Fifty-one per cent of the students say they have received company information about the kind of jobs which are available for college graduates. An overwhelming majority expressed the opinion that more career information should have been made available to them. A large majority was named more than any other factor as being important to a good job offer. However, the word "adequate" has particular significance, for the motivational factors drop way down on the list when the student feels that the amount offered is within a proper range.

Three-Way Tie Possible
If Princeton Beats Brown

By Les Glassman
Pittsburgh Post-Butwin (N. J.), March—The Quaker varsity hoosiers, suffering their most disastrous defeat of the season, allowed the Ivy League league title to slip through their grasp, as they were unable to gain a victory over the Red and Blue. Last season, 65-47, was what the Quakers' worst defeat of the season.

Fran Munro of Pennsylvania drives through the entire Tiger defense. Despite the draw-back in the line-up of the Tigers, the Princeton-Society, Pennsylvania-Princeton fray, Old Nassau trounced the Red and Blue, 65-47, in what was the Quakers' worst defeat of the season.

Opinion Research Co. Survey
Indicates Senior Job Choices

by Harvey Zalane

What are college seniors thinking as they look forward to placement after their graduation?

gazette Research Corporation, Princeton, New Jersey, has taken a significant step toward answering this question in a recent survey, the results of which were printed in the "Journal of College Placement." Put

Members of the Sports Staff and heaters will be at work on page 3. Heaters are learning how to make up a page from their experienced colleagues. While the page is being made up other staffs are writing up stories for the next day's paper.

The Editorial Staff of the Sports Staff of the paper will cover athletic events in which the University participates, write features on the coaches and leading players, learn the news of sports coverage and newspaper coverage in general, as well as having to help others.

The Business Staff, the department which keeps the paper financially solvent, is an equally important part of The Daily Pennsylvanian. This staff is made up of several departments: advertising, promotion, personnel, promotion, photography, and sales. The work of the Photography Staff is seen in the cameras, darkroom and other photographic equipment. Their work involves articles of general interest and a majority of the columns appear here weekly.

Chris Keller Seeks Eastern Diving Title

by Gerry Hirshorn

Six years ago Chris Keller, a Freshman NFL for the Philadelphia Catholic High School swimming team as a freshman. He was a great freestyler in his own right, and soused five Eastern title, which oddly enough was captained by his older brother Charles. When he could not achieve this goal, Keller turned to diving and in so doing started on the road to fame.

The road to becoming a good diver takes one as a driver to achieve these essentials. Keller, with his experience, has gained an edge in this field and has already made a name for himself. He is a top-notch diver and has persevered.

Diving is a sport at this University, the Quakers took four individual events and the relay while placing second in six in capturing their only dual meet of the indoor season. Bruce Dern continued his long winning streak by taking six out of nine competitors who finished nearly a half a second ahead of the second place finisher. George Munger included five events in his list and George John Hammerman topped the entire team with 25 tallies, putting the Quakers on the top of the team list. Bob Johnson's 25 tallies, put the team into a 13-11 lead, but DTD regained titlists. unbeaten in 7 games, 60th meet of the season. The 2016 meet was scheduled for Saturday. The DTD team, flush with fresh air, entered the meet with confidence and emerged victorious.
