Lectures on Western Culture Prevented by Philathomates

The idea for the series was presented to the society by Dr. Elizabeth Christiansen. The project was predicated upon the assumption that there was a lack of cohesive influence among courses in the various faculties of culture.

First speaker in the series will be Dr. Marshall Dill, professor of history, who will speak in Alumni Hall of the Wurton School at 12 p.m. Monday, April 29.

Discussion Planned

In general, touring the discussions will be a half-hour lecture by the speaker, followed by a half-hour discussion in which all will be able to participate. The discussions will be open to all members of the university.

The second lecture will be given by Dr. Fryer on March 31. She teaches Philosophy 2, 4, and advanced ethics. On April 3, Dr. Alexander Keighley, of the mathematics department, will consider the Trends in education and their relation to Western culture.

The final speaker in the series will be Dr. Adolph Klarman, professor of German, Dr. Klarman, a specialist in 16th Century German, is also author of the book "A Study of German 16th Century Artistic Expression." Although Dr. Plover first scheduled this series on the Philomathes, Dr. Klarman was suggested several times by other members of the faculty who felt that there was a lack of integration among courses.

The series will, therefore, be an attempt to fill "a gap in the undergraduate curriculum, according to Dr. Klarman. The series will be advantages of the Philomathes Society.

"We are attempting to provide students with the background needed to begin to understand various phases of Western culture," Dr. Klarman said. "It should stimulate students' thinking," he added.

Ralph Farnsworth

We have all been terribly saddened by the death of Ralph Farnsworth, and we would like on behalf of the staff of The Daily Pennsylvania and on behalf of his many friends, to extend to his family our very deepest sympathies on their loss.

Ralph was a member of our staff, and we all benefited from his thoughtfulness and charm and generous friendliness. We will miss him. He was a real person. May he rest in peace.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor
The Daily Pennsylvania:

Ralph Farnsworth died today. He died as he had lived, calmly, quietly, and courageously. Until a month ago I had never known him. In a month's time I had come to know him well, and to like him much. It seems more than a month. That is, because Ralph's life hung in the balance so often that many more days seem to have passed than did. These days must have been especially long days and nights for Ralph. But he never complained. He never cried without first apologizing. He never failed to appreciate anything that was done for him. He was a gentleman. His courage under tremendous adversity was remarkable. Whatever grief he bore he did so quietly. His death saddens all of us who helped care for him. I know that God will do better for him than we were able to. I hope that he will do better for him than we were able to. I hope that God will do better for him than we were able to.

Editor, The Daily Pennsylvania:

My statement printed in The Daily Pennsylvania of March 9 to the effect that The Daily Pennsylvania presents a “mere facade” conveys an erroneous impression of the newspaper. Rather, the intent was to indicate the dichotomy of purpose between a daily newspaper and a magazine which is campus oriented. The latter must emphasize a great degree of literary merit as well as a unique and penetrating analysis of the various aspects of campus activity.

Indeed, I should like publicly to express our thanks to The Daily Pennsylvania for its encouragement and helpful publicity in this venture.

Four Pennsylvania Oarsmen To Row in Pan-Am Games

by Gerry Hirschhorn

Four University of Pennsylvania oarsmen have been selected by the Vesper Boating Club to represent the United States in the Pan-American Games, to be held in Mexico City for a ten-day period early next month.

The Mexican government has assured an expense of several million dollars in an effort to provide the best conditions for the athletes, who will be rowing in events ranging from sculling to the regatta. They have constructed a new stadium among other improvements, with the understanding that some of the oarsmen will be held in the country.

The Vesper Boating Club was given the task of selecting from their team and those in private clubs who have the best qualifications to row in the games. Selection was made after two periods of practice, and the first day's practice, held on the Schuylkill River, was attended by 1,500 people. The final selection was made on the last year's junior varsity crew, which made a tour of the United States and won the championship. The final selection will be made by the executive board. If you are interested, or even if you think you are, come to the Executive Board on Thursday night at Houston Hall.

If you are (a) a freshman or sophomore, and (b) interested in any aspect of the film, this is the place for you. The Cinema Club has a place for YOU on the executive board. If you are interested, or even if you think you are, come and see our meeting on Monday at 7 P.M. in Room 6 of Houston Hall.

Vince Reibel had an 11-point lead to the Ward team, who was never hard-pressed and probably will get stiff competition from the only one which has not already Lord all the spectators.
