LEAVES OF IVY
by Franklin Brown

Thanks to Fox... A lot of college students had jobs over the Christmas break this year, but probably none earned more money on a per-year basis than two boys from a mid-western university.

As temporary employees to an interior decorator, the two students were involved in cleaning and repairing a house that was under construction. The tasks were simple but tedious, and the pay was low. However, the experience was invaluable to the two students as they continued their education.

They were both eager to learn as much as possible from their temporary positions, and they did so with great enthusiasm. The experience taught them valuable lessons about teamwork, customer service, and problem-solving.

The job was demanding, but the students were determined to complete it as efficiently as possible. They worked long hours, often sacrificing their personal time to ensure that the job was done correctly.

The experience also allowed them to develop new skills and gain confidence in their abilities. They learned how to work effectively in a team setting, and they developed a strong sense of responsibility.

The students were grateful for the experience, and they knew that it would be beneficial to their future careers. They were excited to see how it would help them as they continued their education and pursued their dreams.

Improved Penn Quintet Better '53-'54 Mark

Bart Leach, with his fine all-around play, has been one of the main factors accounting for the improved record of the Pennsyl

a. He has been getting almost 12 reand has scored 176 points. Joe points in a game this season and has a high of 32 points.

Most important to Leach has been his ability to draw defen-

age of 18.3 points per game

Quakers have six wins in ten games, and remains unidentified in Ivy

Despite a schedule that has

Illinois, Michigan, and Michig-

has yielded 27 more points.

Leach Hits 50 Percent

Leach has scored under 12

points in five games this season, and has a high of 22 points against Princeton made Saturday night. Almost 60 percent of his points from the floor have been good for scores, 74 out of 126. Combined with 69 of 102 from the foul line, Leach has scored a total of 197 points. Second in the Philadelphia area in rebounding he has snared the boards 168 times.

Only a step behind Leach has been the work of Joe Sturgis. Like Leach he has mixed the 15-point mark in only two games and has scored 179 points. Joe
