It's certainly a change from the fall season. The Quaker basketball team has certainly made things bright around here. It was a great performance by the team, and I think we can all agree that Leach and Joe Sturgis once again proved their worth and gave us a feeling of hope. Leach, in particular, has done fabulous things for the Red and Blue. Leach not only tallied the points, but also brought down 12 rebounds from the boards.

By the way, a rather sage game and thank goodness the Quakers had it against Mitch. I simply cannot understand how they can not be put on Pennsylvania. Midwest, I suppose, has rather mediocre players and their press did not hurt behind their poor sportsmanship didn’t help any.

Christmas Basket Drive Aids Families on Relief

by Edwin Lebby

Before seeking assistance, an unemployed person who is physically and morally fit must apply to find work of a kind he can do and for which he believes he is capable.

In addition, the applicant must first make every effort to get financial aid from relatives who are able to help.

What type of assistance which could place a family in a position of being eligible for public assistance? There are 4,800 such cases in West Philadelphia alone. The typical household, it should be noted, is not well-to-do and the area immediately surrounding the family. The type of case in which a family might need extra assistance would be a case of desertion of the husband. Sometimes a woman is left with three or four small children to care for. The husband might not be contributing to his family's support sufficiently, if at all, for the mother to bring up the child herself. Often the mother is forced to work.

The father of the family is of course expected to do everything he can. The Public Assistance Department works closely with the courts. Keeping the mother in the home is an important factor. The family is expected to do the best it can, but the department is expected to help strengthen the family.

The All-American Christmas Basket Drive fits in with the spirit of the Public Assistance Program. The program is a direct aid to those families who have coppered to the recipient's budget. It is a very broad scale. Miss Brenda said, in speaking of the drive.

Yale Tops Mermen for 114th in Row

Yale swam the Red and Blue Mermen to an easy victory in the 1954-55 season opener, Saturday at the New Haven Yacht Club. The Bulldogs, who scored their 60th win over the Quakers in the 55-meet series dating back to 1917, also captured their 114th consecutive dual meet victory over all competition since Army dropped a meet in 1924.

When Yale gained recognition for their Irma B. Merson and Gladys Wheeler awards, there was no doubt that the outstanding performer of the day was Pennsylvania's Burwood Johnstone. Johnstone was the only swimmer to cop a first two places, as he came from behind to nab the 100 individual medley and took the 200 backstroke after starting with three. Richard Alexander got another for Yale in the 100 freestyle, Captain Walt Stirling came fourth in both, and Ralph Hill took the 400 (look at the Piano). The winning team: "We're going around end for the Red and Blue. These coming in the 250 and 440 freestyle events.

Yale's Winning pool:*.95".

Schwartz contention that no legal justification existed for the scholarships awards was false, as were Schwartz's belief that the awards were an illegal expenditure and that they constituted maladministration.

Schwartz says that he replied to DuBarry's letter by asking him to clarify his language and to explain his earlier letter. DuBarry replied, according to Schwartz, that he would not quibble over grammar.

Jim Walker asks:

Can a mechanical engineer make real progress in a chemical firm?

"Pick" Pickering answers:

Well, Jim, that's what the lawyers call a leading question, and the answer leads right into my bull-wick. I came to Du Pont in 1940, after taking a combined mechanical and electrical engineering course. So I had what you might call a double reason for wanting about my future with a chemical firm.

I soon learned that the success of a large-scale chemical process is vitally dependent upon mechanical equipment. And the success of this mechanical equipment—especially for a new process—depends on (1) Research, (2) Development, (3) Plant Engineering, and (4) close Supervision. The net result is along any one of these four broad highways to a top-level position.

My own Du Pont experience includes mechanical engineering work in fields as varied as atomic energy, fabrics and finishes, and nylon manufacture. Every one of these brought with it a new set of challenging problems in construction, instrumentation, and power supply; and every one provided the sort of opportunities a man gets in a pioneering industry. So, to answer your question, Jim, a mechanical engineer certainly has plenty of chances to get somewhere with a chemical company like Du Pont!
