National Franklin Scholarships Available for 1955-56 Term

The Benjamin Franklin National Scholarships, 80 new undergraduate financial grants, ranging from $800 to $2000, will be available to freshmen in the fall, according to Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University.

These awards will be made to high school graduates of exceptional ability and promise, who without any outside aid would be unable to afford college. Each scholarship will be awarded to the freshmen who are not available not only to men and women of Pennsylvania, but to high school graduates throughout the country.

Grants Cover Tuition

The grants, all of which cover tuition, may also award more money to the recipient if it is needed.

Included in this Franklin Scholarship program is the opportunity of being chosen to study at one of the two post-graduate schools, in which university, the society will provide students with an opportunity to earn $300 to $1000 a year in tuition scholarships that range from $500 to $2000 a year.

Grants Vary

The amount of money a student recipient depends upon many things, according to Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, director of the University's Office of Student Financial Aid. The grants may be able to provide him with rent, books, and other living expenses.

Applications Due March 1

Applications for the scholarships should be in by March 1 of each year. Those interested in the scholarships must be in the best interest of the student and have a strong potential for success.

Dr. Harnwell further pointed out that the program has increased the belief that the great aim and end of all scholarship should be to acquire or increase the ability to serve.

Applications are being accepted by the University at the Office of Student Financial Aid. The applications will be reviewed by the University's Financial Aid Committee.

Rushing Meeting Will Orient Frosh

In Irvine at 1 p.m.

An orientation meeting will be held this afternoon at 1 in Irvine Auditorium for all freshmen. Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president, and other members will be present to answer any questions that may arise.

Students Football Poll Indicates

Great Variances

The six questions covered all phases of student football policies and also sought a reaction to confronting football in general—its nature and why it is played, and the results of a previous poll. That was the over-all picture, according to Doug Long, editor of "The Harvard Crimson" abstain.

In an open letter to the University more than 4000 students were "pieces of paper given you so that they would know the rules of the game, and ratify the so-called "army way" or In Army manner which is "fair to all." Many things, according to Doug Long, editor of "The Harvard Crimson" abstain.

Faculty Pay Increases May Be Granted in Fall; State Aid Is Anticipated

Rises Will Be Determined on a Merit Basis; State Has Not Said If Funds Will Be Granted

Faculty salary increases will be granted in the fall semester as a result of the tuition raises which were announced at the meeting of the University Senate last week. At that time, Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University, yesterday.

Dr. Harnwell said that salary increases will be determined by the department heads on a merit basis, in a manner which is consistent with all other matter. Individual raises will be from $50 to $200, except at the Bursar's office. More increases will be larger, with some reaching $50 to $125, or "across the board." Increases will be determined by the department heads, and the University's desire to have a competitive university system.

Tuition raises will be in the fall, according to Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, president of the University. The raises will be $150 for the incoming freshman class.

Rising Tuition

The amount of money a student recipient depends upon many things, according to Dr. Gaylord P. Harnwell, director of the University's Office of Student Financial Aid. The grants may be able to provide him with rent, books, and other living expenses.

Applications are being accepted by the University at the Office of Student Financial Aid. The applications will be reviewed by the University's Financial Aid Committee.
Saturday's victory put the Quakers on the right track, but they all feel that the pressure is greater than ever. Tonight they go to New York City to face Columbia in a perfect position, with a 1-2 league record to upset the Leopards. However, if the Pennsylvania five plays up to its ability, it can come out with a victory.

Columbia's team has staged its own spotlight without anyone noticing them. This is mainly due to the fact that the Columbians although spotting a fine record have gained this by beating the weaker teams in the loop. The Leopards have won two from Yale, and one space from Harvard, Brown, and Cornell. If Columbia has any kind of a team it will be exposed tonight.

After tonight's contest with Pennsylvania they have to face Dartmouth and Princeton twice and Pennsylvania once.

The Quaker victory Saturday again showed that the Red and Blue can come through when the chips are down. There were many tight spots Saturday where the Red and Blue could have dropped in the way, however, they didn't give up which is a championship team trait.

Times like Saturday's coming out with plenty of time left, Bait Leach playing with four feet and Corn-
Penn Duellers Face Cornell Wednesday

Pennsylvania's varsity fencing team, after an opening match loss to Yale, appears headed for another successful season due to consecutive wins over Navy and Rutgers during the season period.

The duellers boast a highly rated Navy team, 14-15, to average last season's loss, and then easily beat Rutgers, 19-8, using their second team in many of the bouts.

The Quakers will be seeking a third straight victory, having beaten Villanova and Carnegie during the second annual ban-

The Superb A. Kreyden Trophy is awarded to a former associate manager of Penn who the coach worked with the candidates reporting for the squad during the last calendar year. The presentation was made by Lawrence Kline, president of the managerial board.

The selection by the managerial board was based on the record compiled by the coach during the last calendar year and the great improvement his team displayed over the previous year. The coach was also considered the opinion of the student managers as to how well he engendered in the men with whom he worked.
