phi Kaps: A Chance Missed

The Junior Cane March has been held, and there were no signs of discretion. No one had the heart to project for the Phi Kappa Betas to look into the possibility of having the scholars of their class, nor the patience to make them do it. The students themselves have no leisure to appreciate the spectacle, and the Phi Kappa Betas themselves have been made to realize this.

I was dwarted...
1. In March 1953 construction workers had just begun to "claw" out the earth under 36th and Sansom Streets. Early in October the station at 36th and Sansom, one of the two which will serve the Penn campus, was ready for the laying of track.

2. A bird's eye view of the construction looking east on Woodland Avenue shows the location of the 37th Street Station which will be completed in about a year. Trolleys will run underground on Market Street from the downtown area to 36th Street. Still underground they will turn south on 36th Street to Woodland Avenue. On Woodland Avenue at 10th Street they will come to the surface through this exit tube.

3. The four entrances to the 36th and Sansom Station are still boarded up. They lead to a large room which will contain cashiers' cages and turnstiles. Below this is the lower level station (photo 1) where the east and westbound street cars will load and unload passengers.

Back, Lineman Honors To Chaplin; Jim Conlin

Fullback Stan Chaplin and Jim Conlin, a second string as he has not seen much action since the Navy game this past Saturday, emerged as winners of the back and lineman of the week awards for the first time this year in the football poll sponsored by The Daily Pennsylvania sports staff.

Chaplin, who placed second in every poll this year for the backfield spot in the Pennsylvania attack Saturday against Navy, chaplin took Barry's bouncing kickoff on his own 21 yard line, and headed 79 yards for a touchdown. After he crossed the midfield stripe he hit the far sideline and outdistanced GeorgeWelch, the lone Navy pursuer. This was Chaplin's third touch- down of the season, and he is the team's leading scorer.

Slowed by Illness

Jim Conlin, who was hampered by illness during his junior year, has now returned to top physical condition following an injury suffered against Navy. Conlin, and in particular his backfield options play, Navy had made the opposite as a consistent ground threat.

All sophomores interested in playing basketball must report to the Palestra this time at 5 p.m.

A pome by Ogden Nash

Maurice had a little shirt.
A sportster, don't you know?
And everywhere that Maurice went
The shirt was sure to go.
(He was crazy about it.)

He'd wear it first to English class
From there to Physics Lab
He found himself, the man young men
Quite fond of his VAN GAB.
(Van Heusen's famous rayon gabardine.
A real darl')

He'd wear it when he was to bed
Because he liked nice things
And Van Gab's special "shirt"
Makes it soft as sponge's wings.
(Mrs. DiMagio's)

He'd wear it in the dust
And his monogram thought him daft
But he knew that it was washable
And so he merely put
(Certified completely washable, for commercial laundering, by the American Institute of Laundry.)

He loved in Spunhor collars,
Fine with tie and fine without.
He made his Van Gab's scarf,
Each one's rule—have no doubts
(Many bougie Van Gab in all 15 shades)

Note: It also has new Vango sizing, which means sportster size with dressing-it's a great idea in a $4.95 shirt that isn't easily wrinkled.
