Dean Peters is in Accord With Proposals; Some Fraternities Fear for Small Houses’ Fate

Fraternity men and members of the administration have generally come out in favor of today’s editorial, “A Cure for Rushing Ills: The Pennsylvania’s Proposal.”

One fraternity president stated that the proposal will undoubtedly prove successful over the present system in existence. “The present system is very weak in the aspects brought out by the editorial,” he stated another president.

However, other houses felt that the proposal will prove in a few years to be a minor solution, if medium-sized and small houses are to be saved. One house director felt that the larger houses will be able to attract the larger percentage of weekend parties during the Fall semester, unless the “amount” of all freshmen would attend.

The prospect running system at Pennsylvania is one that is being used by some larger houses as well. This system will not work, he felt, it is impossible to control Rushing procedures in some houses on campus at stated times.

George B. Peters, Dean of Men, stated that he’d heard a receptor in the article was similar to his own. “I don’t think there is a system does not need correction by another fra-

Many problems would have to be worked out on the campus, he said, with two major points of discussion; the number of parties a fraternity would have to which freshmen would be invited and the financial arrangements of the system.

Schonfeld Agrees Basically

Schonfeld agreed basically with the plan of the F.P.C. Council stated. “The plan for rushing proposed by the Daily Pennsylvania in yesterday’s editorial is a good one, and quite similar to his own.” He added that he had spoken with the two men and that the plan was being worked on by the two men himself.

One student was quoted as saying, “This plan will not work, I think that it is impossible to control Rushing procedures in some houses on campus at stated times.”

Number of Students Per Section

INCREASES IN COLLEGE, WHARTON

by Eugene M. Korschun

Classes in the Wharton School and the College have increased on the average of five students per section within the past few years. It was learned in a survey conducted by The Daily Pennsylvania.

The increase in the number of sections in the various subjects was generally attributed to the financial difficulties the University has encountered. Moreover, in the Wharton School it was felt that the increase in sections was due to the size of the student body and the number of hours in a school year.

Four Major Crimes Occur Every Hour

FBI Agent Says

A major crime is committed every 15 minutes, according to Russell E. Brown, assistant special agent in charge of the Philadelphia Office of the FBI.

Speaking before the Lambda Chi Epsilon’s Kappa Kappa Kappa Epsilon Epsilon meeting yesterday, Brown said there is a murder or manslaughter every 25 minutes, a robbery every 25 minutes, a burglary every 30 minutes, and a motor vehicle theft every 30 minutes.

He said one out of every 14 cases, or 8%, of the cases between the ages of 11 and 17 is a juvenile delinquent and that in 98% of the cases of all minor delinquency, those under 16 are committed by juvenile. “During the school year, 25% of the auto thefts, 25% of the burglaries, and 25% of the other thefts.

Brown said the FBI has been accused of having its fingers in too many cases, but Brown continued, has resulted from “over-publicity” and the tendency of the public to attribute the work of other Federal agencies to the FBI.

Fraternity Bid Signing Takes Place Saturday

All bids for rush must be obtained by the fraternity before this afternoon in Room 117 Logan Hall and returned there before 5 p.m. on Saturday morning. Rushes may then call for their bids and sign them there from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday. Monday morning in Room 117 Logan Hall. If unusual circumstances are involved, a rush from picking up his bid must call on Friday evening, or may call for it Monday at 117 Logan Hall.

Rushing regulations forbidding contact between freshmen and upperclassmen are still in effect until 1:00 p.m. on Saturday. Business may call only one bid each day.

Thomas Huber and Samuel Campbell were approved as general chairman and special events chairman, respectively, of next year’s Campus Chest Drive at the Undergraduate Council’s regular meeting yesterday.

Four Alms have been scheduled by Wilfred Donnell Gillen, president of the Wharton Commerce Co. of Pennsylvania.

WXPX Will Broadcast Both West End Shows

The Pennsylvania and Sud-4 will provide halftime entertainment for the basketball game between the Penn Quakers and Cornell. The game is scheduled to tip off at 2 p.m. at the Palestra doubleheader.

