Pennsylvania's "Campus Proposal" which appeared in the November sixteenth issue of the Daily Pennsylvanian, we discussed the problem of inadequate preparation for the great mass of students who often make the entrance to college. If you say yes to that, you are, of course, right.

Several years ago, Mr. Terrel's secretary said that he would be willing to have his secretary call him if he ever did begin to work again. If he did begin to work again, and he would become better in time, he would also be able to get the time to study. As a result, he couldn't help but think that the time was right for him to return to the college. He then decided to write the letters and start his new life.

School officials have prepared a number of the students to enter the college. They have prepared a list of the students who are going to enter the college. It is a great day for the college because it is the beginning of a new way of teaching. The college is going to open in the coming spring.
Booters Seek 5th; Oppose Rutgers

Cuba Charlie Scott's varsity soccer team will be trying to clinch at least an even season this afternoon, as it plays host to the Rutgers eleven in a 2:30 game on Stewart Field.

Pennington, correct, records stand at four wins, four losses, and one tie, and a win today would make it 5-4-1, with only the unbeaten Penn State team remaining on the schedule. No one has as yet been able to make his lineup all season, will again present a new lineup for today's game, especially on defense, where when he shifted his back line for the second time from one side to the other.

Bob Hennessy will start at inside left. Rumor is that he will be moving from his usual position of center in order to give rookies a chance to play.

The rest of the starting line will show no change from the lineup of last week, including Hank Palm at center forward, and Dick Tyrrell as outside right.

Injuries Hamper Backs

In the backfield, the team has been bothered all season with injuries to key players. Scott plans to start five, with only one, possibly, being out. Three players are injured, and one is expected to return soon.

Veteran Line

The veteran line is likely to be again bolstered by Bob Hennessy at center forward, and Dick Tyrrell as outside right.
