Ford Says Sebo Will Stay, Affirms Faith in Grid Coach
Athletic Director Blasts Critics of Winsome Quakers;
Names Sebo 'Best Young Coach in Country Today'
"Steve Sebo is the best young coach in the country today," commented Pennsylvania Athletic Director Jerry Ford, as he blasted all the critics who have been predicting the Penn mentor won't be around in 1956.

Promising the presently downtrodden Quaker fan an Ivy League Championship contender by 1958, Sebo declared he has no intention of quitting, according to an Associated Press story released today.
Ford continued, "I'm the guy that will have the contract and from what I've seen of the Big Two, I'm going to put in a con-

Tony Carreri

Pride, spirit, and unity are my goals for the Class of '59. I can promise this and be a conscientious representative of you, one of your class officers. With my high school experience, I am sure I am justly qualified, and would appreciate your support.

Joel Feigenbaum

As President of the Freshman Class, I would strive to instill a spirit into the Class of '59. I have had throughout the years an interest in the welfare of our fellow students. The Class of '59 is the greatest class, both scholastically and socially, that the University has ever produced.

Kenneth L. Stein

I am a member of the Wharton School, a leader for the business staff of The Daily Pennsylvanian, and a student of Herbert P. Wolman, President in Thursday's elections.

Don Dwares

I can promise the Class of '59 only one promise: my unyielding effort to make of you the greatest class, both scholastically and socially. The University is our number one priority.

Bielah Ahloah

If elected, I should attempt to: 1. Carry on my duties with fidelity, honesty, and integrity to this Class of '59. 2. Provide more Freshman social functions. 3. Provide better social and athletic facilities for the Freshman in the Freshman dormitories. 4. Build stronger class and school relations. I believe the Class of '59 is destined to be one of the most outstanding in the history of Penn.

Carol Miller

If elected, I promise to: 1. Achieve greater class spirit, both among students and the University that Penn is Penn.

Richard Yentis

Freshman Class of '59 needs leadership. Freshman Class, take a leader for your membership as its leader, and all Freshman, and Biel, can do for you. I change voting rules, permitting the Freshman to have more influence and a voice in class office decisions. I am a progressive, spirited, and active administator which will always be the future and progress of the University of Pennsylvania as its goal.

Letter to the Editor:

In reading this same column in yesterday's Inquirer, I came across a letter to the editor, which I think substantially the way the Perk Band should mark any occasion as well as the best. Of course, I may not have played on the band myself for four years, and I do not congratulate the millions of subtitles which come as a part of military band, but certainly, it is sometimes quite difficult to try to determine whether it is not just the Perk Band. The music itself, is a means of entertainment, but the thought of the Perk Band.

Freshman Platforms

Light and refreshing in every sip, that's what the Freshman Platforms is, the best and most original stunts on election day. Few classes use this potential correctly. Each class, within its membership, has the potential capacity to make itself outstanding. Almost any class, within its membership, has the potential of selecting from our number a president and council which, within that class, may know, the individuals elected by the majority of those who made the biggest noise. Yet we should remember that the most successful of the most amusing campaign posters spend the most money on "I'm the best" literature, or do the most original stunts on election day is not necessarily the best choice for class officers. I want to show the importance of leadership, not only among the students, but rather than character and intellect, with your students. That is why I have written this statement, and am forced by circumstance to make my candidacy more generally known.

Amos Kovitz

As a candidate for class officer, I feel that this is the best way of my past and my intentions if elected to a class position. I have previously held office in school organizations and have been treasurer and president of my fraternity. If elected to class office, I hope to stimulate the life of the Class of '59 by an increased social calendar.

William Sehr

As selection of your class officers is one of your most important decisions, you must be careful to select the senior best qualified. If not, the freshman class and school may not live up to its expectations. Almost any class, within its membership, has a president who can draw the most from our number a president and council which, within the Freshman, expects of its officers, and what its officers should provide the class. The purpose is giving you these facts in instilling in you the feeling of, "If he did it before, he can do it again." I hope I have accomplished my purpose successfully.

Will Greene

Only time will tell whether our class will live up to its expectations. Almost any class, within its membership, has the potential of selecting from our number a president and council which, within the limited number of individuals elected by the majority of those who made the biggest noise. Yet we should remember that the most successful of the most amusing campaign posters spend the most money on "I'm the best" literature, or do the most original stunts on election day is not necessarily the best choice for class officers. I want to show the importance of leadership, not only among the students, but rather than character and intellect, with your students. That is why I have written this statement, and am forced by circumstance to make my candidacy more generally known.

Alf Cohen

I appeal to the intelligence of the Freshman class. Realizing the extreme limitations of Freshman political influence, I require only that you consider a candidate who can draw the most from our number a president and council which, within the Freshman, expects of its officers, and what its officers should provide the class. The purpose is giving you these facts in instilling in you the feeling of, "If he did it before, he can do it again." I hope I have accomplished my purpose successfully.
Soccermen Edge Tigers In Two Overtimes, 4-3

Recording a freak goal in the second overtime period, Penn's varsity soccer squad took over undisputed possession of Trail Quakers the winning goal, although it was actually scored on one of the Penn Lions at Tigerstown yesterday.

Lions still have a long way to go at Franklin Field, the Nittany lost only 14 times. There have before State was able to tie, 3-3, the strength of Quaker perform-

Inter-Dormitory Track Meet
The Class of '49 will have an opportunity to prove its track ability this afternoon when the oldest track club sponsors its annual Inter-Dormitory Track Meet on Franklin Field at 4 p.m. The meet is being held not only to afford the participants an opportunity to look over the freshmen prospects.

The first three men in each event will be awarded certificates by the Athletic Depart-

Inter-Dormitory Football
In an inter-dormitory football series, yesterday a team from Provost Smith and Langnudo norms edged out Princeton by 7-0, on a pass from quarterback Dick Wasko to Carl Spath in the end zone.

There will be no other dorm games played for the remainder of the week, as this week is in Dead Week.

Sebo Will Remain As Football Coach

Dr. Norman D. Palmer, President of The University, announced yesterday that Sebo will remain as football coach. "It was a difficult decision," Dr. Palmer said, "but I believe it is the best decision for all concerned."

Sebo, who has been at The University for 11 years, has led the football team to three conference championships and two bowl games. "I am looking forward to another year," Sebo said. "I am confident that we will have a successful season."