The Quakers (10-2) have one game at Princeton remaining on their league schedule after tomorrow’s game at Penn’s (8-4) have four games to play against West End shows at Central and Columbia, but have lost four games and have only a deplorable chance of a tie with Ray Blaney’s NCAA bound Tigers. Cornell (13-7) has had an opening which will find the Redmen in the running for the Eastern eight’s performance of an easier season.

WXPX will broadcast both West End shows, the “Blood of a Poet” and “Moe.” The “Blood of a Poet” will be a short film on the life and work of Federico Garcia Lorca, a Spanish poet. The film is produced by Filmart Productions, Philadelphia, and will be shown March 2. The film will be followed by the recommendation of Richard Dwyer, an aggressive poet who tallied 12 against the top rebounder, will be given the double reward for nominations will be Monday, “The Loves of Jeanne Ney,” by Wilfred Donnell Gillen, president of the Wharton Commerce Co. of Pennsylvania.

Dear Da and Pa,

I am sorry that I did not write to you sooner, but we are busy down here with rush festivities and all. It is pretty exciting down here.

Dad, I got turned down at Iota Iota Iota which was a bit of a shock. All but one or two of the boys like me were in Iota Iota Iota. I am going to try again next year. I think I might get in then.

I am a little worried about my grades this semester. I really need to study and do well. I know they are due in a couple of weeks and I need to be prepared.

Love,

Mervin

P.S.—Get Ma, that grilling suit you sent me this fall and the two covered buttons on either side are real nice.

Dear Editor,

I feel that I should write to you about the situation in the fraternity this semester. It is becoming quite a problem.

Sometimes it's hard to write a column. You have to be sure that what you write is true for what seems like hours, with paper and ink, but you do not want to write a column that is not a solitudinous entry into your mind on a lonely night. Such a column was my plight last night. I sat and went over the movie sheet from the twelfth page of the Enquirer and past. And in the corner of my eye I saw The Cambridge Society at one of the clubs, so I wrote down the name and the time. I must say I wrote the column at that time, for my column was not at all a solitary effort. But I remember that I told you that I was going to keep it short.

Since it is going around this time of year, I think you will enjoy my column on the year previous in the sundry fields of entertainment. I have been keeping an eye on the boys and girls, and I have been able to get the best performers of 1954. So let's sit back and relax for a moment and enjoy the column.

I would like to propose a column on the best performers of 1954. This is a difficult task for any adjunct of the fraternity, but I believe I can do it.

The Interfraternity Council looks forward to the winter season and the activities of the fraternity. The fraternity is a great place to be, and I hope that you will enjoy the column.

Love,

Mervin

Pennsylvania Bell Head Cites Need for Executive Training

The(net of the 17 men now studying at the Institute range from 25 to 45, averaging 32. Eighteen of the men are married, and none of these have been married to a Bell companies' graduate. The Bell companies' policy is to employ young people who are fresh from college or who have had some experience in business after college. The young men are from various allied Bell companies.

All but two of the faculty members engaged in the program are teaching at the University, the exceptions being Dr. Monroe Steinberg, associate head of the Graduate School of Business, and Arthur Dudden, assistant professor of history at Bryn Mawr College.

16 Class Hours

Quantitatively, the curriculum calls for 550 hours of classwork, averaging 16 hours weekly, and at least as much reading as is required of a graduate or undergraduate major in literature.

Learning, in the classroom, is secondary to thinking. There are no examinations in tests. The primary function of the faculty is to guide the natural student to organize un-familiar data and experiences in a meaningful and useful manner.

Teaching methods include lectures, discussions, seminars, and field trips. The books are assigned in advance of a lecture, and the students are assigned advance reading. The books are not required, and the lectures are given to the student; when they have been "graduated," they leave with a substantial library—to which it is hoped, they will keep adding.

For sheer fun out on the road, Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

Up to this year, maybe there were reasons for wanting something really special in the way of driving fun, but with the demands of today's hectic life, you simply had to pay a premium to get it. The last of the great customs Chevrolet has changed all that. Who could wish for more excitement than the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers? (For those who do, 160-h.p. is optional at extra cost in all V8 models.) Chevrolet also offers the two highest powered sixes in its field.

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!
